

by Gotthold Ephraim Lessing

Translated from the German Nathan der Weise

by Stephanie Clennell and Robert Philip

ARC Open omiterates Walton Hall Milton Keynes United Kingdom MK7 6AA

© 1992 The Open University Reprinted 1994, 1999

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reprinted or reproduced or utilized in any form or by any electronic, mechanical, or other means, now known or hereafter invented, including photocopying and recording, or in any information storage or retrieval system, without permission in writing from the publishers, or under licence from the Copyright Licensing Agency Limited. Further details of such licences (for reprographic reproduction) may be obtained from the Copyright Licensing Agency Limited, of 90 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 9HE.

ISBN 0 7492 1112 1

Acknowledgements

Frontispiece Gotthold Ephraim Lessing. (Mansell Collection) Edited, designed and typeset by The Open University.

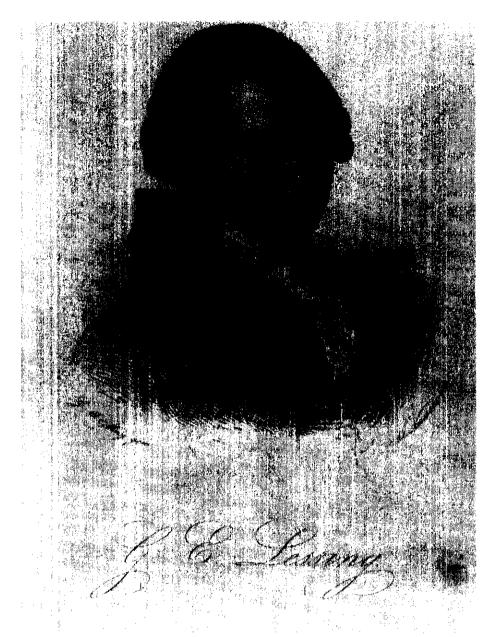

This book forms part of an Open University course A206 The Enlightenment.

Printed and bound in Great Britain by Scotprint, Musselburgh, Scotland 1.4

4563C/a206ntil.4

Introduction 20 Act I 45 Act II 69 Act III 95 Act IV 119 Act V

5

Gotthold Ephraim Lessing, 1729–81

The young scholar

Lessing was born in 1729 in the small town of Kamenz in the Protestant state of Saxony. His family background was Lutheran and academic. His father, Johann Gottfried Lessing, was chief pastor of the main church in Kamenz. Johann Lessing had studied at the University of Wittenberg and kept up his academic interest by writing and translating theological works, but he had a large family and was very poor. He applied successfully to the Elector of Saxony for a scholarship for his eldest son, Gotthold Ephraim, to attend the prestigious electoral school (Fürstenschule) of St Afra in Meissen.

St Afra had high academic standards. Life there was austere, with an emphasis on religious observance. The young Lessing thrived on the rigorous classical training, and impressed his teachers with his intellect and independence of mind.

When Lessing left the school in 1746 he became a student of Protestant theology at the University of Leipzig, as his parents wished. At first he devoted himself to study, as he had done at school, but then in Leipzig 'a place where one can see the whole world in miniature' he began to realize that he needed to educate himself for living in society. He wrote in a long letter to his mother: 'I learned what a difference there was between me and other people. A timid country lad, a clumsy, graceless body, complete ignorance of manners ... I felt a sort of shame that I had never felt before.'

He learned to dance, fence and ride; and he discovered the theatre. At that time a theatre company run by the formidable Karoline Neuber<sup>2</sup> was presenting plays in Leipzig, including translations of classical French plays. Lessing became passionately interested in the theatre. He wrote a play The Young Scholar ('Der junge Gelehrte') which was successfully performed by the Neuber company in 1748. His lifelong active interest in the theatre had begun, and at the same time led to the first worldly interest. Indeed to strict Lutherans the theatre was anathema (a point briefly referred to in Nathan the Wise). Lessing respected his parents' views, and he remained, in his way, a dutiful son. He did not see his developing independence of thought as a revolt against them, but rather wanted to make them understand his own changing outlook, including his wish to give up the study of theology. This need to come to terms with his own and other people's views on religion lasted all his life, as you will find when you read Nathan the Wise.

&lt;sup>1</sup> 20 January 1749. Vol XVII no.6 in Lachmann-Muncker edn. of Lessing's Sämtliche Schriften (complete writings), 3rd edn. Berlin, Stuttgart and Leipzig, 1886–1924. Letters: vols XVII–XXI.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Karoline Neuber (1697–1760) was well educated and of good family. She escaped from a cruel and tyrannical father by eloping with a young student, whom she married in 1718. Their only recourse was to join a theatrical troupe and some years later Karoline was managing her own company.

With his father's reluctant approval Lessing changed to the study of medicine and philology. He did not complete his studies in Leipzig, because he had to make a quick escape. The Neuber theatre company was in debt and disbanded. Lessing had imprudently acted as surety for some of the actors; he was in no position to provide any money, and went secretly to the University of Wittenberg. 'For the first and only time in his life he was guilty of a dishonourable action' said H.B. Garland (1962, p.9).

Lessing enrolled as a medical student in Wittenberg, but fell ill, and gave up his studies after a few months and went to Berlin. He had decided that he would try to live as a writer in Berlin. There would be for him no respectable career as a pastor or university teacher, as his parents had hoped; instead he would face hardship, insecurity and poverty. But he would be independent.

The spread of Enlightenment

In 1748 it was just possible to make a living by writing. Johnson in England, and Diderot in France, are notable examples of this. There was a growing demand for literary works to which publishers responded. In the German states, periodicals, the so-called 'moral weeklies', began to appear in the 1720s, following the example of the English Tatler, Spectator, and Guardian. There were hundreds of these periodicals by the 1760s, although the life-span of each was short (about three years). More specialized periodicals also appeared, such as learned journals (which had appeared in Latin in the seventeenth century) and literary and political periodicals. It was through these that 'the process of the enlightenment as an overall movement began', according to Aner (1929, p.30).

Lessing was well equipped to take part in this movement. He had had a sound academic training and people like him could earn a little money by writing, editorial work, private teaching or translation. Lessing widened his own knowledge of works, especially contemporary ones, in English, French and Spanish, as well as German. He had a talent for publicity. He made the most of speedy and frequent publication, so that his writings and his ideas spread quickly among the enlightened élites in the various German states. From 1751 he was an editor of the Berlin Gazette (the Berliner priviligierte Zeitung) and its monthly supplements, he was able to carry on a campaign for enlightened ideas. As this stage this meant questioning, analysing and criticizing existing ideas and works. He was relentlessly critical of Professor Johann Christoph Gottsched's<sup>4</sup> attempts to improve German literature, particularly drama, by insisting on close imitation of French classical literature of the seventeenth century. Instead Lessing put forward other models, such as Shakespeare, and introduced new works and ideas to the reading public in Germany. For example, Rousseau's essay the Discourse on the Arts and Sciences appeared in 1750, and Lessing reviewed this work (and questioned its assumptions) just a few months later, in April 1751.

Lessing was ready to take risks, stir up trouble, and criticize the eminent. As a critic he was intent on raising standards, as someone who '... does not deny the truth in order to flatter, is convinced that a warning about a bad book is a service which one renders to the public, one which is more worthy of an honest man than a servile facility for bartering praise for praise' (Letters on modern literature, Briefe die neueste Litteratur betreffend, 1759).

His attacks were specific and the most eminent contemporaries were not spared. '... and Voltaire's Zaire? How inferior it is to the Moor of Venice (Othello) of which it is a poor copy'. Lessing's contacts with Voltaire (Frederick the Great's guest in Berlin from 1750–53) were mainly unfortunate. He had done some translation for Voltaire, notably of his History of the Crusades. A friend, Richier de Louvain, Voltaire's secretary, had lent the proofs of Voltaire's Age of Louis XIV (Siècle de Louis XIV) to Lessing, who carelessly took them with him when he went to Wittenberg in 1751. Voltaire was outraged, suspected a pirating attempt, and complained to Frederick, who did not forget the incident.

Lessing's reason for returning to Wittenberg was to get his Master's degree. He was successful, and returned to Berlin in 1752 to work again for the Berliner priviligierte Zeitung.

Friends and allies

Berlin was now an important centre of serious literary criticism. There was relative freedom of expression (except in writing about politics and ot triends among writers, booksellers and publishers. In 1754 he met two men who became his lifelong friends and with whom he worked closely in Berlin. They were Friedrich Nicolai<sup>7</sup> (1733–1811), a writer and bookseller, and Moses Mendelssohn<sup>8</sup> (1729–86), whom he first met as a chessplayer. In October 1754 Lessing wrote of Mendelssohn: '[He] is actually a Jew, aged about 20, who, without any education, has a remarkable grasp of languages, mathematics, philosophy and poetry. I expect him to become an honour to his nation, if he is allowed to develop fully, unlike those of his religion who are always driven by a terrible spirit of persecution.'<sup>8</sup>

&lt;sup>5</sup> 'A new critic has appeared here whose work you will be able to judge from the enclosed review of The Messiah (Klopstock's epic poem). He just seems a little young.' J.J. Sulzer to J.J. Bodmer (in R. Daunicht (1971) Lessing im Gespräch, München.

&lt;sup>4</sup> Gottsched (1700-66) Versuch einer Critischen Dichtkunst für die Deutschen (Essay on the Art of Poetry for Germans, 1730).

&lt;sup>5</sup> Letters on modern literature No.17, 1759.

Moses Mendelssohn was the son of a public scribe in Dessau. He had been taught by a rabbi, and when the rabbi went to Berlin, Moses, at the age of 14, followed him there, determined to educate himself and live as best he could by copying and teaching. As a Jew he had very few rights even in Frederick the Great's Prussia. Jews still had a separate and subordinate legal status. Some few had a special status as protected Jews (Schutzjuden). In 1753 Frederick revised the regulations about Jews, but mainly in order to make use of a small number of wealthy Jews as manufacturers and bankers. In 1749 Lessing had already written a play The Jews (Die Juden, published in 1754) in which he deplored anti-Semitic prejudice, but his friendship with Mendelssohn was his first close contact with a Jew. As Lessing hoped, Mendelssohn's intellect and integrity were recognized and he became an eminent philosopher, who believed that the essential principles of his own religion could be reconciled with modern enlightened secular learning. In Nathan the Wise Nathan is such an enlightened lew, and although the character, Nathan, is not a portrait of Moses Mendelssohn, Mendelssohn probably had a considerable influence on Lessing's conception of the role.

The article Philosophe in the Encyclopédie (Texts, I p.9) speaks of: 'This love of society, which is so essential to the philosophe'. Lessing and his friends were like the French philosophes in this respect. They had little money, little time for frivolity, but meetings, clubs, long conversations and discussions, and correspondence, were their life-blood.

Lessing already had a considerable reputation as a writer when he was in his twenties. He had published poems, fables, literary criticism, studies in theological history, and five plays: The Young Scholar, Damon, or True Friendship, The Old Maid, The Jews, and The Freethinker. The plays were all comedies, but all had a moral content. Lessing's ideas about open-mindedness in religion and his criticism of prejudice and intolerance are clearly seen in The Jews and The Freethinker. In The Jews a baron is rescued from robbers by a stranger whom he welcomes to his home as a worthy and cultivated man. The baron, who has anti-Semitic prejudices, thinks that his attackers were Jews, but it turns out that they were his own servants in disguise, and that his rescuer is a noble-minded Jew.

In 1755 Lessing and Moses Mendelssohn collaborated on an essay: Pope – a Metaphysician! (Pope – ein Metaphysiker!). The Berlin Academy of Sciences had offered a prize for an essay on Pope's proposition in the Essay on Man – 'whatever is, is right'. Their joint essay on this subject was scathing about any claim that Pope, as a poet, might have to a grasp of philosophy; but they were not critical of Leibniz, as Voltaire was shortly to be in his poem on the Lisbon disaster (1756) and Candide (1759). The Berlin Academy did not favour Leibniz's views. Lessing and Mendelssohn did not enter for the prize, but published their essay anonymously, well aware that they were dealing with a contentious issue of the Enlightenment.

The theory of drama was important too; it was not enough to formulate rules for drama, as Boileau<sup>10</sup> had done in seventeenth-century France, followed by Gottsched in Germany in 1730. The fundamental nature and purpose of drama had to be re-examined. Lessing, like so many of his enlightened contemporaries, had a deep respect for the Ancients. He had himself translated Plautus<sup>11</sup> and studied Aristotle's theory of drama. He shared this interest in drama with Nicolai and Mendelssohn, with both of whom he conducted a correspondence on tragedy, while Lessing's own articles on the drama appeared in a series of publications in the 1750s. The most important work was Letters on Modern Literature, which appeared in sections between 1759 and 1760. Diderot had said: 'Everything must be brought to light boldly, without exceptions, and unsparingly' (Texts, I, p.9). These three young men practised what Diderot preached. The articles on the theatre condemned adherence to French classical models, and praised Shakespeare and Lessing himself approved of the 'sentimental' comedy appearing in England and

&lt;sup>6</sup> Letter from Lessing to Friederich Nicolai, 25 August 1769 in document 45 in Texts, I, Frederick the Great, King of Prussia, Letters and Documents, p.63.

&lt;sup>7</sup> See footnote 6.

&lt;sup>8</sup> Moses Mendelssohn was the grandfather of the composer Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy.

&lt;sup>9</sup> To the Göttingen theologian and orientalist Johann David Michaelis. (Lachmann-Muncker, Vol. XVII No.34).

Boileau (Despreaux) Nicolas (1636–1711), French critic and poet and author of L'Art poétique (The Art of Poetry, 1674).

&quot; Titus Maccius Plautus (c.254-184 BC) Roman writer of comic plays.

plays in The Theatre of Mr Diderot (1760).

Practice had even more impact than theory. In 1755 Lessing had published his play Miss Sara Sampson, first produced in Frankfurt on the Oder with great success – the audience was in floods of tears at each performance. The play was much influenced by George Lillo's The London Merchant; or, the History of George Barnwell (1731) and by Richardson's novels. A tragedy about a seduced girl, in a contemporary everyday setting, was an affront to those who believed that all tragedy should be in high style and noble. 'A bourgeois tragedy! My God ... what is to become of us?' was Lessing's own ironic comment.<sup>13</sup>

About this time too Lessing had been studying Winckelmann's Thoughts on the Imitation of Greek Works in Painting and Sculpture (1755) and his History of the Art of Antiquity (1764). In 1755 he had translated du Bos's Critical Reflections on Poetry and Painting. Lessing's own work on aesthetics was Laoköon, or the Limits of Painting and Poetry, in 1766, a work which came to be considered as one of the most important works on aesthetics in the eighteenth century. Winckelmann himself was impressed by Lessing's style of writing, though critical of his knowledge of the subject.

In the meantime there had been changes in Lessing's way of life. His one chance to go to England, in 1756, as travelling companion to a young businessman, Gottfried Winkler, was frustrated by the outbreak of the Seven Years' War. In 1760 he accepted the position of secretary to General Bogislaw Friedrich von Tauentzien, who was Prussian commandant in Breslau. Lessing wrote to his friends with no particular enthusiasm about the kind of life he led, but for a while his financial position improved. He could even indulge a little his love for gambling, which he could seldom afford, but in which he found excitement. Lessing fell seriously ill in Breslau and left his job before the end of the war. He had been proposed for the job of librarian in the Royal Library in Berlin, but Frederick, no doubt remembering Voltaire's complaints about Lessing, refused to consider him.

In his essay On German Literature (1780), Frederick the Great made no mention of Lessing and made only unfavourable general comments on German drama. Lessing's next work makes this omission even more striking. In 1767 appeared Minna von Barnhelm, a contemporary comedy, in which the action takes place at the end of the Seven Years' War. Goethe called it: 'The truest product of the Seven Years' War, the first content', 15 It was seen at the time, and can still be seen now, as the best modern comedy of the century in German. It was an instant success on the stage, first in Hamburg, then in Berlin.

Lessing then took part in one of the most interesting experiments in the theatre of the time. A consortium of affluent citizens of the free city of Hamburg launched a 'national theatre'. Lessing was invited to become resident critic and adviser. He accepted. In this role he produced a work of lasting importance: The Hamburg Dramaturgy (1767). This is a collection of his reviews and commentaries. He soon had to give up writing about performances, as the actors were touchy about genuinely critical reviews, but the work continued as essays on the drama. The project failed. The directors quarrelled and there were financial problems. Lessing himself lost money heavily in a printing venture, had to sell his library, and consider what to do next.

He had made good friends in Hamburg, among them the son and daughter of Hermann Samuel Reimarus, philologist and orientalist, and a silk merchant. Engelbert König, and his wife, Eva. Englebert König died suddenly at the end of 1769, and Lessing had promised to look after his wife and children – a promise which he kept, although he had to leave Hamburg, as he had just accepted the position of Librarian at Wolfenbüttel.

Wolfenbüttel – controversial Librarian

In accepting the post of Librarian in the great library of the Duke of Brunswick in Wolfenbüttel, Lessing was giving in at last and accepting patronage. As a scholar he found the work rewarding and discovered some valuable manuscripts, (including an eleventh-century manuscript of Berengar de Tours, the discovery of which made an important contribution to church history). Yet he was lonely, isolated in a gloomy, empty castle, since the Duke's court had moved to Brunswick. He had a secure position, but he was still poor, even though he was now eminent as a writer. Minna von Barnhelm was being performed with great success, and his new play, a tragedy, Emilia Galotti, was first performed in Brunswick in 1772, and highly praised.

For Lessing personal plans became most important. Slowly his friendship with Eva König became love, and they decided to marry; but Eva, who was a woman of courage, charm and intelligence, had had to take over her late husband's business affairs, which involved lengthy journeys and long stays in Vienna. Over the years it was a friendship, then courtship by correspondence, with rare meetings. Eventually, Lessing managed to secure from the Duke of Brunswick a higher salary and a

Eighteenth-century views of sentiment are discussed in the Introduction to Part E of the course.

&lt;sup>13</sup> 26 April 1755 in the Berlin Gazette.

&lt;sup>14</sup> Abbé Jean-Baptiste du Bos (1670–1742) Réflexions critiques sur la poésie et la peinture (1719).

Goethe, Dichtung und Wahrheit (Poetry and Truth), Part II Book 7.

house in Wolfenbüttel. They married in 1776. For one year of his life Lessing was perfectly happy; but at the end of the year Eva had a child who died, and shortly afterwards she too died. Lessing found only one way to cope with his personal tragedy, and that was to work, and work meant fighting – and fighting about fundamental religious issues which had concerned him all his life.

A few months after his wife's death, Lessing became involved in a very bitter and very public controversy. It came to a head in 1778, although it had started some years before. Publication of really controversial views on religion was still hazardous. One notable man with radical views was Professor Reimarus (1694–1768) of Hamburg, the father of Lessing's two friends. He had written an Apologia or Plea for the Rational Worshippers of God (Apologie oder Schutzschrift für die vernünftigen Verehrer Gottes, 1778). He did not venture to publish it in his lifetime. Lessing had acquired the manuscript (and was carefully evasive about how he had done so) and used his right as Wolfenbüttel Librarian to publish extracts as Fragments of an Anonymous Author in 1774 and 1777. Hostile comments came from critics of modest standing, to which Lessing's most notable reply was the essay 'eine Duplik' ('A Rejoinder'); but then more imposing critics joined in. Lessing's main opponent was Johann Melchior Goeze (1717-86), Chief Pastor of the Katherinenkirche in Hamburg, an orthodox Lutheran theologian and scholar. For some months in 1778 the battle was conducted, through a series of pamphlets, about criticism of revealed religion and the right to express such views. Lessing's opponents succeeded in persuading the Duke of Brunswick to withdraw the Librarian's right to publish papers, and Lessing was forbidden to publish anything more on religion. His response was to put his ideas into the play Nathan the Wise, which made a strong case for the unprejudiced pursuit of religious truth and for toleration.1

In 1778 Lessing had published the first part of his Gespräche für Freymäurer (Ernst and Falk: Dialogues on Freemasonry), and in 1780 he published The Education of the Human Race (Die Enziehung des Menschengeschlechts). By then he was exhausted and ill, and wrote no more major works. He died in Brunswick in 1781.

Chronological outline of Lessing's life and main works

1729 born 22 January in Kamenz, Saxony.

1741-6 At St Afra electoral school in Meissen.

1746-8 Student at University of Leipzig.

1748 The Young Scholar performed by the Neuber company.

- 1748 In Wittenberg. At the end of the year goes to Berlin.
- 1749 Writes The Jews.
- 1750 Journalist for the Berlin Gazette with his cousin Johann Christlob Mylius.
- 1751 Translation of Voltaire's Minor Historical Works.
- 1752 In Wittenberg obtains Master's degree.
- 1753-5 Publication of collected works in six volumes.
- 1753 Translates Marigny's History of the Arabs.
- 1754 The Jews and The Young Scholar published.
- 1754 Meets Friedrich Nicolai and Moses Mendelssohn.
- 1755 Pope a Metaphysician! written with Mendelssohn.
- 1755 The Freethinker published.
- 1755 Translation of du Bos's Critical Reflections on Poetry and Painting.
- 1755 Miss Sara Sampson performed and published.
- 1756 Journey to England interrupted by the Seven Years' War.
- 1757 In Leipzig.
- 1758-60 In Berlin.
- 1759 Letters on Modern Literature.
- 1759 Philotas a tragedy.
  Fables
- 1760 The Theatre of Mr Diderot.
- 1760-5 In Breslau as secretary to General von Tauentzien.
- 1764 Serious illness in Breslau.
- 1765-7 In Berlin.
- 1766 Laoköon or the Limits of Painting and Poetry.
- 1767 Minna von Barnhelm.
- 1767-70 In Hamburg as critic and adviser for the Hamburg theatre.
- 1767 Hamburg Dramaturgy.
- 1769 Antiquarian Letters.

  The Ancients' View of Death.

Friendship with the Reimarus and König families.

- 1770 Librarian of the ducal library in Wolfenbüttel.
- 1771 Engagement to Eva König.
- 1772 Emilia Galotti.

There is a detailed discussion of the religious controversy in Lessing and Religion in Religion and Humanity: Lessing's Nathan the Wise (Studies, II).

1774	Publishes first Fragments of an Anonymous Author.
1775	Journey to Leipzig, Dresden, Vienna.
	Journey to Italy with Prince Leopold of Brunswick.
1776	Marriage to Eva König.
1777	Journey to Mannheim. Refuses offer to direct Mannheim theatre.
1778	Death of his wife Eva

	South of the tyte.
1778	Dispute with Chief Pastor Goeze, Anti-Goeze pamphle

1778 Ernst and Falk - dialogues for freemasons
--

1779	Nathan	the	Wise.
------	--------	-----	-------

1780	The Education	of the	Human	Race.
------	---------------	--------	-------	-------

<sup>1781 15</sup> February, died in Brunswick.

The setting of the play

The scene of the play is given as Jerusalem. The action takes place during an armistice in the Crusades. The year therefore must be 1192 at the end of the Third Crusade which lasted from 1189 to 1192. There are references in the play to Richard I (Coeur de Lion) and Philippe August II of France who were both in Palestine in 1191, and to Emperor Frederick I Barbarossa, who also took part in the Crusade and was drowned in Armenia in 1190.

The Crusades were military expeditions, fostered by the Papacy, undertaken from the eleventh to the thirteenth centuries by European Christians. The aim was to gain the Christian holy places in Palestine, then under Muslim occupation. After some successful military operations the Kingdom of Jerusalem was established and had then to be defended. In 1187 Sultan Saladin recaptured Jerusalem. The aim of the Third Crusade, led by the English and French kings and the German emperor, was to regain Jerusalem. The Europeans did not succeed in doing this, but Saladin made a treaty with Richard I, in effect an agreement to a three year armistice, which included permission for unarmed Christians to visit the holy places in Jerusalem.

Lessing's main historical source was François Louis Claude Marin's (1721–1809) History of Saladin Sultan of Egypt and Syria, (Histoire de Saladin. Sulthan d'Egypte et de Syrie, Paris 1758), translated into German by E.G. Küster, 1761. Lessing had himself translated Voltaire's History of the Crusades in 1751 and Abbé de Marigny's History of the Arabs in 1753 (Histoire des Arabes sous le Gouvernement des Califes, Paris, 1750).

Lessing did not set out to write a historical play. He was not concerned with historical accuracy, although such details as he gives broadly fit in with the historical facts, except for some points of chronology: for example, Saladin's father, who is mentioned, was no longer alive in 1192, and it is implied in the play that Frederick Barbarossa had died many years before. There is also a quite deliberate anachronistic reference to the theatre.

Lessing's main concern was to present his parable in circumstances where Christians, Jews and Muslims could plausibly be in communication. He had made an uncompromising comment on the Crusades in the Hamburg Dramaturgy (Part 7): 'These Crusades, which in their inception had been a political stratagem of the Popes, in practice led to the most inhuman persecutions of which Christian superstition has ever been guilty.'

The characters

Sultan Saladin The historical Salah-el-Din lived from 1138 to 1193. He was a Kurd who first gained power in Egypt, then waged successful campaigns in Syria and Mesopotamia, and conquered Jerusalem in 1187. Saladin made a treaty with Richard I in 1192 (see above). The plan, mentioned in the play, to marry Richard's sister Johanna to Saladin's brother Melek seems to have some foundation in fact.

Sittah Saladin had a sister called Sitt-alscham (also Sillah-Alscham in Marin's history). This suggested the name to Lessing.

Nathan Lessing based the scenes with the parable of the three rings on a story in Boccaccio's Decamaron in which a Jew named Melchisedech plays the main part. Lessing chose instead the name Nathan, an Old Testament prophet, for his principal character, as a more suitable name to use for his verse drama.

Recha was called Rahel in Lessing's first draft of the play.

Daja 'As I understand it, Daja means something like Nutrix (nurse)' Lessing noted in his draft of the play.

A young Templar The order of Knights Templar was founded in 1118, to protect pilgrims to the Holy Land. The name came from the fact that the order's base was near to what was held to be Solomon's temple in Jerusalem. The Templars took vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. Their uniform was a white cloak with a octagonal red cross on the breast.

A Dervish A Muhammadan mendicant monk.

The Patriarch of Jerusalem The bishop of Jerusalem. From the fifth century the bishops of Rome, Alexandria, Antioch, Byzantium and Jerusalem were given the rank of Patriarch. The Patriarch at the time of the Third Crusade was Heraklius, an infamous character according to Marin's History of Saladin.

A Lay Brother Lay brothers were not ordained, took only a vow of obedience, and carried out humbler tasks in monasteries.

An Emir An independent Muslim ruler.

Mamelukes Members of the Sultan's bodyguard.

The verse form and translation

Lessing chose to use blank verse, that is unrhymed iambic pentameters. Up to this time blank verse had been rarely used in German, but soon, in the plays of Goethe and Schiller and other dramatists, it became the verse form most often used in German drama.

Lessing was a master of vigorous, incisive prose and of dramatic language. His use of the verse in Nathan the Wise seems almost casual: it is clearly subordinated to the needs of the drama. It uses everyday, even colloquial language, appropriate to the different characters: the direct and simple language of the Lay Brother, the Patriarch's pious clichés, the sometimes 'romantic' language of the Templar, the changing styles of Nathan himself in different contexts. Lessing's friends pointed to much that was 'incorrect' in the early drafts, such as many lines with six or four feet instead of five. Lessing eliminated some of these, but gave priority to meaning and dramatic effect. Frequent enjambements17 are necessary, for the sake of the dialogue; in long sentences over many lines predicate and subject may be separated, pronouns or adverbs may not be used in the same line as the words with which they are associated. But Lessing had his own good reasons for this use of language, and remained in control. A more obviously 'poetic' feature in the play is its imagery, the recurring images of fire and water, trees and flowers - images intended to stimulate ideas and establish connections in the mind of the reader. There are biblical references or allusions, possibly more familiar to Lessing's contemporaries than to present-day readers. In the play as a whole, the flexibility of the verse, even its uneven rhythms, contribute to the intensity of its forward-moving ideas.

Inevitably much is lost in translation. The translation conveys Lessing's meaning as faithfully as possible, in a verse form which has some correspondence with Lessing's own. Complex German constructions have been simplified where this does not distort the meaning; the play on words in which Lessing delighted emerges in somewhat muted form; his juxtapositions and play on the sound of words tend to get lost, and epigrammatic phrases lose force. But the play's pace, concentrated flow of ideas, its fairly colloquial style, its general informality and humour perhaps emerge.

Publication and performance

Lessing wrote Nathan the Wise in 1779. He arranged for it to be published and sold on subscription. Editions were then produced and sold by the publisher Voss.

There were no performances in Lessing's lifetime. The first performance was given in Berlin in 1783 by the company run by a wellknown actor-manager, Döbbelin, who played the part of Nathan.

It was performed in Lübeck in 1788 and in Hamburg in 1789, and later established a place in the theatre repertoire.

Nathan the Wise was first translated into French in 1783 and into English by William Taylor of Norwich in 1790 (privately printed, and later issued for sale in 1805).

Title and epigraph

Lessing called Nathan the Wise 'a dramatic poem'. Voltaire had used this description for his play The Ghebers or Tolerance (Les Guèbres ou la tolérance) in 1769. Despite Lessing's criticism of Voltaire there are features of Nathan the Wise which have something in common with the theme of this play and others by Voltaire, Zaire (1732) and Mahomet (1742).

On the title page appears the epigraph:

Introite, nam et heic Dii sunt!

APUD GELLIUM

Enter, for here too are gods

From the works of Gellius

The reference is to the preface to Noctes Atticae (Attic or Athenian Nights) of Aulus Gellius, who lived c.AD 130-175.

References

Aner, K. (1929) The Theology of the Age of Lessing (Die Theologie der Lessingzeit), Garland, H. B. (1962) Lessing The Founder of Modern German Literature, 2nd edn., London.

enjambement - in verse, the carrying on the sense of a line or couplet into the next.

A dramatic poem in five acts

Introite, nam et heic Dii sunt!

Apud Gellium

by

Gotthold Ephraim Lessing
1779

Dramatis Personae

Sultan Saladin
Sittah, his sister
Nathan, a rich Jew in Jerusalem
Recha, his adopted daughter
Daja, a Christian but living in the house of the Jew, as Recha's companion
A young Templar
A Dervish
The Patriarch of Jerusalem
A Lay Brother
An Emir
and Mamelukes of Saladin

The scene is Jerusalem at the end of the twelfth century.

[Note. The lines have been numbered to correspond with those of the German text. In a few cases where the English translation is shorter, an adjustment has been made, and this is indicated against the lines in question.]

55

Gotthold Ephraim Lessing If that were so DAJA Would you be hearing it from me? Nathan the Wise Why do you terrify me then? - O Recha NATHAN O. my Recha. Yours? Your Recha? DAJA Act I If ever I no longer were allowed 30 NATHAN To call this child my own! Scene 1 Can you call everything DAJA Nathan and Daja That you possess with equal right Your own? (Scene: A hall in Nathan's house. Nathan comes in from his journey. Daja meets NATHAN Nothing with greater right. All else him.) That I possess has been bestowed on me He's here! It's Nathan! God be praised DAJA By nature or good fortune. This alone 35 That you have come back home at last. I owe to virtue. Yes, Daja, God be praised. But why at last? NATHAN DAJA Nathan, what a price Did I intend to come home any sooner? You make me pay for all your kindness. 5 Could I if I'd wished to? Babylon If kindness carried out with such intent Is from Jerusalem at least two hundred miles Can still deserve that name. Away along the route I was NATHAN With such intent? Obliged to take, with detours right and left. With what intent? Collecting in of debts is not a job 10 That makes a journey shorter, not something DAJA My conscience ... That is rushed, or quickly set aside. Daja, first NATHAN 40 Oh Nathan, Of all, just let me tell you what I bought ... DAJA When I think how wretched you'd have been I can't ignore my conscience ... DAJA If you had stayed at home. Your house ... NATHAN What lovely cloth Was burnt. NATHAN I bought for you in Babylon. So rich Yes, that I have already learned - God grant And yet so elegant as well. Recha 15 That they have really told me everything. Herself will scarce have any finer. And it was nearly totally destroyed. DAJA DAJA 45 No use. For my conscience I must tell you, Then, Daja, we'd have simply built ourselves NATHAN Will not be silenced for much longer now. Another – and a better one. NATHAN I wonder how you'll like the bracelets, earrings That's true. DAIA Necklace and the ring which I selected Yet Recha was so very nearly burnt Just for you when I was in Damascus. 50 To death. I really long to know. My Recha, burnt to death? My Recha? 20 NATHAN DAJA That's so like you! I had not heard that. Well then I would not Only content if you can give and give! Have needed any house. So she was nearly Burnt to death! You mean it's really true? Take gladly, as I give – and say no more! NATHAN She's burnt to death! Just tell me now straight out! No more! Who questions, Nathan, that there's none DAJA

25

More honest and more generous than you.

And yet! ...

Admit it! – kill me: torture me no longer.

- Yes, she's burnt to death!

70 Her eyes grew dim and then her head, which now 75 And saw you there. You really had come home. Can you wonder at it? Her entire soul Was all this time with you - and him -

NATHAN Him? 80 Who is he?

The man who rescued her DAJA From the fire.

NATHAN Who was he? Who? – Where is he? Who saved my Recha for me, who was it?

DAJA	A young Knight Templar who, not many days Ago was brought here as a captive, then Was pardoned by the Sultan Saladin.	85
NATHAN	What? Saladin has spared a Templar's life? A Templar's life ?. Only such a miracle Could save my Recha? Oh God!
DAJA	Without This man who boldly risked his life again Which he had just regained, she would have died.	90
NATHAN	Where is he, Daja, where's this noble man? Where is he? Let me go and kneel to him. I hope you gave him first of all, those treasures Which I left you? Gave him everything? And promised more, much more?	95
DAJA	How could we?
NATHAN	You did not?
DAJA	He came, no one knows from where, He went, and no one knows where to – without A knowledge of the house, and guided just By what he heard, he rushed with cloak outspread Boldly through flame and smoke to reach the voice Of someone crying 'Help!' By then we thought He must be lost – But from the smoke and flame He suddenly appeared. In his strong arms He held her safe. Coldly and quite unmoved By all our praise and thanks, he set her down, Forced his way through the crowd who waited there – And disappeared.	100 105
NATHAN	Not for ever, I should hope.
DAJA	Afterwards for several days we saw Him walking up and down beneath the palms Which shade the Holy Sepulchre. 19 I went up to him with rapture, thanked him. Praised him, implored, besought him just once more To see the gentle pious girl who Cannot now find rest, until she's thanked him	110
	With many tears, kneeling at his feet.	110
NATHAN	And then?
DAJA	In vain! Deaf to our request He poured such bitter scorn on me especially

23

Nathan the Wise

60

65

Matthew 27:25. 'Then answered all the people and said. His blood be on us and on our children.'

The grave of the resurrected Christ.

			***************************************
AN	That you were frightened off?			To dwell with us below a little while,
	Quite the contrary! Every day I went to him again	120		Playing at chivalry with such ill grace, I'll surely find him out and bring him here.	160
	And every day again he taunted me.		DAJA	It won't be easy. Nathan.
	How much I bore from him! Much more I would Have gladly borne! But for a long time now		NATHAN	Then perhaps
	He has not come to walk beneath the palms			The sweet dream will give way to sweeter truth
7	Which cast their shade upon the Holy Sepulchre.	125		Believe me, Daja, to a human being A human is much dearer than an angel.
1	And no one knows where he has gone.			So you will not blame me too much, I hope,	165
`	You're amazed? and thoughtful?			When you shall see our angel-dreamer cured.
N _	I was thinking		DAJA	You are so good, and yet you are so bad!
,	What impression on a mind like Recha's	). Trans	v	I'll go. But - listen! - look! - she's coming here hersel	f.
	This must surely have. To find herself	100
1	Disdained by one whom she feels bound to Esteem; to be rejected and yet so	130	Scene 2
, i	Attracted by him. Truly heart and head		Recha, Nat	than and Daja
	Must long have argued whether bitterness		RECHA	Father! So it is you, safe and sound.
(	Or sorrow now should dominate.			I thought it might be just your voice, sent on	170
(	Often neither wins; and fantasy	135		Ahead. Why have you stopped out here? What hills,
\	Which joins the conflict too, makes dreamers.	* *		What deserts and what streams divide us now? You're breathing in a room just next to mine
	Sometimes their head may rule their heart, sometime Again their heart may rule their head – a choice	S		Instead of rushing to embrace your Recha –
(	Of evils! – If I know her well, this must			Poor Recha who was meanwhile burnt to death!	175
	Be Recha's case: she dreams.			Or nearly burnt, just nearly. So don't shudder!
	But so devout.	140		It is a dreadful death, to burn.
S	So lovable!	140	NATHAN	My child, my dearest child!
1	A dreamer none the less!		RECHA	You must have crossed
		ţ		Euphrates, Tigris, Jordan: and who knows	* 00
Ŋ	She has one dream – a fancy, if you like, Most dear to her. It's that her Templar is	!		How many other rivers? – Often I	180
	No mortal man, no son of mortal man,			Have trembled for you, until the fire came So near to me. But since the fire has come
	But one of the angels, whom her young heart	145		So near to me: to die in water seems
F	From childhood onwards loved to think of as			Refreshment, comfort, and deliverance.
I.	Her own protector. Stepping from the cloud	ì		And yet you are not drowned, and I have not	185
V	Which veiled him, hovering round her even in			Been burnt to death. Let us now rejoice
r. T	The fire, he suddenly appeared in Templar's Form – don't smile at her! – Who knows? or if	150		And praise our God. He surely bore you and
Ÿ	You smile, let her at least emjoy a dream	150		Your boat on wings of his unseen angels
		;		Across the treacherous streams. And it was God	190
	As one – a dream that is so sweet!				130
ſ	Sweet	Ì	NATUAN		1
			MATHAN		^
S	See what she's doing – whether I can speak	155
T	To her. And then I'll find this wild capricious		90
G	Guardian angel. If it pleases him			nplar's uniform was a white cloak with an octagonal red cross o	on the
M A T Sc	Where Christian, Jew and Muslim can unite As one – a dream that is so sweet!  Sweet To me as well! – go, honest Daja, go See what she's doing – whether I can speak	155	NATHAN  20 The Tenleft breast.	Who beckoned to my angel to be seen, Carrying me through the flames on his (On his white wings – of course!, That in The Templar's white and outspread close	white wings. nust have beer ak) <sup>20</sup>

RECHA	Visibly, vis	aiblv
	He bore me through the fire, protected by His wings. And so I saw an angel, and I saw him face to face; He was my own Angel.	195
NATHAN	Worthy of my Recha. And There's nothing fairer she would see in him Than he in her.
RECHA	(smiling) Whom do you flatter, father, The angel, or yourself?
NATHAN	Yet if he were A human – such as nature shows us every day, Who rendered you this service, he would seem To you an angel. He must and so he would.	200
RECHA	Not that kind of angel, no! A real one: He was, I'm sure, a real one! Haven't you Taught me yourself that angels really could Exist, and miracles are worked by God To benefit all those who love him truly? I do love him.	205
NATHAN	Yes, and he loves you And hourly he works miracles for you And those like you. So has he done for all Eternity.	210
RECHA	That makes me happy.
NATHAN	Why? It might sound natural and commonplace If he who saved you were a real Templar Knight; but surely that would be no less a	215
	Miracle! – The greatest miracle Is that those miracles which are both real and true Can and do become so commonplace to us. Without this universal miracle
	No thinking person would call miracles Those things which only seem so to a child, Who stares at and pursues the strangest things, Struck only by their novelty.	220
DAJA (TO NATHAN)	Are you Intending to destroy her mind, already So inflamed, with all this subtlety?	225
NATHAN	Patience! For my Recha isn't it a Miracle enough that she was rescued

	By a human being who himself was earlier Saved by no small miracle. Indeed A miracle! Whoever heard of any Templar Knight reprieved by Saladin? Or any Templar who has asked or hoped That he would spare him? Or who offered more To him for freedom than the leather belt <sup>21</sup> Which holds his sword, or at most his dagger?	230 235
RECHA	Father that proves my point, that he was not A Templar Knight. He merely looked like one – No Templar who was captured ever comes Into Jerusalem except to certain death; No Templar walks so freely in Jerusalem: How could any Templar have been free To save me in the dark?	240
NATHAN	Why, that's well argued, Now, Daja, tell us. For it was from you That I have heard that he was sent here as A prisoner. I'm sure you must know more.	245
DAJA	Well yes – that's what they say – but they Also say that Saladin has pardoned Him because he looks so like one of His brothers, one whom he loved dearly. But as it's more than twenty years ago now Since this brother was alive – and I don't Know his name – and don't know where he died, It all just sounds so – so incredible, I dare say that there's nothing in it.	250
NATHAN	Daja, Why should such a thing be so Incredible? Surely not because You've chosen to believe in something more Incredible, as others do? Saladin Loves all his family. He might indeed	255
	Have loved one of his brothers in particular When he was young. And you'll agree it's true Two faces often look alike – are Impressions lost because they're old? And doesn't The same cause produce the same effect?	260 265
	I he same cause produce the same enectric it must. What is incredible in this? But I suppose, wise Daja, that you'd not	265

The belt in fact was of linen not leather, but if a Templar gave up his belt, he renounced his adherence to the order.

	Consider that a miracle – your miracles Need faith – or rather, should I say, deserve it.
DAJA	You're mocking me.
NATHAN	Because you're mocking me. But even so, Recha, you're rescue was A miracle, achieved by him who guides, With slenderest of threads, the firm resolves, The boldest plans of kings, as if it were His sport, if not his mockery.	270
RECHA	Father!
	If I'm wrong, you know I'm wrong against My will.	275
NATHAN	I know you're eager to be taught.  Look! A forehead with a certain arch,  A nose whose bridge is shaped in one way rather  Than another, eyebrows curving in
	A particular way along a broad or narrow Ridge of bone – a line, a mark, a curve A fold, an angle, insignificant details On a wild European's face –	280
	And you escape the burning fire in Asia. If you're hungering for miracles, That is a miracle. Why conjure up An angel too?	285
DAJA	But Nathan, if you'll let me speak, What's the harm in thinking you've been rescued By an angel rather than a human Being? Can't it make you feel much closer To the mysterious first cause of your rescue?	290
NATHAN	Pride! Nothing but pride! The iron pot Wants to be lifted from the fire with silver Tongs, in order to imagine it's a pot
	Of silver. Ha! What folly! Where's the harm In that, you ask me, Where's the harm in it? What's the use of it, I might reply. For your 'Feeling so much nearer to God'	295
	Is either nonsense or else blasphemy. And there is harm in it, there really is. Now listen. Is it true that both of you, But Recha above all, want to repay Your rescuer, whether he's an angel or	300
	A human being, by doing some great service? You do? Well, to an angel, what service, What great service could you hope to give?	305

NATHAN RECHA DAJA NATHAN	He's A Frank, <sup>22</sup> who's unaccustomed to our climate. He's young, not hardened to the rigours of His order, to the hunger, sleeplessness.  Ill!  Nathan only means he might be. Lying there, with neither friends nor gold To buy himself some friends.  Oh father, no!	335
RECHA DAJA	A Frank, <sup>22</sup> who's unaccustomed to our climate. He's young, not hardened to the rigours of His order, to the hunger, sleeplessness. Ill!  Nathan only means he might be.	335
RECHA	A Frank, <sup>22</sup> who's unaccustomed to our climate. He's young, not hardened to the rigours of His order, to the hunger, sleeplessness. Ill!	335
NATHAN	A Frank, <sup>22</sup> who's unaccustomed to our climate. He's young, not hardened to the rigours of His order, to the hunger, sleeplessness.	335
	TT )
	Me shudder. Daja! feel my face. It was So warm and now it's just like ice.
RECHA	A cold chill makes	330
DAJA	Ill! He's surely not!
RECHA	III5
NATHAN	How's that possible? What's the harm, you say – you cruel dreamers! – Suppose this angel now – had fallen ill?
DAJA	Well, no, we haven't.
NATHAN	Vanished? – Really vanished? – You no longer Saw him walk beneath the palms? But have You really made a thorough search for him?	325
RECHA	When at last he vanished
DAJA	You might celebrate his festivals By fasting, or give alms – but all that's nothing. It strikes me that your dear ones and yourselves Gain far more by all this than he. He won't Get fat from all your fasting, or get rich From your donations; he won't gain in splendour From your ecstasy, he won't be mightier By your faith. But if he were a man! Yes, if he were a man there would be greater Opportunity to do something. And God knows, we were eager to serve him. But he wanted nothing, needed nothing From us; in himself, and with himself He was content, as angels are, and only Angels can be.	316 315

Since the first Crusade (1096–99), which started in France, Frank was used in the Middle East to denote all European Christians.

23	ie by	Mohammed!	- equivalent	of by Godi
	i.e. by	Monanineu:	- equivalent	or by Goas

&lt;sup>24</sup> 'Kein Mensch muss müssen' in the German text.

Is still a dervish's, I'll take the risk.

The state official's robes are just your dress.

NATHAN	He lies bereft of nursing, sympathy, Or help, a prey to suffering and death!	340
RECHA	Where? Where?
NATHAN	For someone he had never known Or seen – simply for a human being, He rushed into the fire
DAJA	Nathan, spare her!
NATHAN	He did not want to know the one he'd saved, Nor see her any more, he only wanted To avoid her thanks	345
DAJA	Spare her, Nathan!
NATHAN	He had no wish to see her any more – unless He had to rescue her a second time Enough, it was a human being
DAJA	Stop!
NATHAN	His only consolation as he dies Is his awareness of this deed!	350
DAJA	Stop!
•	You're killing her!
NATHAN	And you have killed him! – or You could have done so. – Recha, Recha, I am Offering you medicine not poison.  He's alive – calm down! – he's probably not ill;  Not even ill.	355
RECHA	Really? Not dead? Not ill?
NATHAN	Really, He's not dead! For God rewards us In this world for doing good. Now, See, how rapturous dreaming is much easier Than doing good. The weakest people like To indulge in pious rapture — even though They're often unaware of why they do it — Simply to avoid the work of doing Good.	360
RECHA	Father, don't ever leave your Recha On her own again – You think perhaps He's only gone away?	365
NATHAN	Yes, yes, – Of course – But I can see a Muslim with enquiring Eyes examining my laden camels. Do you know who he is?
DAJA	Ah! your dervish.
NATHAN	Who?

32	Nathan the Wise Nathan the Wise		Wise	33
DERVISH	But even that commands respect. What do You think? What would I be at your court?	395	DERVISH	Me? Not much. But you could make a handsome profit.	425
NATHAN	Just A dervish – nothing more. Though now I come To think about it, probably the cook.			When the treasure's at its lowest ebb – You open up your floodgates – make advances, And claim any rate of interest.
DERVISH	Oh yes?		NATHAN	And interest on the interest too?
	I'd soon forget my skill in your house. Cook!		DERVISH	Of course.
	Why not the butler? See how Saladin Appreciates me better – I've become His treasurer.	400	NATHAN	Until my capital is nothing more Than interest.	430
NATHAN	You? For him?		DERVISH	It doesn't tempt you? Then
DERVISH	Of			You'd better write a farewell letter to
DERVIOIT	The lesser treasury – his father manages		NATHAN	Our friendship. I was really counting on you.  Really? How?
	The greater. I control the household treasury.		DERVISH	I thought that you might help me
NATHAN	His house is great.	}	DERVISIT	Carry out my office with some honour.	435
DERVISH	And greater than you think; For every beggar is a part of it.	405		That I could use you as a source of funds – You shake your head?
NATHAN	But Saladin's the enemy of beggars -		NATHAN	Let's understand each other.
DERVISH	He's intent on getting rid of them, Root and branch – even if he then himself Becomes a beggar.			A distinction must be made. For you, Al-Hafi, Why not? I'm always ready to do anything To help my friend the dervish. But	440
NATHAN	Bravo! – That's my view.	410		Al-Hafi, treasurer to Saladin,
DERVISH	He's very near to being one by now. Each day by dusk his treasury becomes Much emptier than empty. For the tide Which flows in high each morning by midday Has flowed away –	Andrews of the second s	DERVISH	To such a man  I thought as much. You're still As good as you are shrewd, and as shrewd As you are wise! Be patient. Soon the two Al-Hafis you distinguish will be separate	445
NATHAN	For channels drain away A part of it, and there's no way to fill Or seal them up again.	415		Again. Look at this robe from Saladin Before it's worn out, and reduced to rags, Which are the proper clothing of a dervish, I'll hang it on a peg here in Jerusalem,
DERVISH	Exactly.			And go off to the Ganges <sup>25</sup> where, with light	450
NATHAN	Understood.			And naked feet, I'll tread the hot sands with
DERVISH	Of course it's bad enough			My teachers.
	If princes are like vultures among carrion.  But if they're carrion among vultures	420	NATHAN DERVISH	Just like you! And I'll play chess
	That is ten times worse.			With them.
NATHAN	Oh no, dervish! Not so!		NATHAN	Your highest bliss!
DERVISH	It's no use wasting words. So let us see What would you offer me if I give up		DERVISH	What tempted me – The prospect that my begging days were over?
	My post to you?	â

What do you earn?

NATHAN

<sup>25</sup> The holy river of the Hindus.

34	Nathan the Wise			Wise	35
NATHAN	A chance to play the rich man to the beggars? The ability to transform in a flash The richest beggar to a poor rich man? Not that, I'm sure.	455		In this foolishness, and just because Of one good element, to take a part In all this foolishness myself? Well? Isn't that the truth?	495
DERVISH	No, even more banal; The new experience of being flattered; Flattered by the Sultan's generous caprice.	460	NATHAN	Al-Hafi – you must Go back to your desert. If you stay Among the human race you might forget To be a human.
NATHAN DERVISH	Which was? Only a beggar knows how beggars		DERVISH	That's what I fear. Farewell.
	Feel; only a beggar knows, from his Experience, just how to give to beggars. Your predecessor was too cold', he said, 'Too harsh. He was so grudging when he gave: He asked so many awkward questions first About the recipient. Although he knew There was a need, he wasn't satisfied Unless he knew the cause of need. And so	465	NATHAN	But why are you in such a hurry? Wait, Al-Hafi! Will your desert run Away? If he'd just listen! – Hey, Al-Hafi, stop! – He's gone; I really should have liked to ask Him all about our Templar. I imagine He must know him.	500
	The gift was meanly balanced with the cause.	470	Scene 4
	Al-Hafi won't do that. And Saladin		Daja and N	Nathan
	With Hafi's help won't seem so niggardly.  Al-Hafi won't be like those blocked-up water pipes		DAJA	(hurrying in) Nathan, Nathan!
	Which spew out frothing and unclean The water which came in so clear and still. Al-Hafi thinks, Al-Hafi feels as I do!"	475	NATHAN	Well? What is it now?
	So sweetly trilled the fowler's pipe until The bird was in the net! – Oh what a fool		DAJA	He has appeared again! He has Appeared again!
	I am! A fool of fools!		NATHAN	Who, Daja? Who?
NATHAN	Gently, my dervish.		DAJA	He! He!
DERVISH	Gently!  Isn't it plain folly, when A hundred thousand people are oppressed,	480	NATHAN	He? He? – When hasn't He appeared! <sup>26</sup> – Ah yes, For you, there's just one He. – He shouldn't be! Not even if he were an angel!	510
	Impoverished, despoiled, tortured, slaughtered, To play philanthropist to individuals?		DAJA	He's strolling up and down under the Palms; and he picks dates from time to time.
	Isn't it foolishness to simulate The Almighty's mercy, which he casts impartially	485	NATHAN	And eats them too? – as if he were a Templar?
	On good and bad, on field and desert, both In sunshine and in rain – to simulate it, But without the hand of the Almighty Which is always full. Don't tell me that's Not folly.	100	DAJA	Why tease me? – Recha's eager eyes caught sight Of him between the dense rows of the palms And followed him intently – now she asks you – Pleads with you – to go and see him right away. Hurry! She'll signal from the window	515
NATHAN	That's enough, Al-Hafi!			If he's coming up this way or turning Back. Please hurry!
DERVISH	And	490	4. V	Dack. Ficase Hully!
	Mr. Caller Tours and American Alexander		¥ —

My folly. Just consider that! Isn't It folly to detect a trace of goodness

For Nathan 'He' means God.

LAY BROTHER

TEMPLAR

NATHAN	Just as I've dismounted From my camel? – Would that be proper? You go Quickly to him; tell him I've returned.	520
	It was only in my absence that
	The gentleman would not come to my house.
	He'll gladly come when Recha's father sends	525
	An invitation. Go, and say that I Request him, cordially
DAJA	No use! He won't Come to you – in short; he won't come to a Jew.
NATHAN	Well go in any case; at least detain him; Qr failing that, just use your eyes to follow Him. Now go, and I'll come after you.	530
(Natha	n goes quickly indoors and Daja goes out)
Scene 5
Secret >
Templar and Scene: 2	I Lay Brother An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is	walking
Templar and Scene: A up and down	An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is Brother is following him at some distance at the side looking
Templar and Scene: A up and down A Lay	An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is.  Brother is following him at some distance at the side looking to him.  He can't be following me for nothing!  See how he keeps glancing at his hands! <sup>27</sup>
Templar and Scene: A up and down A Lay wants to spea	An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is  Brother is following him at some distance at the side looking  k to him.  He can't be following me for nothing!
Templar and Scene: A up and down A Lay wants to spea	An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is Brother is following him at some distance at the side looking to him.  He can't be following me for nothing!  See how he keeps glancing at his hands! <sup>27</sup> Good brother Or should I call you Father? <sup>28</sup>	g as if he
Templar and Scene: A up and down A Lay wants to spea TEMPLAR LAY BROTHER TEMPLAR	An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is Brother is following him at some distance at the side looking to him.  He can't be following me for nothing!  See how he keeps glancing at his hands!  Good brother Or should I call you Father?  Just brother, – a lay brother, at your service.  Yes, good brother, if I'd anything	g as if he
Templar and Scene: A up and down A Lay wants to spea TEMPLAR LAY BROTHER TEMPLAR	An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is Brother is following him at some distance at the side looking it to him.  He can't be following me for nothing! See how he keeps glancing at his hands! <sup>27</sup> Good brother Or should I call you Father? <sup>28</sup> I Just brother, – a lay brother, at your service.  Yes, good brother, if I'd anything To give you. But God knows that I have nothing – Even so, my warmest thanks. God give you Thousandfold what you would like to give. For it is the will and not the gift that makes The giver. And it wasn't for alms	g as if he
Templar and Scene: A up and down A Lay wants to spea TEMPLAR LAY BROTHER TEMPLAR	An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is Brother is following him at some distance at the side looking it to him.  He can't be following me for nothing! See how he keeps glancing at his hands! <sup>27</sup> Good brother Or should I call you Father? <sup>28</sup> I Just brother, – a lay brother, at your service.  Yes, good brother, if I'd anything To give you. But God knows that I have nothing – Even so, my warmest thanks. God give you Thousandfold what you would like to give. For it is the will and not the gift that makes	g as if he
Templar and Scene: A up and down A Lay wants to spea TEMPLAR LAY BROTHER TEMPLAR	An open space with palm trees, under which the Templar is Brother is following him at some distance at the side looking it to him.  He can't be following me for nothing! See how he keeps glancing at his hands! <sup>27</sup> Good brother Or should I call you Father? <sup>28</sup> I Just brother, – a lay brother, at your service.  Yes, good brother, if I'd anything To give you. But God knows that I have nothing – Even so, my warmest thanks. God give you Thousandfold what you would like to give. For it is the will and not the gift that makes The giver. And it wasn't for alms	g as if he

The Templar thinks that this suggests that the Lay Brother wants to ask for alms.

TEMPLAR	Where I was hoping now to find a modest Pilgrim's meal?
LAY BROTHER		545
TEMPLAR	Why? I haven't eaten meat for some time now. There's no need anyway. The dates are ripe.
LAY BROTHER	Take care, sir, when you eat this sort of fruit. It doesn't do to eat too much, it blocks The spleen, and makes for melancholy blood.	550
TEMPLAR	And what if I'm inclined to melancholy? But it wasn't just to warn me about this That you were sent to me?
LAY BROTHER	Oh no! – I'm Just supposed to find out more about you, Sound you out.	555
TEMPLAR	You tell me that yourself?
LAY BROTHER	Why not?
TEMPLAR	(A cunning brother, this) – And has The monastery more like you?
LAY BROTHER	Don't know. I must obey, good sir.
TEMPLAR	And so you just Obey and don't ask many questions then?	560
LAY BROTHER	Sir, would I be obedient otherwise?
TEMPLAR	(That shows simplicity is always in The right!) Are you allowed to tell me who It is who wants to know me better? I would Swear it's not yourself.
LAY BROTHER	Would it be fitting Or of use for me?	565
TEMPLAR	So who thinks it Fitting and of use to be so curious?
LAY BROTHER	The Patriarch, I think. He sent me here To look for you.
TEMPLAR	The Patriarch? Surely He knows the Templar's white cloak with the red cross Better than that!	570

I do!

I am a Templar and a prisoner -

Well then, brother

&lt;sup>28</sup> Monks were addressed as pater (Father).

LAY BROTHER  Already knows. He'd also like to know Why Saladin has pardoned you, and you Alone, sir.  TEMPLAR  Do I know myself? Already I was kneeling on my cloak, my neck bare, Waiting for the blow, when Saladin Looked closely at me, stepped near, gave a sign. Then I was helped up; I was unbound; and I Wished to thank him. There were tears in His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER  That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER  There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR  Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he Told you something?		I'll add that I was captured at the fort Of Tebnin, 29 which we should have liked to take Before the ending of the armistice, And then advance on Sidon; 30 furthermore Of twenty of us captured I alone Was spared by Saladin; and that is all The Patriarch should need to know, in fact More than he needs.	575
Why Saladin has pardoned you, and you Alone, sir.  TEMPLAR  Do I know myself? Already I was kneeling on my cloak, my neck bare, Waiting for the blow, when Saladin Looked closely at me, stepped near, gave a sign. Then I was helped up; I was unbound; and I Wished to thank him. There were tears in His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER  He thinks That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR  The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER  There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR  Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he	LAY BROTHER		580
Alone, sir.  TEMPLAR  Do I know myself? Already I was kneeling on my cloak, my neck bare, Waiting for the blow, when Saladin Looked closely at me, stepped near, gave a sign. Then I was helped up; I was unbound; and I Wished to thank him. There were tears in His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER  That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR  The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; an ore like that.  LAY BROTHER  There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR  Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he TEMPLAR Do I know myself? Already I was kneeling on my cloak, my neck bare, Waiting for the blow, when Saladin Looked closely at me, stepped near, gave a sign. Then I was helped up; I was unbound; and I Wished to thank him. There were tears in His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he 600
I was kneeling on my cloak, my neck bare, Waiting for the blow, when Saladin Looked closely at me, stepped near, gave a sign. Then I was helped up; I was unbound; and I Wished to thank him. There were tears in His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he		·
Waiting for the blow, when Saladin Looked closely at me, stepped near, gave a sign. Then I was helped up; I was unbound; and I Wished to thank him. There were tears in His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he	TEMPLAR	f
Looked closely at me, stepped near, gave a sign. Then I was helped up; I was unbound; and I Wished to thank him. There were tears in His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER He thinks That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600			585
Then I was helped up; I was unbound; and I Wished to thank him. There were tears in His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER He thinks That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600
His eyes. He was silent, so was I. And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER  That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR  The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER  There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR  Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600
And then he left. I stayed. What all this means The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600
The Patriarch can puzzle out.  LAY BROTHER He thinks That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he 600			500
LAY BROTHER That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he 600		•	330
That God has destined you to undertake The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR  The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER  There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR  Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600	LAY BROTHER	•
The greatest deeds.  TEMPLAR  The greatest deeds! Like Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER  Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR  Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600	LIAI DIOTAIN
Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600
Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire! Acting as a guide on pilgrimage To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER There will Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600	TEMPLAR	The greatest deeds! Like
To Sinai; more like that.  LAY BROTHER  There will  Be greater things. So far you've not done badly,  The Patriarch himself already has  Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR  Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600		Rescuing a Jewish girl from death by fire!
LAY BROTHER  Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR  Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he  600		Acting as a guide on pilgrimage	595
Be greater things. So far you've not done badly, The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he 600		To Sinar; more like that.
The Patriarch himself already has Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he 600	LAY BROTHER
Far more important business for you, sir.  TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he 600
TEMPLAR Really? Do you think so, brother? Has he 600		•
	TEMBLAD	,	600
2014 ) 04 00 11 11 11 11	TEMPLAN		000
		0.

A fortress near Acre, taken from the Crusaders in 1187.

LAY BROTHE	R Yes, he has,
	I'm told to sound you out, sir, and to see If you're the man he wants.
TEMPLAR	Well, sound me out!
	(I'll see what form this sounding takes) – Well?
LAY BROTHE	R The quickest way will be to tell you, sir, Exactly what the Patriarch's wishes are.	605
TEMPLAR	What are they?
LAY BROTHE	He would like you to deliver
	A short letter for him, sir.
TEMPLAR	Me? I'm
	Not a messenger – Is this the glorious
	Deed, more glorious than rescuing	610
LAUDDOMAN	A Jewish girl from fire?
LAY BROTHER	it must be. For
	The contents of this letter, says the Patriarch, Are vital to the whole of Christendom.
	The safe delivery of this letter – says
	The Patriarch – will be rewarded by	615
	Our Father with a special crown in Heaven.	615
	No-one – says the Patriarch – is worthier
	To wear this crown than you, sir.
TEMPLAR	IS
LAY BROTHER	There's hardly anybody – says the Patriarch –
	Who's better qualified to earn	620
	This crown than you, good sir.	020
TEMPLAR	Than I?
LAY BROTHER	You're free
	Here; you can look around you everywhere;
	You understand how to attack or to
	Defend a town; you're well placed - says the Patriarch	_
	To assess the strength and weakness of	625
	The inner second wall which Saladin
	Has just had built. You could describe it to
	The warriors of God in detail, says
	The Patriarch.
TEMPLAR	Good brother, could you tell me
	More about the contents of this letter?	630
LAY BROTHER	Well, I don't know very much about it, But it is a letter to King Philip. 52
59

Philippe II (1165-1223), King of France, who had returned to France after the capture of Acre.

 $<sup>^{50}\,</sup>$  Sidon, on the Mediterranean coast belonged to the Crusaders since 1111, but was captured by Saladin in 1187.

Sinai was said to be the mountain where Moses received the Ten Commandments. Christian pilgrims were allowed to go there.

41

Nathan the Wise

	The Patriarch I've often asked myself How such a holy man, who dedicates His life to Heaven, at the same time can Demean himself to be so well informed Of worldly things. It must be hard for him!	635
TEMPLAR	Well then? The Patriarch? –
LAY BROTHER	He has precise And certain knowledge, how and where, and in What strength, and from which quarter, Saladin Will open his campaign, if war breaks out Again.	640
TEMPLAR	He knows that?
LAY BROTHER	Yes, and he would like
	To let King Philip know about it too;	•
•	To enable him to calculate
	How serious a danger there might be,	645
	And judge if it is better to renew,
	At any cost, the truce with Saladin
	Which your courageous Order broke
	So recently.
TEMPLAR	Some Patriarch! – I see;	CFO
	The dear brave man is asking me to be	650
	Not just a messenger; he wants a spy! –
	Good brother, kindly tell your Patriarch,
	As far as you can sound me out, I am
	The wrong man for this job. I am obliged	655
	To look upon myself as prisoner.  The single duty of the Templar is	033
	To wield his sword with valour on the battlefield,
	Not espionage!
LAY BROTHEI
LAI DKULDEI	And I can't blame you much for that, sir.
	Yet the best is still to come. – The Patriarch	660
	Has got to know the name, and the location,	•
	Of the fortress in the Lebanon, 38
	Where those enormous sums are stored, which Saladin's far-sighted father uses
	To finance the army and equipment	665
	For the war. Now, Saladin from time
	To time visits this fortress, travelling
	Along deserted roads with little escort –
	You're with me?

33	The	German	text	refers	to	Mount	Lebanon.
----	-----	--------	------	--------	----	-------	----------

TEMPLAR Never that! What could be LAY BROTHER Simpler? All you have to do is capture 670 Saladin, And make an end of him. You shudder? But already there are two God-fearing Maronites<sup>84</sup> who have prepared To risk the deed; they only need a trusty Man to lead them there. And so the Patriarch 675 TEMPLAR Has chosen me to be this trusty man? LAY BROTHER He thinks likely, from a base in Acre<sup>35</sup> King Philip would be better able to Assist our cause. You ask me this? Me? TEMPLAR Did you not hear me, brother, when I told 680 You what a debt of gratitude I owe To Saladin? LAY BROTHER Indeed I heard. And yet? TEMPLAR LAY BROTHER The Patriarch says, That's all very well: But God and the Order They change nothing! They TEMPLAR Can't order me to villainy! 685 No. LAY BROTHER But – says the Patriarch – what's Villainy To human eyes may not be villainy to God. I owe my life to Saladin. And now TEMPLAR I should take his? But, says the Patriarch, LAY BROTHER Saladin is still an enemy 690 Of Christianity who cannot ever Earn the right to be your friend. TEMPLAR My friend? Because I cannot be a villain to him? An ungrateful villain?

Maronites were members of the Syrian Christian Church, since 1181 associated with the Roman Church.

Acre was conquered by Saladin in 1187, and besieged for three years by the Crusaders.

	Why of course!
	But – says the Patriarch – we owe no thanks, In sight of God or humankind, if what Was done to us was not done for our sake.	695
	There is a rumour – says the Patriarch –
	That Saladin has only pardoned you
	Because he finds a trace of something in Your looks and bearing not unlike his brother	700
TEMPLAR	And the Patriarch knows this as well? And what if it were true? Ah Saladin!
	If nature made one feature in me, which Suggested a resemblance to your brother, Could nothing in my soul then echo it? And how could I suppress that echo just To be obliging to a Patriarch? –	705
	Nature, you do not lie! And in His works God does not contradict himself. Go, brother, Don't provoke my anger! Go! Go!	710
LAY BROTHER	I'll go, and I'll go happier than I came. But do forgive me, sir. We in the cloister Are bound to obey the orders of our masters.
~ .
Scene 6
	end Daja, who has been watching the Templar from a distan w comes up to him.	ce for a
DATA	•
DAJA	It seems to me the Brother did not leave Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.	715
	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have	715
	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman Are the two claws of the devil! And
	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman	715 720
DAJA TEMPLAR DAJA	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman Are the two claws of the devil! And
TEMPLAR DAJA	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman Are the two claws of the devil! And Today I'm hurled from one claw to the other. Is it? Noble knight, it's you? Thank God, A thousand thanks to God. But where have you Been hiding all this time? I trust you've not
TEMPLAR DAJA TEMPLAR	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman Are the two claws of the devil! And Today I'm hurled from one claw to the other. Is it? Noble knight, it's you? Thank God, A thousand thanks to God. But where have you Been hiding all this time? I trust you've not Been ill?
TEMPLAR DAJA TEMPLAR DAJA	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman Are the two claws of the devil! And Today I'm hurled from one claw to the other. Is it? Noble knight, it's you? Thank God, A thousand thanks to God. But where have you Been hiding all this time? I trust you've not Been ill?  No.
TEMPLAR DAJA TEMPLAR DAJA TEMPLAR	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman Are the two claws of the devil! And Today I'm hurled from one claw to the other. Is it? Noble knight, it's you? Thank God, A thousand thanks to God. But where have you Been hiding all this time? I trust you've not Been ill?  No.  So you're in good health?
TEMPLAR	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman Are the two claws of the devil! And Today I'm hurled from one claw to the other. Is it? Noble knight, it's you? Thank God, A thousand thanks to God. But where have you Been hiding all this time? I trust you've not Been ill?  No.  So you're in good health?  Yes. We really were quite seriously concerned	720
TEMPLAR DAJA TEMPLAR DAJA TEMPLAR DAJA	Him in the best of moods. And yet I have To risk my message now.  Oh wonderful! The proverb tells the truth, that monk and woman Are the two claws of the devil! And Today I'm hurled from one claw to the other. Is it? Noble knight, it's you? Thank God, A thousand thanks to God. But where have you Been hiding all this time? I trust you've not Been ill?  No.  So you're in good health?  Yes.  We really were quite seriously concerned About you.	720

DAJA	And just returned today?
TEMPLAR	Yesterday.
DAJA	Recha's father came back home today. So now may Recha have some hope?
TEMPLAR	Of what?
DAJA	Of the request she often sends to you. Her father will invite you soon himself Most pressingly. He's come from Babylon With twenty fully laden camels, bearing Every costly thing you could imagine: Noble spices, precious stones and cloth, From India and Persia, Syria And even China.	730 735
TEMPLAR	I'm not buying anything.
DAJÁ	He is honoured by his people as A prince. And yet I've often wondered why They call him 'Wise Nathan' and not 'Nathan The Rich'.	740
TEMPLAR	Perhaps to people of his race Wise and rich mean just the same.
DAJA	But above All, he should be called 'The Good' by them. You can't conceive at all how good he is. When he found out what Recha owed to you There was nothing at that moment he would Not have done for you, or given you!	745
TEMPLAR	Oh!
DAJA	Just come and see yourself.
TEMPLAR	See what? How quickly
	Such a moment vanishes?
DAJA	If he Were not so good, would I have been prepared To stay so long with him? Do you think I have No feeling for my own worth as a Christian? No song at my cradle prophesied	750
	That I'd accompany my husband here To Palestine with no more purpose than To educate a Jewish girl. You see, My husband served as horse soldier In Emperor Frederick's army —	755

 $^{\rm 36}$  Emperor Frederick I (1121–90) (Frederick Barbarossa) drowned in the river Saleph in Armenia in 1190.

TEMPLAR	Yes, a Swiss By birth, who was vouchsafed the honour and The privilege of drowning in a river With his Imperial Majesty – Yes, woman! How often have you told me this before? How much longer will you persecute me?	760
DAJA	Persecute? Dear God!
TEMPLAR	Yes, persecute.  I refuse to see or hear you any More. I will not be reminded constantly Of something which I did without a thought And which remains a mystery to me	765
	When I think about it. Not that I Am anxious to regret it. But you see, Should such a thing occur again, you'd be To blame, if I were not so quick to act, If I asked questions first, and left to burn Whatever was in the flames.	770
DAJA	God save us!
TEMPLAR	From
	Now on, do me the favour of ignoring Me. That's all I ask. And get the father Off my back. A Jew's a Jew. And I'm A blunt young Swabian. <sup>37</sup> The image of The girl has long since left my mind, if ever It was there.	775
DAJA	But yours still lives in hers.	780
TEMPLAR	What good can come of it? What good?
DAJA	Who knows?
	People are not always what they seem.
TEMPLAR	But seldom any better. (He walks away)
DAJA	Wait! Why do You rush away?
TEMPLAR	Woman, don't make me hate These palm trees, in whose shade I've often walked.	785
DAJA	Go away, you German bear, just go – But I must not lose track of this wild beast. (She follows him at a distance)

Swabia is in south-west Germany.

Act II

Scene 1

Saladin and Sittah

(Scene: The Sultan's Palace. Saladin and Sittah are playing chess)

SITTAH Saladin, wake up! What's happened to your game?

SALADIN No good? I thought it was.

Not even for me. SITTAH

Take that move back again.

But why? SALADIN

Your knight 790 SITTAH

Is unprotected.

SALADIN Oh True. There then!

Now I can SITTAH

Play a fork.38

SALADIN That's true again, so check!<sup>89</sup>

SITTAH What good is that? I now move out; and you Are as you were.

I see I'm in a trap SALADIN I can't escape without some sacrifice. Oh well! Just take the knight.

795

SITTAH

I don't want him

I shall go past.

That gives me nothing. For SALADIN Your strategy involves more than my knight.

SITTAH Maybe.

Don't start counting chickens before SALADIN

They're hatched. There now! How's that? That's not what you 800

Expected?

No of course. How could I have SITTAH Expected that you'd grown so tired of Your queen?

SALADIN

Tired of my queen, you say?

A move in which one chess piece threatens two opposing ones.

A threat to take the King.

SITTAH	I see. Today I'll only win my thousand Dinars. <sup>40</sup> Not a single Nasarin <sup>41</sup> more.	805
SALADIN	How so?
SITTAH	How can you ask? Because you're trying To lose, with all your might. But my account Does not gain anything. Besides the fact That there's no pleasure in a game like this, Have I not always won more from you when I lost? When I have lost a game, you always Have consoled me afterwards by paying Double what you really owe me.	810
SALADIN	I see. So now I've beaten you it's you who's Lost the game on purpose, little sister?	815
SITTAH	At least, dear little brother, it may be That we should blame your generosity If I've not learned to play chess any better.
SALADIN	But we neglect our game. Let's finish it.
SITTAH	As you were? Check! And double check!	820
SALADIN	I admit I never noticed this Discovered check, which also takes away My queen.	ı
SITTAH	Could you have stopped it happening? Let's see.
SALADIN	No, no; just take the queen away. I wasn't really happy with this piece.	825
SITTAH	Just with that piece?
SALADIN	Away with it! It doesn't Matter. Every piece is covered once Again.
SITTAH	My brother has instructed me Too well how courteously one must behave To queens. 42 (She leaves the piece)
SALADIN	Then take it or don't take it! It's The only one I have.	830

A Dinar was an Arabian gold coin.

No need to take it. Check! Check!
Go on then.
Check! and check! and check!
Checkmate!
Not quite; your knight can move between Them; or whatever else you like. It won't Make any difference.
Quite right, You've won: Al-Hafi pays. Let him be called! At once! Sittah, you weren't far wrong; I wasn't concentrating On the game: I was preoccupied. And who keeps giving us this set of faceless Pieces? <sup>43</sup> One can't memorize them, they are Characterless. Have I been playing against The Imam? <sup>44</sup> But a loss must seek excuses. I admit the shapeless pieces didn't	835 840
Now You want to blunt the sting of your defeat. It's just that you were more preoccupied Than even I was.	845
What preoccupied your mind?
Not your preoccupation! Saladin, When shall we have a serious game again?	850
We'll play it yet more keenly when we do! You mean because the war restarts? Let it! I was not the first to take up arms; I wish we could extend the truce again
And at the same time I'd have liked so much To give my Sittah a good husband This must be Richard's brother; fafter all He is Richard's brother.	855
	Check! Check!  Go on then.  Check! and check! and check!  Checkmate!  Not quite; your knight can move between Them; or whatever else you like. It won't Make any difference.  Quite right, You've won:  Al-Hafi pays. Let him be called! At once! Sittah, you weren't far wrong; I wasn't concentrating On the game: I was preoccupied.  And who keeps giving us this set of faceless Pieces? One can't memorize them, they are Characterless. Have I been playing against The Imam? But a loss must seek excuses. I admit the shapeless pieces didn't Make me lose; it was your skill, the greater Calm and sharpness of your judgement  Now  You want to blunt the sting of your defeat. It's just that you were more preoccupied Than even I was.  What preoccupied your mind?  Not your preoccupation! Saladin, When shall we have a serious game again?  We'll play it yet more keenly when we do! You mean because the war restarts? Let it! I was not the first to take up arms; I wish we could extend the truce again.  And at the same time I'd have liked so much To give my Sittah a good husband This must be Richard's brother; fafe after all

&lt;sup>48</sup> The Koran forbids the use of images, so that strict Muslims would play with marked stones.

A Nasarin was a small silver coin.

Saladin had allowed Queen Sybille to visit her captured husband, Guy de Lusignan, King of Jerusalem.

&lt;sup>44</sup> The Imam, as the leader in a mosque, would be strict on this point.

Richard I (1157-99) (Coeur de Lion).

Prince John, later King John (1166-1216).

SITTAH	How you love to praise Your Richard!
SALADIN	And if Richard's sister  Had become our brother Melek's <sup>47</sup> wife, Then what a dynasty that would have made! The first and best of all the world's great dynasties You hear, I'm quite prepared to praise myself As well; I think I'm worthy of my friends, What men and women would have sprung from that!	860 865
SITTAH	Have I not also smiled at this fair dream? You cannot, will not, understand the Christians. Their pride is: to be Christian, but not human. Even that mixture of humanity	070
	And superstition, which their founder gave to them, They love not for it's human values, But because Christ teaches it, Christ did it. It's well for them he was so good a human Being. And it's well for them that they	870
	Can take his virtue in good faith. And yet What virtue? Not his virtue; it's his name That must be spread throughout the world, that must Dishonour and devour the names of all Good people. For the name, the name alone, Is everything to them.	875
SALADIN	You mean to say, Why else would they demand of you and Melek That each of you should bear the name of Christians 48 If you want to love a Christian as a spouse?	880
SITTAH	Yes. As if that love, which our Creator Granted every man and woman, could Be expected only of a Christian?	885
SALADIN	Christians believe in such absurdities That they could easily believe in that. But all the same, you're wrong. The Templars, not	000
	The Christians are to blame; They are to blame As Templars, not as Christians, Just because Of them, the whole plan fails. They want Acre, Which Richard's sister was to bring as dowry To our brother Melek, and they will not	890

&lt;sup>47</sup> In 1192 Richard I agreed on a three-year armistice with Saladin. The marriage plan was to consolidate this.

		_
	Let it go. In order not to lose	895
	The facility many hands the hight, they play the monk,
	The foolish monk. And they could hardly wait Until the ending of the armistice
	To try their luck with a surprise attack.
	How splendid! Carry on dear gentlemen,	900
	Just carry on! It's all the same to me.	300
	If only other things went as they ought.
SITTAH	Oh?
	What else has disconcerted you? What else
	Has put you out of humour so?
SALADIN	The same
	That always put me out of humour in	905
	The past. I was in Lebanon with father.
	He is overwhelmed with problems.
SITTAH	Oh dear!
SALADIN	He cannot cope; he's hemmed in everywhere,
	He lacks so much.
SITTAH	Hemmed in? What does he lack?
SALADIN	What I cannot bring myself to name,	910
	Which, when I have it, seems superfluous,
	And if I don't, seems indispensable.
	Where is Al-Hafi then? Has no one gone
	To find him? Wretched and accursed money!
	Hafi! Good! I'm glad you're here.
Scene 2
The derv	ish Al-Hafi, Saladin and Sittah
AL-HAFI		018
AGTIMIT	The money Has arrived from Egypt, I suppose.	915
	I hope there's plenty of it.
SALADIN	Have you news?
AL-HAFI	,
ALVITACE	I? I haven't. I was thinking I'd receive
	Some news from you.
SALADIN	Pay Sittah a thousand
	Dinars. (Walking up and down thinking)
AL-HAFI	Pay instead of being paid!	920
	Just fine! that's something even less than nothing.
	To Sittah? once again to Sittah? And You've lost? You have lost at chess again? Is this
	The game here still?

The game here still?

&lt;sup>48</sup> A condition was that Melek should convert to Christianity.

SITTAH At least you must admit My luck.  AL-HAFI (looking at the game) Admit what? But surely you know 925  SITTAH (signals to him) Sh! Hafi! Sh!  AL-HAFI (still looking at the game) You're too quick off the mark!  SITTAH Al-Hafi! Sh!	SALADIN SITTAH SALADIN AL-HAFI	(to Sittah)  What's that he says?  (making signs to Al-Hafi from time to time)  You know him, how he bristles, likes to be Consulted, a bit envious perhaps.  Surely not of you? Not of my sister?  What's this, Al-Hafi? Envious? You?
AL-HAFI (looking at the game) Admit what? But surely you know 925  SITTAH (signals to him) Sh! Hafi! Sh!  AL-HAFI (still looking at the game) You're too quick off the mark!  SITTAH Al-Hafi! Sh!	SALADIN	(making signs to Al-Hafi from time to time) You know him, how he bristles, likes to be Consulted, a bit envious perhaps. Surely not of you? Not of my sister?
Sh! Hafi! Sh!  AL-HAFI (still looking at the game) You're too quick off the mark!  SITTAH Al-Hafi! Sh!		Surely not of you? Not of my sister?
You're too quick off the mark!  SITTAH Al-Hafi! Sh!	AL-HAFI		945
		Perhaps,
4. TYATY (4. Cittab)		Perhaps! I think I'd rather have her brain; I'd rather be as good as her.
AL-HAFI (to Sittah)  So you were playing white?  And you called check?	SITTAH	But even So, he's always paid the right amount, And he will pay today as well. Just leave him!	950
SITTAH He hasn't heard, thank God.  AL-HAFI Now it's his move?		Go, Al-Hafi, go. I'll send out for The money later.
SITTAH (going up to him)  Just say to Saladin  That I can have my money.	AL-HAFI	No. I won't keep up This farce with you. He must be told the truth Sometime.
AL-HAFI (still absorbed by the game)	SALADIN	Who? Told what truth?
Yes, of course 930 You shall receive it, as you always do.	SITTAH	Al-Hafi! Is this your promise? Do you keep your word	955
SITTAH What, are you mad?	AT TIAET	To me like this?  How could I know, that it
AL-HAFI The game's not over yet. You really haven't lost it, Saladin.	AL-HAFI	Would go so far.
SALADIN (hardly listening) Just pay! Just Pay!	SALADIN	And am I to be told Nothing?
AL-HAFI Pay! Pay! Your queen is still in place.	SITTAH SALADIN	Al-Hafi, do please be discreet. But this is very strange. Just what could Sittah
SALADIN (as before)  It makes no odds; 935  It isn't in the game now.		Want to beg so solemnly and fervently From a foreigner, and from a dervish, Rather than from me, from her own brother. Al-Hafi, I command you now. Speak, dervish.	960
SITTAH Oh come on!  Just say that I can have the money now.	SITTAH	Brother, don't let a trifle of this kind Concern you more than it deserves.	965
AL-HAFI (still absorbed by the game) That's understood, as usual – All the same, Even if the queen is not in play, it's Not yet checkmate.		You know, that several times I've won the same Amount from you when we played chess. Well then, Because I have no urgent need of it, And as the funds in Hafi's coffers aren't	300
SALADIN (steps forward and overthrows the board) Yes it is. That's how I want it.		Exactly overflowing, just because Of this, the sums have not been paid. Don't worry, I'm not intending to donate them to you,	970
AL-HAFI Yes, your game is like her winnings! Paid as it was won.	AL-HAFI	Brother, nor to Hafi, nor the coffers.  Yes, but that's not all!

	Achieve? One horse, one coat, one sword, I still Must have. And I can't gain by bargaining With God. For he asks very little of Me – just my heart. All I was counting on Was any surplus from your treasury, Al-Hafi.	1010
AL-HAFI	Surplus? Tell me, would you not Have had me run-through, or at least have had Me strangled, if you had discovered that I had been holding back a surplus. No I'd rather risk embezzlement than that.	1015
SALADIN	But what are we to do then? Could you not Have borrowed first from someone else instead of Sittah?
SITTAH	Do you think I'd let him take This privilege away from me, my brother? And I still insist on it. I'm not Quite bankrupt yet.	1020
SALADIN	Not quite? That's the last straw! Go off at once, Al-Hafi, make a start. Take from anyone you can; and how you can. Go, borrow, promise. But don't borrow from The people I made rich. For borrowing From them might seem like taking back a gift. Go to the greatest misers; they're the ones Who'll gladly lend to me. They understand How well their money prospers in my hands.	1025
AL-HAFI	I know no one like that.
SITTAH	It just occurs To me that I have heard, Al-Hafi, that Your friend has come back.	1030
AL-HAFI	(disconcerted)  Friend? My friend? And who Might that be?
SITTAH	The Jew you highly praised.
AL-HAFI	A Jew I praised? And highly?
SITTAH	To whom God – I still remember clearly the expression Which you used about him once – to whom His God has granted both the smallest and The greatest of the treasures of this world In full measure.	103

SITTAH	And other sums	055
	Like that; they too are still unpaid. And also	975
	Your allowance to me has remained Untouched for several months.
AL-HAFI	That's still Not all.
arr (DD)
SALADIN	Not all? Speak out! Just tell me then!
AL-HAFI	While we've been waiting for the gold from Egypt, She has
SITTAH	(to Saladin)
	Why listen to him?
AL-HAFI	She's not only	980
	Taken nothing
SALADIN	Good girl! She has helped out
	With advances, hasn't she?
AL-HAFI	Maintained
	The whole court; covered your expenses single- Handed.
SALADIN	Ah, how like my own dear sister! (embraces her)
SITTAH	And who has made me rich enough to do This, but my brother?	985
AL-HAFI	Soon he'll make a pauper
700-11714 1	Of her once again, just like he is Himself.
SALADIN	I, poor? Your brother, poor? But when
	Have I had more? And when have I had less?	000
	One coat, one sword, one horse, one God! What more	990
	Do I need if I have as much as this?
	And yet, Al-Hafi, I've a mind to scold you.
SITTAH	Brother, don't scold. I only wish I could Relieve our father in his troubles too.
SALADIN	Ah! Now at once you have destroyed my cheerful	995
	Mood again. Though I need nothing for Myself, and can need nothing, he is in Great need and through him we are too. So what Am I to do? Perhaps nothing will come
	From Egypt for a long time. Why that is,	1000
	God knows. For all is peaceful there. I can Reduce, retrench, economise, and do it
	With a will, if it affects no-one
	But me, just me alone, and no one else	1005
	Is made to suffer. And yet what can that	1005

52

Nathan the Wise

Himself?

SITTAH SALADIN

SITTAH

AL-HAFI

And such a man ...

That I have never heard about this man? Would he refuse to lend to Saladin.

But here you see the Jew again,

So that he always has enough to give. Because his law<sup>50</sup> commands him to be charitable,

The common Jew. Believe me, he is jealous

You! In all the world, when ever someone Says 'God reward you', he would like it to Be said to him. That's why he doesn't lend,

But does not order him to be obliging. Charity makes him the least obliging

Who needs it on behalf of others, not

Of your generosity. He envies

How can it be

1075

1080

AL-HAFI	Did I say that? What did I mean by that?
SITTAH	The smallest riches. And The greatest wisdom.	1040
AL-HAFI	What? About a Jew? Could I have said all that about a Jew?
SITTAH	You said of your Nathan, didn't you?
AL-HAFI	Oh yes! Of him! Of Nathan! He just didn't Spring to mind. So is it really true? He's come back home again at last? Well! He Cannot be badly off in that case. You're Quite right: the people once called him 'the Wise', 'The Rich' as well.	1045
SITTAH	'The Rich' now, even more Than ever. All the town resounds with talk Of all the precious things, the treasures he Has brought back.	1050
AL-HAFI	Well, if he's 'the Rich' again, He's probably 'the Wise' again as well.
SITTAH	Al-Hafi, do you think you could approach him?
AL-HAFI	But for what? You can't mean for a loan? You don't know him. He won't lend. His wisdom Is that he will never lend to anyone.	1055
SITTAH	But you gave me quite a different view Of him before.
AL-HAFI	If necessary, he Will lend you goods. But money? Never, No He's quite unlike the usual kind of Jew. He possesses understanding, he's	1060
	Well mannered, plays good chess. But he stands out Among all other Jews in bad ways just As much as good. You really cannot count On him. He certainly gives money to The poor, perhaps as much as Saladin,	1065
	Or if not quite as much, as willingly. Without discrimination too; Jew, Christian, Muslim, Parsee, <sup>49</sup> they are all alike To him.	1070

54

the town resounds with talk ious things, the treasures he ack.	1050 E		Fellow in the world. For quite a while now My relations with him have been somewhat	1085
Well, if he's 'the Rich' again, 'the Wise' again as well.	* produced calculate		Strained. But just because of that, you mustn't Ever think that I don't do him justice.  He is good for everything, except for this;
ı think you could approach him?	in the state of th		For this he really is no good. I'll go	1090
You can't mean for a loan? w him. He won't lend. His wisdom never lend to anyone.	1055		And knock on other doors at once. I know A Moor, I've just remembered, who is rich And miserly, I'll go. I'll go and see him.
ne quite a different view		SITTAH	What's the hurry, -Hafi?
		SALADIN	Let him go!
If necessary, he	1060	Scene 3
goods. But money? Never, No ike the usual kind of Jew.	1000	Sittah and	Saladin
inderstanding, he's d, plays good chess. But he stands out er Jews in bad ways just		SITTAH	He's rushing off as if he's glad to get Away from me. Why? Has he been deceived By Nathan, or are we the ones he wishes to	1095
od. You really cannot count	1065		Deceive?
ertainly gives money to haps as much as Saladin, e as much, as willingly.		SALADIN	Why do you ask me? I hardly know Who you were talking of. Until today I never heard a thing about this Jew	1100
mination too; Jew, Christian, e, <sup>49</sup> they are all alike	1070	SIITAH	Of yours, this Nathan.  Can it be that such A man is still unknown to you? They say He has explored the tombs of Solomon of Zoroaster, founder of the Persian cult of t	ire.	50 The Mo	saic law.

Parsee - Indian follower of

SITTAH	What do you mean By force? With fire and sword? Of course not. With
SALADIN	But surely, sister, you do not intend To take what's his by force?
	Or could it be that, even though he is The best of all his people he cannot Help being one of them? Perhaps Al-Hafi Feels ashamed of him in this respect. Well, be that as it may. It doesn't matter If the Jew is more or less like other Jews. He's rich, and that's enough for us.	113
SITTAH	Not coldly, more embarrassed, As if he thought it dangerous to praise him, But did not want to be unjustly critical.	1130
SALADIN	But Al-Hafi spoke of him so coldly, so Uncertainly.
	Delight how great and noble was the use His friend made of the wealth which he acquired With skill and energy. How nothing was Too small, how free his mind was from all prejudice, How open was his heart to every virtue, And how he was attuned to every beauty.	1120 1125
SITTAH	His camels travel on all roads, and go Across all deserts. Nathan's ships are to Be found in every harbour. I was told that By Al-Hafi. And he added with
SALADIN	He's a merchant then.	1115
SITTAH	Or scoundrels! And in any case His source of riches is more fruitful, and More inexhaustible, than a mere tomb, Full of Mammon. 52
SALADIN	If this man took his riches out of tombs They certainly were not from Solomon's or David's tombs. Fools must be buried there!	1110
	And David, <sup>51</sup> and he knows a mighty magic Word with which he can remove their seals. From them he brings out to the light of day From time to time those untold riches which Could not have come from any other source.	1105

A reference to a legend that treasures were buried in these graves.

	The weak the only kind of force one needs Is their own weakness. Now just come with me To hear a singer in my harem whom I purchased only yesterday. Perhaps	1140
	Meanwhile I can work out a strategy I have for dealing with this Nathan. Come!	1145
Scene 4
(Sce	athan and Daja ne: In front of Nathan's house, where it meets the palm trees. Fi ome out. Daja joins them.)	Recha and
RECHA	Father, you have been so long. There's little Chance of meeting him by now.	1146
NATHAN	Well, well; If we've missed him here, beneath the palms, We'll see him somewhere else. Be calm now. Look! Is that not Daja coming to us?
RECHA	She Will surely have lost sight of him by now.	1150
NATHAN	I doubt it.
RECHA	Then she would be walking faster.
NATHAN	Probably she hasn't seen us.
RECHA	Now She's seen us.
NATHAN	Look, she's coming twice as fast. So just calm down.
RECHA	You wouldn't really want A daughter who was calm at such a moment? Who did not want to know to whose good deed She owes her life? Her life which she loves only Because she owes it first of all to you.	1155
NATHAN	I wouldn't want you different from what You are; not even if I understand That something new is stirring in your soul.	1160
RECHA	What, father?
NATHAN	You ask me so shyly? That Which now develops in your inmost heart Is innocence and nature. Let it cause you	1165

No distress. It causes none to me.
But promise one thing to me; if your heart
Declares itself more openly, don't hide

Its wishes from me.

&lt;sup>52</sup> Mammon-riches.

Sathan the Wise	50
	79

I tremble at the very Thought that I might hide my heart from you. No more about this, it is settled now	1170
And for all time. But here is Daja. Well?
He's still here, walking in the palm-grove. Soon He'll come out from behind that wall. Look, Here he comes!
Ah! He looks undecided. Where now? Further on? Or back? Or to the right? Or left?	1175
No, no. He's sure to take a few more turns Around the monastery. And after that, I'm sure he'll pass us here.
That's right! But did You speak to him? How did he seem?
As always.	1180
Make sure he doesn't know that you are here. Go further back. Or better still go right Inside.
Just one more look! Oh, no, the hedge Is hiding him from me.
Come on. Your father Is quite right. If he should see you, he Might turn back straight away.	1185
That hedge again!
And if he comes out from behind it suddenly, He is bound to see you. He can't help it. So Hurry, go!
Come on; I know a window Where we can see what they are doing.
(Both go inside)  Yes?	1190
oon joined by the Templar
I'm almost frightened of this strange young man. His rugged virtue almost makes me hesitate. But how can one man make another feel So ill at ease? Ah! Here he comes. By God, He's certainly a manly youth. I like	1195
	He'll come out from behind that wall. Look, Here he comes!  Ah! He looks undecided.  Where now? Further on? Or back? Or to the right? Or left?  No, no. He's sure to take a few more turns Around the monastery. And after that, I'm sure he'll pass us here.  That's right! But did You speak to him? How did he seem?  As always.  Make sure he doesn't know that you are here. Go further back. Or better still go right Inside.  Just one more look! Oh, no, the hedge Is hiding him from me.  Come on. Your father Is quite right. If he should see you, he Might turn back straight away.  That hedge again!  And if he comes out from behind it suddenly, He is bound to see you. He can't help it. So Hurry, go!  Come on; I know a window Where we can see what they are doing.  Yes?  (Both go inside)  Tim almost frightened of this strange young man. His rugged virtue almost makes me hesitate. But how can one man make another feel So ill at ease? Ah! Here he comes. By God,

58

	His good, defiant look, and his firm step. However bitter is his shell, the kernel Cannot be. Where have I seen his like? Forgive me, noble Frank.
TEMPLAR	What?
NATHAN	Please allow me.
TEMPLAR	What, Jew, what?
NATHAN	To venture to address you.	1200
TEMPLAR	How can I prevent it? But you'd better Make it short.
NATHAN	Please wait. Don't rush away So proudly and contemptuously from A man who is forever in your debt.
TEMPLAR	How's that? Ah, I believe I know. You are	1205
NATHAN	My name is Nathan. I'm the father of The girl you generously rescued from The fire. I've come
TEMPLAR	To thank me? But I have Already had to suffer too much thanks For this mere trifle. As for you, you owe Me nothing. After all I did not know That this girl was your daughter. And it is The duty of the Templar Knights to spring To the assisstance of all people in Distress. In any case my life was at That moment burdensome to me. So I Was very glad to seize the opportunity To put my life at risk to save another. Even if the life I saved might be As unimportant as this Jewish girl's.	1210 1215 1220
NATHAN	A great and dreadful thing! I think I understand. Your modest greatness hides Behind such dreadful words in order To escape from admiration. All the same If admiration meets with your contempt What can we offer that you would find less Despicable? Sir, if you weren't a stranger Here, a prisoner, I would not be So bold in asking you. Give your command:	1225
	How can we serve you?
TEMPLAR	You? with nothing.

NATHAN	I'm	1230
	A man with riches.
TEMPLAR	But a richer Jew Is not a better Jew to me.
NATHAN	But even so Could you not make use of all the good Things which he has? Could you not use his riches?
TEMPLAR	Well, I won't reject that out of hand, If only for the sake of my old cloak. As soon as it wears out, and neither seam Nor tatter holds together any longer, Then I'll borrow cloth or money from you	1235
	For a new one. But don't look so black! You're still quite safe. It isn't that far gone. You can see it's still in quite good Condition. Only this one corner has An ugly mark: that's where it has been singed. That happened when I carried out your daughter	1240 1245
	Through the fire.
NATHAN	How strange it is that such An evil stain, the mark of fire, should give A man a better testimonial Than his own mouth. And I would like to kiss This mark. Ah! Pardon me! I couldn't help it.
TEMPLAR	What?
NATHAN	A tear fell on it.
TEMPLAR	Never mind. There have been many drops before. (This Jew Is disconcerting.)
NATHAN	I wonder if you would  Be very kind and let your cloak be taken  Some time to my daughter?
TEMPLAR	For what reason?	1255
NATHAN	So she may press her lips upon this mark. For I suppose her wish to fall upon Her knees in front of you is now in vain.
TEMPLAR	But Jew, – your name is Nathan? Nathan then, You frame your words with skill, and very pointedly I am embarrassed – anyway – I would	1260
NATHAN	React and play a part, just as you wish.

	I'll still see through it. You were far too good And honest to be more polite. The girl Was all emotion; while the woman messenger Was too insistent, and the father, far Away. You were concerned for her good name. You fled, to save her from an ordeal or defeat. I thank you for that too.	1265
TEMPLAR	I see you know	1050
NATHAN	The way in which we Templars ought to think.  Why only Templars? And why ought to think?  Because it is commanded by the Order?  I know how all good people think, and that  Good people are produced in every land.	1270
TEMPLAR	And yet, I hope, with differences.
NATHAN	Of course They're different in colour, dress, and build.	1275
TEMPLAR	In one place more, and in another less.
NATHAN	These differences don't amount to much. Everywhere a great man needs much space, When several are planted close together They just break each others' branches. Average Men like us are countless everywhere. And yet each one must tolerate the rest, And yet one gnarled branch must accept another. And yet no single treetop must presume That it alone did not spring from the ground.	1280 1285
TEMPLAR	Well spoken! But you also know the race Which first evolved this petty, carping view Of humankind? You know which people was The first to call itself the chosen people, 58 Nathan? I don't exactly hate this people, but I cannot help despising them for all Their pride. Their pride, which they passed down to Christian and to Muslim, that their God alone Is the true God!. You are amazed that I, A Christian and a Templar, speak like this? When and where has pious fury claimed More stridently to have the better God, And to impose it on the whole world as	1290 1295

Deuteronomy 7:6. 'The Lord thy God hath chosen thee to be a special people unto himself above all people that are upon the face of the earth.'

		 -
	The best? Where has it shown itself in blacker Form than here, and now? Can anybody, Here and now, be so blinkered Leave Them to their blindness! Just forget what I	1300	TEMPLAR DAJA NATHAN	Yes, what is it? The Sultan sends for you. The Sultan wants To speak to you. My God, the Sultan!	1330
NATHAN	Have said, and let me be. (He is about to go)  Ah, you don't know  How much more firmly I shall press myself Upon you now. We really must be friends.	1305	NAIHAN	Me? The Sultan? I expect he wants to see What new things I've brought back. Just tell him that Little – almost nothing – is unpacked.	1330
	Despise my people if you wish. But neither Of us chose our people. Are we then Our people? What does 'people' mean?		DAJA	No, no, he won't see anything. He wants To speak to you in person, and as soon As possible.	1335
	Are Jew and Christian, Jew and Christian first And human beings second? Have I found	1310	NATHAN	I'll come. Go in, go in!
	In you a man who needs no other name Than human being?		DAJA	Please do not be offended, noble knight – God, we are so worried about what The Sultan wants.
TEMPLAR	Yes, by God, You're right! Nathan give me your hand. I am ashamed That I misjudged you even for a moment.	1315	NATHAN	We'll soon find out. Just go!
NATHAN	I'm proud of it. For only common things Are recognised at once.		Scene 7 Nathan a	nd the Templar
TEMPLAR	But what is rare Is harder to forget. Nathan, of course We must, we must be friends.		TEMPLAR NATHAN	So you don't know him yet? I mean in person? Saladin? Not yet. I've not avoided Meeting him, but never sought him out.	1340
NATHAN	We are already. How my Recha will rejoice at this! And what a joyful prospect opens up Before my eyes! Just get to know her first.	1320		The general report spoke so much good Of him that I preferred believing it To meeting him himself. But if it's true That he, by granting you your life	1345
TEMPLAR	I already long to do so. Who is that Who rushes from your house. Is it not Daja?		TEMPLAR	Quite right. At least that's true. The life which I'm now living
NATHAN	Yes, and she looks anxious.		NATHAN	Is his gift.  And with this gift he's given
TEMPLAR	Let us hope Our Recha is all right.	1325	NAIDAN	Me a double, threefold life. It changes Everything between us. All at once	1350
Scene 6				It threw a rope around me, so that I Am bound forever to his service, now.
Nathan, T	Cemplar and Daja			I can scarcely, scarcely wait to hear
DAJA	Nathan, Nathan!	• •		What he will first command me. I am ready To do anything. And I am ready	1355
NATHAN	Well?			To admit I do it for your sake.	2000
DAJA	Forgive me, noble knight, for interrupting You.		TEMPLAR	I've had no chance to thank him for myself yet, Even though I've often crossed his path.
NATHAN	What is it?			The impression which I made on him Came suddenly, and disappeared as fast.	1360

NATHAN	Who knows if he remembers me at all. And yet he must remember me again. Once more at least; for he must finally Decide my fate. It's not enough that I Still live at his command, and at his will. I now must learn from him according to Whose will I have to live my life henceforth. Exactly; one more reason why I won't Delay. Perhaps a word may give me a chance To mention you. Forgive me, I must hurry. But when shall we see you at our house?	1365 1370	S 9	Wolf held his sword as he does, and like him He also stroked his eyebrows with his hand, As if to hide the fire in his eyes. How such images, so deeply etched, Can sometimes sleep in us, until a single Word, a sound, awakens them. Von Stauffen – Right, that's right! Von Filnek and Von Stauffen. Soon I'll find out more about that, soon, But first to Saladin. What's this? Is that Not Daja lurking there? Come closer, Daja.	1395 1400
TEMPLAR	As soon as you allow.		Scene 8 Daja and	Nathan
NATHAN	Or you would like.		NATHAN	I suppose that both of you are bursting to
TEMPLAR	Today then.		MITMIN	Discover something very different from
NATHAN	And your name, if I may ask.			Why the Sultan wants to see me.
TEMPLAR	My name was – is – Curd von Stauffen. Curd.		DAJA	Can You blame her? You had just begun to talk	1405
NATHAN	Von Stauffen? – Stauffen?			To him more confidentially, when we
TEMPLAR	Why are you So struck by that?	1375		Were driven from the window by the Sultan's Messenger.
NATHAN	Von Stauffen? – There must be Some other families of that name		NATHAN	Just tell her then, she may Expect him any moment.
TEMPLAR	Oh yes, there were More of them – and some rot here to this day.  My uncle himself – my father, I should say –  Why are you looking at me more and more Intently?	1380	DAJA NATHAN	Really? Really?  I hope I can rely upon you Daja? Please be on your guard. You won't have any Reason to regret it, and your conscience Will be satisfied by this. But please	1410
NATHAN	Nothing, nothing. It's just that I cannot tire of seeing you.			Do nothing to disrupt my plan. Just talk And ask your questions with discretion and Restraint	1415
TEMPLAR	Then I Shall leave you first. The eyes of one who seeks Have often found more than he wished to find. I fear them, Nathan. Let time, and not curiosity, Develop our acquaintance step by step. (He goes out)	1385	DAJA	I hardly need reminding of That. I'm going; you must go yourself. But look! I do believe a second messenger Has come from Saladin, your dervish, Al-Hafi. (Exit)	1420
NATHAN	(Looking after him in astonishment)  'The eyes of one who seeks have often found More than he wished to find'. It is as if He read my mind. It really is. And yet It could be possible. He has not only Wolf's build, Wolf's walk – his voice too is the same Wolf even used to toss his head like that.	1390	Scene 9 Nathan at AL-HAFI NATHAN	nd Al-Hafi There you are! It's you I've come to see. Why this urgency? What does he want Of me?

66	Nath	an the Wise	Nathan the	Wise	67
AL-HAFI NATHAN AL-HAFI NATHAN	Who? Saladin. I'm on my way. To whom? To Saladin? Did Saladin Not send you?			Perhaps you might imagine that a man Who needs your money would consider taking Your advice? You really think so? Saladin Accept advice! When has he taken any Advice? You can't imagine, Nathan, what Occurred just now when I was with him.	1450
AL-HAFI	No. Me? Has he sent for you	1425	NATHAN	Well?	1455
NATHAN AL-HAFI NATHAN	Already? Yes, he has. You mean it's true. What? What is true?		AL-HAFI	I came to him just after he had played Chess with his sister. Sittah doesn't play So badly. And the game, which Saladin Believed he'd lost, and had conceded, was Still set out, untouched. I take a look, And see the game is very far from lost.	1460
AL-HAFI	That I am not to blame.		NATHAN	That must have been a lucky find for you!
NATHAN	God knows I'm not to blame. The things I've said, The lies I've told about you to prevent it! To prevent what? What is true?		AL-HAFI	All that he had to do was to move the king Behind the pawn, and out of check. If I
AL-HAFI	That you Have now become his treasurer. I pity	1430	NATHAN	Could only show you!  I believe you.	1465
·	You. But I won't stay to watch. I'm off. I leave within the hour. You know where to Already, and you know the road. So if	1495	AL-HAFI	Then the rook was free to move – and she Was lost. I wanted to explain it to him. I called him. Guess what?
	You have some errands for me on the way, Just say; I'm at your service. But I can't Take more goods than a naked man can carry. I'm going, so be quick.	1435	NATHAN AL-HAFI	And he disagreed? He wouldn't even listen, but with scorn He turned the whole game over.
NATHAN	Al-Hafi, wait.		NATHAN	How could he?	1470
	Remember I know nothing of all of this. What are you going on about?		AL-HAFI	He said he wanted to be checkmate anyway. He wanted to! You call that playing chess?
AL-HAFI	You'll take	1440	NATHAN	No, playing with the game.
NATHAN	The bag along with you?  The bag?		AL-HAFI	And it was worth A pretty penny.
AL-HAFI	The gold. You are supposed to lend to Saladin.		NATHAN	Money, money, money! That's the least of it. But to refuse	1475
NATHAN	And is that all?		)	To listen to Al-Hafi, and to shut
AL-HAFI	Do you expect me to Stand by and simply watch how, day by day, He bleeds you white? Do you expect me to Stand by while his extravagance just borrows, Borrows, borrows from the stores of your Wise charity, which never failed before, Until the poor mice born in them are starving?	1445	AL-HAFI	His ears to you on such a weighty point, Not to appreciate your eagle eye: That cries aloud for vengence, does it not? Now, now, I'm only telling you all this So you can see what sort of head he has. In short, I cannot stand him any longer. So I've been chasing all the Moorish sharks And asking who will make a loan to him.	1480

	I, who've never begged a penny for Myself, must borrow for another. Borrowing Is much the same as begging, just as lending For the interest is much the same	1485
	As stealing. With my Ghebers <sup>54</sup> on the Ganges I don't need either, and I need not be The tool of either. On the Ganges, on The Ganges, only there are human beings.	1490
	You alone, of all those here, are worthy To live beside the Ganges. Will you come With me? Leave all your trash to him and let Him deal with it. He'll get it from you Anyway by degrees. This way you'll lose Your burden all at once. I'll get a delk <sup>55</sup> For you. Come on!	1495
NATHAN	I think we'll always have This choice, Al-Hafi, but I want to think It over. Wait	1500
AL-HAFI	What? Think about it? No thought is needed for a thing like this.
NATHAN	But only till I get back from the Sultan; Until I've said goodbye
AL-HAFI	Whoever thinks About it seeks excuses not to act. If he can't instantly decide to live Just for himself, he'll always be a slave To others. As you wish. Farewell. Just as You like. I'll go my way, you go yours.	1505
NATHAN	Al-Hafi! You will put your own affairs In order first?	1510
AL-HAFI	Oh nonsense! Any cash That's left is hardly worth the counting. My Accounts are guaranteed by you or Sittah. Farewell! (Exit)
NATHAN	(looking after him) I'll guarantee them. Wild, good, noble – How can I describe him? In the end, A real beggar is the only real king! (Exit the other side.)	1515

<sup>54</sup> Ghebers - Persian name for followers of Zoroaster, also called Parsees (see Act II, Sc.2).

Act III

Scome	1
SCETTE	•

Recha and Daja
Scene: (in Nathan's house)

30	cene: (in Ivainan's nouse)
RECHA	What was it, Daja, that my father said To us? "You can expect him any moment". Don't you think that sounds as if he will Arrive here very soon? How many moments Have already passed! – But then, why think Of vanished moments? All I want now is To live each passing moment as it comes. At last will come the one which brings him here.	1520
DAJA	Curse that message from the Sultan! If It weren't for that I'm sure that Nathan would Have brought him right away.	1525
RECHA	And when this moment Comes at last, and when it brings with it Fulfilment of the warmest and the deepest Of my wishes – what then? What then?
DAJA	What then? Then I hope the warmest of my wishes Will achieve fulfilment too.	1530
RECHA	But then what will Replace this wish within my heart? It has Forgotten how to feel unless it has One overpowering wish. Will there be – nothing? Oh, it frightens me!	1535
DAJA	Then my own wish Will take the place of yours, once yours is satisfied – My wish to know that you will be in Europe In the care of people worthy of you.
RECHA	How wrong you are! The very reason which Creates this wish in you prevents it ever Being mine. You feel the pull of your Own homeland. Should not my land hold me here? Why should a vision of your people, which	1540
	Has not yet faded from your mind, have greater Influence than people I can see, Touch, hear – my people?	1545
DAJA	Pointless to resist. The ways of Heaven are the ways of Heaven. And suppose your Templar were to be bb delk - the Arabian name for the dervish dress.

71

1590

1595

1600

1605

1610

1615

1620/1

It's just that Templars sometimes have to act

Retrieve things out of fire or out of water.

Oh Daja, Daja! Just because at moments

TEMPLAR

Like this. Like rather well-trained dogs they must

(who has been watching her in uneasy astonishment)

For their sufferings? It's true, I did not

Matthew 13:24. 'The Kingdom of Heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field.'

Nathan the Wise

		E
DAJA	Of distress and bitterness my temper May have given you offence, why did you pass on Every stupid word that I let slip? Daja, your revenge on me was too severe! I hope that from now on you'll represent Me to her better.  But I think, sir, if I'm right, that all these little stings which pricked Her heart will not have done you any harm At all.	1625 1630	RECHA	No, no, not that. Wherever Moses stood, he stood before God. I know that well enough already. And I only wanted you to tell me whether It is true that climbing up that mountain Is far less difficult than climbing down? You see, whenever I have tried to climb A mountain, it was just the opposite. Well, Sir? – What? – You turn away, and will not Look at me?
RECHA	What? You were in distress? So then		TEMPLAR	Because I want to hear you.
	You were more miserly with your distress		RECHA	Just because you don't want me to see you
TEMPLAR	Than with your life.  My good, sweet child! –  How much my soul is torn between my eyes  And ears! – You can't have been the girl, no, no,	1635		Smile at my naiveté. You smile Because I cannot find a more important Thing to ask about this holiest Of mountains? Am I right?
	It cannot have been you I rescued from The fire. For how could anyone who knew you Not have saved you from the fire? Who would Have waited for me? – Yet – fear changes things. (Pause while he seems lost in thought, looking at her)	1640	TEMPLAR	In that case I Must look again into your eyes. But what Is this? Now you look down, and hide your smile From me? When I'm only trying to read In your expression, which is so ambiguous,
RECHA	And yet I find that you are still the same – (Pause, until she goes on, to stop him looking at her) Now, Sir, perhaps you'll tell us where you've been			What I can hear so clearly, what is audible In what you say or don't say, – Recha, Recha! How right he was to say – "Just get to know her".
	So long? And I might also dare to ask – Where are you now?		RECHA	Who was right? Who said that to you?
TEMPLAR	I am – where I perhaps		TEMPLAR	"Get To know her first", your father said to me,
12002	Should not be.		7	About you.
RECHA	Where were you before? Perhaps Again where you should not have been? That is	1645	DAJA	Isn't that what I said too?  Exactly what I said?
TEMPLAR	Not good.  On – on – what is the mountain called? On Sinai.		TEMPLAR	But where is he? Where is your father then? Is he still with The Sultan?
RECHA	On Sinai? – Oh good!		RECHA	I expect so.
	At last I can find out for certain whether It is true.		TEMPLAR	He's still there?
TEMPLAR	What? Whether it is true That you can see there still the place where Moses Stood before God, <sup>57</sup> where –	1650		Oh how could I forget! No, no. He's most Unlikely to be there. He will be waiting For me by the monastery. Of course. That's what we agreed, I think. Forgive me! I shall go and fetch him.
	19:2-3. 'They were come unto the desert of Sinai and I od and the Lord called unto him out of the mountain.'	Moses went	DAJA	That's my job. Stay here, knight. I shall bring him back at once.

up unto God and the Lord called unto him out of the mountain.'

74	Nat	han the Wise	Nathan the	e Wise	75
TEMPLAR	Oh no. He is expecting me to come, Not you. And he might easily – who knows? – He might easily at Saladin's –		RECHA	I won't Say satisfied – no – not by a long way –	1715
	You don't know the Sultan – he might well Get into trouble. So there's danger if I stay, believe me.	1690	DAJA RECHA	Only calmed the burning hunger. Yes, You could say that.
RECHA	Danger? But what danger?		DAJA	But I don't.
TEMPLAR	Danger for me, for you, for him, if I Don't go this minute. (Exit)		RECHA	I shall Always treasure him, more dearly than My life; although my pulse no longer races	1720
Scene 3				When I hear his name, although my heart No longer beats with greater speed and vigour
Recha and	_			When I think of him. But why this chatter?
RECHA	What has happened, Daja? – Why so quickly? What's come over him?			Come, dear Daja, come back to the window Which looks out on to the palms.
DAJA	Why's he rushing off?  Just let him go.	1695	DAJA	Your burning Hunger is not yet entirely stilled.	1725
RECHA	I think it's no bad sign.  A sign? Of what?		RECHA	Now I shall see the palms again, not just The man who walks beneath them.
DAJA	That something's going on inside him. It Is simmering, but it must not boil over.		DAJA	But this coldness May be just the start of a new fever.
RECHA	Leave him. Now it's your turn.  My turn? You		RECHA	What coldness? I'm not cold. Truly I see With no less pleasure what I can see calmly.	1730
DAJA	Are as mysterious as he is.  Soon	1700	Scene 4
DAJA	You will be able to repay him for The unrest which he caused you. But you won't Be too severe, too full of thoughts of vengeance?	2,00	Saladin a (Sce	nd Sittah ne: An audience room in the Sultan's palace)
RECHA	I suppose you know exactly what you mean.		SALADIN	(as he comes in, standing by the door) Bring the Jew in here when he arrives.
DAJA	Have you calmed down so much already. Recha?	1705		He doesn't seem to be in any haste.
RECHA	Yes, I have, I have		SITTAH	Perhaps he was not there, could not be found
DAJA	At least admit To me that you are pleased by his unrest.		SALADIN	At once.  Oh Sister! Sister!
	The calmness which you now enjoy is owed To his unrest.		SITTAH	You behave As if you're ready for a battle.	1735
RECHA	I'm not aware of that. The most I can admit to you is that It does seem very strange to me to find That such a storm within my heart should be So quickly followed by such stillness. Now His whole appearance, and his speech, his tone, Have	1710	SALADIN	One With weapons which I have not learned to use. To play a part, to make someone afraid, Set traps for him, to lead him on thin ice. When could I do that? When ever did I learn to do it? What is it all for?	1740
DAJA	Satisfied you straight away?	\ 		What for? To fish for money! Just for money, To scare a Jew and make him give me money!

76		Nathan the Wise	Nathan the	e Wise	77
	For that I'm to resort to petty tricks, All for the sake of the most trivial Of trifles?	1745	SITTAH	That may be, I'll dance as best I can, And I would rather do it worse than better. Do not underestimate yourself!	1780
SITTAH	Every trifle takes revenge If you despise it, brother.			I know you'll win, if only you're determined. Men like you would so much like to make Us think that your success in life depends
SALADIN	Sad, but true. Suppose this Jew should really be the good And reasonable man described to you By Al-Hafi recently.			Upon your sword, your sword and nothing else. When he goes hunting with the fox, the lion Is ashamed – but of the fox, not of	1785
SITTAH	And if he is?	1750		His cunning.
	There's no need for trickery. The snare		SALADIN	And a woman always likes
	Is for a Jew who's anxious, miserly			To drag men to her level! Leave me now.	1700
	And fearful, not for such a good, wise man.			I think I've learned my lesson well enough.	1790
	He's already ours without the snare.	1755	SITTAH	What? Must I go?
	And there's some pleasure in observing how	1755	SALADIN	Did you intend to stay?
	A man like that can extricate himself.  Whether he can quickly tear the rope		SITTAH	If not to stay – at least where I can see –
	Apart with his audacious strength, or how			Here in the ante-room.
	He will manoeuvre cunningly to wriggle		SALADIN	To eavesdrop there?
	Past the net; this is a pleasure which	1760		Not even that, my sister, if I'm to
•	You'll have in any case.		in the state of th	Succeed. Now go! The curtain rustles; here	1795
SALADIN	That's true. Of course		Į.	He comes! Don't linger there. I shall be watching.
	I'm looking forward to it.			(While she goes through one door, Nathan comes in the ot Saladin has sat down)	her and
SITTAH	So there's nothing else	e		,
	To worry you at all. For if he's just Like all the others, if he's no more than		Scene 5
	A Jew, like any other Jew, you need not	1765	Saladin a	nd Nathan
	Be ashamed of seeming just as he	1100	SALADIN	Come closer, Jew – closer – right up to me.
	Thinks all men are. Besides in his eyes someone	e	SALADIN	Don't be afraid.
	Who appears to be a better man		NATHAN	That's for your enemies!
	Is just an ass, a fool.		SALADIN	You call yourself Nathan?
SALADIN	And so my bad			,
	Behaviour will prevent a bad man thinking	1770	NATHAN	Yes.
	Badly of me?		SALADIN	The wise Nathan?
SITTAH	If you call it bad,		NATHAN	No.
	To use a thing according to its nature.		SALADIN	You may not; but the people do.	1800
SALADIN	You women always make your wily plans Seem better than they are.	:	NATHAN	The people! Possibly.
CITTEATI	What do you mean?		SALADIN	You surely don't
SITTAH	•	1 77 76	र्थे. क्षेत्र क्षेत्र	Believe that I despise the people's voice?  For some time now I've wished to meet the man
SALADIN	But I'm afraid my clumsy hands will break	1775		Whom all the people call the Wise.
	So fine and delicate a scheme. It must Be executed as it was conceived:		NATHAN	And if
	With cunning and dexterity. However		NATHAN	They call him that in mockery? If wise	1805
	THE COMMENTS WAS CONTROL TO THE TOTAL		6   6	They can allin that in mockey, if wise	1003

			,
	Means to the people nothing more than shrewd, And shrewd just means aware of his own interest.		NATHAN	Sultan, I am a Jew.	1840/1
SALADIN	You mean his own true interest, I presume?		SALADIN	And I a Muslim. And
NATHAN	Then the most selfish man would be the shrewdest. Then shrewd and wise would be the same.			The Christian is between us. Of these three Religions only one can be the true one.
SALADIN	I hear You proving what you wish to contradict. Humanity's true interest, which the people Cannot understand, you understand. At least you've tried to understand it. You have reflected on it. That alone Makes a man wise.	1810 1815		A man like you does not remain, where chance Of birth has cast him: if he does, he stays From insight, reason, choice of what is best. So, share with me your insight. Let me hear The reasons which I haven't had the time To ponder for myself. Tell me the choice Determined by these reasons – in the strictest Confidence, you understand – so I	1845 1850
NATHAN	But everybody thinks He's wise.			Can make that choice my own. I see you hesitate. You look me up and down. It may well be
SALADIN	That's quite enough of modesty!  To hear this all the time when what I seek  For is sober reason fills me with disgust.  (He gets up quickly)  Now let's come straight to the point. But, first of all	1820		That no Sultan has ever had this kind Of whim before. And yet it does not seem Unworthy of a Sultan. Do you think? Speak! – or do you want a moment to Collect your thoughts? Very well, you may.  (L'll go and see if Sittal's listening.)	1855 1857/8 1859/60
NATHAN	Be honest with me, Jew! Be honest!  Sultan You can rely on me. I'll serve you, and			(I'll go and see if Sittah's listening And hear if I've done it right.) Now think! Think quickly. And I'll soon be back. (He goes into the ante-room where Sittah went)
G47.4557	Prove worthy of your further patronage.			(120 good that the draw room three delibert wester)
SALADIN	You'll serve me? How?		Scene 6
NATHAN	I promise you the best Of everything, and at the cheapest price.	1825	Nathan (Nat	than alone)
SALADIN	What are you talking about? Surely not About your goods? My sister may well haggle With you sometime. (That's in case she's listening!) I have no business with you as a merchant.		NATHAN	How stran How do I stand? What does the Sultan want? I come expecting money. And he wants The truth. The truth! and wants it so – straight ou
NATHAN	In that case, I expect you want to know What news about the enemy I gathered On my travels. It is true the enemy Is active once again, and to be frank	1830		In cash, – as if it were a coin! If it Were ancient coinage, valued by its weight – That might have passed. But such new kinds of co Valued by their stamp, which you must count	1870
SALADIN	No, that was not my aim in meeting you. I know already everything I need To know of that. – In short –	1835		Out on a board, are not like truth at all. Can truth be counted out into our heads Like money in a sack? Now who's the Jew? —	1875
NATHAN	Command me, Sultan.			He or I? And yet I wonder. Is  He truly searching for the truth at all?
SALADIN	I want your teaching on another subject. Something quite different. Since you are so wise, Tell me, what kind of faith, what kind of law Has seemed most plausible to you?		A Company of the Comp	Should I suspect that he is only using Truth to trap me? That would be too petty. Too petty? Nothing is too petty for A great man. And, of course he rushed right in,	1880

	Like someone bursting through the door. But when You're visiting a friend, you knock and listen First. I must be on my guard. But how? I can't insist that I'm a Jew; but to Deny that I'm a Jew would be still worse. Then he could simply ask, "If not a Jew, Why not a Muslim?" That's it! That can save me! It's not just children who can be fobbed off With fairy tales. He's coming. Let him come!	1885
Scene 7
Saladin a	nd Nathan
SALADIN	(And so the coast is clear) – I hope I've given You enough time for reflection. Have You finished ordering your thoughts? Speak! Not a soul can hear us.
NATHAN	I don't mind If the whole world were to hear us.
SALADIN	Nathan Is so certain of his case? That's what I call A wise man! One who never hides the truth. A man who, for its sake, will gamble everything His blood and land, life and limb.	1895
NATHAN	Yes, if it's needed and of use.
SALADIN	I hope I may in future earn the right to bear One of my titles: "The Reformer of the World And of the Law."	1900
NATHAN	A truly splendid title! But before I tell you all my thoughts, Sultan, would you allow me to relate A little tale?	1905
SALADIN	Why not? I've always loved To listen to a story, if it is Well told.
NATHAN	I must confess I'm not the man To tell it very well.
SALADIN	Your pride and modesty Again! Go on, just tell the story, now.	1910
NATHAN	Once long ago, a man lived in the East Who had a ring of priceless worth, a gift

	From someone dear to him. The stone was opal, Shot through with a hundred lovely colours. The ring had secret power to gain favour <sup>58</sup> In the sight of God and humankind <sup>59</sup> For anyone who wore it and who trusted	1915
	In its power. No wonder that the man Would never take it from his finger; and He made provision that the ring should stay Forever in his dynasty. And so He left it to the dearest of his sons,	1920
	With firm instructions that he, in his turn, Should leave it to the son he loved the most. In this way, by the power of the ring, Without respect of birth, the dearest son Should always be the master of the house. You understand me, Sultan?	1925
SALADIN	Yes, go on!
NATHAN	And so the ring passed down from son to son, Until it reached a father of three sons. All three alike were dutiful to him. And he was therefore bound to love all three	1930
	Sons equally. And yet, from time to time, When each in turn was with him on his own, And did not have to share his overflowing heart With his two brothers, then the one who stood Before him seemed most worthy of the ring.	1935
	And thus by loving weakness he was led To promise it to each of them in turn. So matters rested for a while, until The father's death drew near; and then the worthy Man was in a quandary. He could	1940
	Not bear to hurt two of his sons, who'd trusted In his word. So what was he to do? He sent in secret for a craftsman who Was ordered to devise two further rings, Exactly on the pattern of his own,	1945
	Whatever cost or effort was required, To make each ring precisely like the first. The craftsman did well. When he brought the rings	1950

 $<sup>^{58}</sup>$  Luke 2:52. 'And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favour with God and man.'

&lt;sup>59</sup> (and I Samuel 2:26).

	The father was unable to distinguish The original. With joyful heart		SALADIN	(Upon my life! The man is right. I must be silent.)
	He called his sons, but each one on his own.  To each he gave his blessing and his ring.  And then he died. – You hear me, Sultan?		NATHAN	Let us now come back To our three rings. I said before: the sons Accused each other, each swore to the judge
SALADIN	(turns away disconcerted)  I hear! – Just finish off your fairy tale. I hope you're near the end.	1955		He had received his ring directly from His father's hand – and it was true. – And he'd Been promised by his father long ago	1995
NATHAN	That is the end.  It's obvious what follows. Scarcely had  The father died, than each comes with his ring,  And each one claims to be the master of	1960		That one day he would have the privileges Of the ring – and that was also true, The father, each declared, could not have been So false to him; and rather than allow	2000
	The house. There are enquiries, arguments, Complaints. In vain. There was no way to prove Which ring was true. (After a pause in which he waits for the Sultan's answer) Almost as hard as now	2000	A Theorem and the state of the	Suspicion of deceit to fall on his Beloved father; he preferred to charge His brothers with deceit, although he would In general believe only the best Of them; and vowed that he would find a way	2005
	For us to prove the one true faith.			To expose the traitors and to take revenge.
SALADIN	Is this To be the answer to my question?		SALADIN	And what about the judge? I want to hear What you will make him say to this. Go on!
NATHAN	I Apologize – I cannot trust myself To tell the difference between the rings,	1965	NATHAN	The judge pronounced: Unless you bring your father Here to me at once, I shall dismiss you From my court. Do you think that I am here	2010
	Because the father had them made precisely So that no one could distinguish them.			For solving riddles? Or do you expect For the one true ring to speak up for itself? But wait! You tell me that the true ring has	2015
SALADIN	The rings! – Don't play with me! I should have thoug That the religions which I named to you Were easy to distinguish. Even by Their clothing; even down to food and drink.	ht 1970		The magic power to make beloved; to Gain favour in the sight of God and humankind. That must decide it! For the false rings cannot Have this power. Which brother do two
NATHAN	But not the grounds on which they rest.  For are they not all based on history,	1975		Of you love most? Come on, speak up! You're silent? Do the rings work only inwards and Not outwards? So that each one only loves	2020
	Handed down or written? History We take on trust, on faith. Is that not true? In whose good faith can we most put our trust? Our people's, those whose blood we share, and who,	1977/8 1980		Himself the best? All three of you are then Deceived deceivers; none of your Three rings is genuine. The one true ring	2025
	From childhood on have proved their love for us, Who never have deceived us, save, perhaps, When it was good for us to be deceived?			Has probably been lost. To hide the loss, As substitute, your father had three rings Made to replace the one.
	Can I believe less in my ancestors Than you believe in yours? Or vice versa,	1985	SALADIN	Splendid! Splendid!
	Can I demand of you that you accuse Your own forebear of lies, just so that I	1300	NATHAN	And so the judge went on, if you do not Want my advice instead of judgement, go!	2030
	Don't contradict my own? – or vice versa.  The same is true of Christians, isn't it?	$\frac{1988/9}{1990}$		But my advice is this: accept the case Precisely as it stands. As each of you į.
				!

	Received his own ring from his father's hand,		SALADIN	Do you need
	Let each believe for certain that his ring	0001		A chance to ask a favour of me? Speak!	2065
	Is the original. Perhaps the father Did not want to suffer any more The tyranny of one ring in his house. Certainly he loved all three of you, And loved you equally. He could not injure Two of you and favour only one. Well then! Let each one strive to emulate His love, unbiased and unprejudiced. Let each one of you vie with the other two	2035 2040	NATHAN	I've come from a long journey during which I was collecting debts. And now I find I've almost too much ready money. Times Are once again becoming troubled, and, I do not know where I can put it safely. So I thought that you might possibly, — Because one needs more money when a war Is near — that you could use some of it.	2070
	To bring to light the power of the stone In his own ring. And may this power be helped By gentleness, sincere good nature, Charity and deepest of devotion to God. And when in time, the power of the stone	2045	SALADIN	(looking him straight in the eyes)  I won't ask you if you've just had a visit From Al-Hafi. And I won't enquire If some suspicion leads you to propose This offer of your own accord.	2075
	Shall find expression in your children's children's	9050	NATHAN	Suspicion?
	Children, I invite you in a thousand, Thousand years to come again before This court. A wiser man than I will then Sit in this chair and speak. Now go! – so said	2050	SALADIN	I deserve that. Please forgive me. What's The use? I must admit to you – that I Was just about to
	The modest judge.		NATHAN	Surely not to ask	2080
SALADIN	God! God!			This very thing?
NATHAN	Saladin,	:	SALADIN	Indeed I was.
	If you should feel yourself to be this promised, Wiser man	2055	NATHAN	So that Would help us both! – But I must tell you that I cannot send you all my ready cash
SALADIN	(who rushes to him and seizes his hand and does not let go a until the end)  I who am no more than dust?  Than nothing? God!	gain		Because of the Knight Templar. This young man Is known to you, I'm sure. My debt to him Is great, and I must pay it first.	2085
NATHAN	What is it Saladin?		SALADIN	A Templar?
SALADIN	Nathan, my dear Nathan! The thousand, Thousands years of your wise judge have not			Surely you don't think of giving money To support my deadliest enemies?
	Yet passed. His judgement seat is not the one On which I sit. Go! – Go! – But be my friend.	2060	NATHAN	I'm speaking only of this one, whose life You spared.
NATHAN	And is there nothing more that Saladin Would say to me?		SALADIN	Ah, what do you remind me of? For I had quite forgotten this young man	2090
SALADIN	Nothing.			You know him? Tell me, where is he?
NATHAN	Nothing?		NATHAN	You mean
SALADIN	Nothing At all. Why do you ask?		dipononini una Po	You're unaware how much the mercy which You granted him has flowed through him to me? He risked his life, which you had newly spared,	2095
NATHAN	I'd like the chance			In rescuing my daughter from a fire.	4033
	To ask a favour of you.	·
			EV.

60	Jewish	and	Islamic,	not	Christian,	ritual.
----	--------	-----	----------	-----	------------	---------

When we are dead, it would be death there too. If this is love, then certainly a Templar 2130 Is in love, and certainly a Christian Loves a Jewish girl. What of it? In The promised land<sup>61</sup> - so full of promise now For me! – I've cast off many prejudices. What can my Order want of me? As Templar 2135 I am dead, and have been from the moment That I became the Sultan's prisoner. And could this head, a gift from Saladin, Still be my old one? No, this head is new, Quite ignorant of all the old one heard 2140 The bonds which held me. And this one is better, Far more suited to my father's native skies. That I can sense. For only with this head Do I begin to think the way my father Must have thought when he was here - unless 2145 I've been deceived by fairy tales about him. Fairy tales? Perhaps. But credible, And never more so than they seem now, when I am at risk of stumbling where he fell. Fell? I would rather fall with men, than stand 2150 With children. His example makes me sure Of his approval. Whose approval do I need apart from his? Nathan's? I need Encouragement from him more than approval. I cannot do without it. What a Jew! -2155 And yet content to seem a Jew and nothing Else. But here he comes in haste, his face Aglow with joy, like everyone who comes From Saladin. Hey Nathan!

Scene 9

Nathan and the Templar

NATHAN Ah, it's you!

TEMPLAR You stayed a very long time with the Sultan.

NATHAN Not really very long. I was delayed Before I went. I must say, Curd, the man Deserves his fame. His fame is just his shadow.

Exodus III 8. And I am come down to deliver them out of the land of the Egyptian and to bring them up out of that land unto a good land and a large, unto a land flowing with milk and honey.

But he wants me first of all to tell you Quickly  TEMPLAR What?  NATHAN He wants to speak to you, And you're to go to him without delay. But first come home with me, where I must Deal with some other business for him, And then we'll go!  TEMPLAR Nathan, I cannot set foot In your house again until	2165	TEMPLAR I surprise you? I surprise you, Nathan, With your own thoughts? – But you don't mistake them When I put them into words myself? I surprise you?  NATHAN I don't even know	2190 2195
NATHAN  Have been there in the meantime? And You've spoken to her? – Well then? Tell me, how Does Recha please you?  TEMPLAR  More than I can say!	2170	NATHAN You see, I knew A man called Stauffen long ago myself. His name was Conrad.  TEMPLAR Well – and what if my Own father's name was also Conrad?	2200
And yet, to see her once again – No, never! Never! Not until you promise, here And now, that I can see her always, and For ever.	2175	NATHAN Really?  TEMPLAR I was named after my father. Curd  Is Conrad.
NATHAN How do you expect me to Interpret that?  TEMPLAR (after a short pause suddenly embraces him)  My father!  NATHAN But young man!		NATHAN But my Conrad cannot be Your father. For my Conrad was, like you, A Templar Knight, and he was never married.  TEMPLAR Even so.  NATHAN What!	2205
TEMPLAR (just as suddenly stepping back) Not son? I beg you, Nathan  NATHAN Dear young man!		TEMPLAR Even so he could Have been my father.  NATHAN This must be a joke!
TEMPLAR Not son? - but, Nathan, - I implore you, I  Beseech you by the earliest bonds of nature! -  Do not be more swayed by later ties -  Just be content with being human Don't  Push me away.	2180	TEMPLAR And you are taking it too seriously. So what? A bastard, illegitimate! That's nothing to despise. But kindly spare me Any more research into my ancestry. And in return I'll leave yours well alone.	2210
NATHAN My dear, dear friend  TEMPLAR And son?  Not son? Would you not even call me son If in your daughter's heart her gratitude Had already prepared the way to love?	2185	It's not as if I have the slightest doubt Of your ancestral tree. No, God forbid!	221 5
Not even then, if both were just awaiting Your signal to be melted into one? You say nothing?		I yet refused you anything? It's just	2220

With pleasure. - If I knew

2250

Trust you with mine.

Begin.

What you suppose my secret is. But I Expect that will be clear from yours. So you

TEMPLAR

DAJA	You think so? No, sir knight; first you, Then I shall follow. I assure you that My secret won't be any use at all To you if I don't have yours first. Come on! For if I find it out by asking you, You'll not have told me anything. And then My secret stays my secret, while you've let Yours out. Poor knight! How can you men believe That you can keep a secret of this nature From us women!	2255 2260
TEMPLAR	One that we don't know We have ourselves.
DAJA	That may be so. In that case I must prove my friendship to you and Enlighten you about it. Tell me, sir, What was the reason that you rushed away	2265
	From us so suddenly? Why did you leave Us sitting there? Why didn't you come back With Nathan? Did our Recha make so little Mark on you? Or was it all too much?	4403
	Too much! Too much! Now tell me all about The little bird, stuck on the lime twig, fluttering! In short; confess to me, that you're in love, That you're in love with her – madly in love. And I'll tell you something	2270
TEMPLAR	Madly? Yes, You understand it very well.
DAJA	Then just Admit the love to me; and I'll forget The madness.	2275
TEMPLAR	But the madness is quite plain – A Templar Knight should love a Jewish girl!
DAJA	There doesn't seem much sense in it, that's true. – Yet sometimes there is more of sense in things Than we suppose; and after all it would Not be so strange if Christ our Saviour drew Us to himself on paths that prudent men, Left to themselves, would hesitate to take.	2280
TEMPLAR	So solemn? (And if I put 'Providence' Instead of Christ, is she not right?) – You make Me much more curious than I am used To being.	2285

DAJA Oh, this is the land of miracles!  TEMPLAR (At least of the miraculous. And how Could it be otherwise, when, after all, The whole world crowds together here.) Dear Daja, I confess to you the thing you ask: That I love her, that I can't imagine How I'll live without her, and that I  DAJA Vor'e sure, quite sure? Then swear to me that you Will make her yours, to save her In this world and in eternity.  TEMPLAR And how? — How can I? — Can I swear what does Not lie within my power?  DAJA But it does Lie in your power. I shall put it in Your power with a single word.  TEMPLAR He will have to do so.  TEMPLAR He will have to do so.  TEMPLAR But he's not yet fallen among thieves — He must on kaw to.  TEMPLAR And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in hin?  DAJA What? Did he not agree?  TEMPLAR He did, but with a dissonance which was Offensive to me.  DAJA Are you telling me That when you telling me That when you tell him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for Joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR Yes, something like that.	92	Natha	n the Wise	Nathan the	Wise	93
TEMPLAR  Alt least of the miraculous. And how Could it be otherwise, when, after all. The whole world crowds together here.) Dear Daja, 1 confest to you the thing you ask: That I love her, that I can it imagine How I'll live without her, and that I  DAJA  You're sure, quite sure? Then swear to me that you Will make her yours, to save her - yes to save her In this world and in eternity.  TEMPLAR Alt how? H live without her, and that I  TEMPLAR  But it does Lie in your power. I shall put it in Your power with a single word.  TEMPLAR  Her father will agree to it?  TEMPLAR  He will have to do so.  TEMPLAR  But he's not yet fallen among thieves - He must not have to.  DAJA  Must be glad to in the end.  TEMPLAR  And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that 1 have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA  Are you telling me That when you let him glimpac the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Yes, something like that.	DAJA	Oh, this is the land of miracles!		TEMPLAR	You're still hesitating.
How I'll live without her, and that I  DAJA You're sure, quite sure? Then swear to me that you will make her yours, to save her —yes to save her In this world and in eternity.  TEMPLAR And how? — How can I? — Can I swear what does Not lie within my power?  DAJA But it does Lie in your power I shall put it in Your power with a single word.  TEMPLAR Her father will agree to it?  DAJA That spurs Me on instead of stopping me. Well, then, Recha is no Jew; she is — a Christian.  TEMPLAR He will have to do so.  TEMPLAR But he's not yet fallen among thieves — He must not have to.  DAJA Well, then he must want to. Must be glad to in the end.  TEMPLAR And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA What? Did he not agree?  TEMPLAR Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR Yes, something like that.  DAJA Are you telling me Tamplar Kingling that.  DAJA Yes, something like that.  DAJA You have something to conceal.  DAJA What? Dade in internity. But if in What you have something to conceal.  DAJA Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR Yes, something like that.	_	Could it be otherwise, when, after all, The whole world crowds together here.) Dear Daja, I confess to you the thing you ask:	2290	DAJA	Otherwise. And I owe him so much. But the fact is that he will not listen.	2320
Will make her yours, to save her — yes to save her — In this world and in eternity.  TEMPLAR And how? — How can I? — Can I swear what does Not lie within my power?  DAJA But it does Lie in your power. I shall put it in Your power with a single word.  TEMPLAR Her father will agree to it?  DAJA Her father will agree to it?  Have to, Daja? But he's not yet fallen among thieves — He must not have to.  DAJA  Must be glad to in the end.  TEMPLAR And gladiy? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA  What? Did he not agree?  TEMPLAR  And you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Yes, something like that.  What you are planning good of evil, shameful Or laudable, say nothing. I'll forget That you have something to conceal.  DAJA  Who on instead of stopping me. Well, then, Recha is no Jew; she is — a Christian.  TEMPLAR  We on instead of stopping me. Well, then, Recha is no Jew; she is — a Christian.  TEMPLAR  Who on instead of stopping me. Well, then, Recha is no Jew; she is — a Christian.  TEMPLAR  We on instead of stopping me. Well, then, Recha is no Jew; she is — a Christian.  TEMPLAR  What Poun are planning good of evil, shameful Or laudable, say nothing. I'll forget  That you have something to conceal.  TEMPLAR  Me on instead of stopping me. Well, then, Recha is no Jew; she is — a Christian.  TEMPLAR  What? Don't let the birth pangs daunt you. Keep on Propagating heaven's population  If you can't achieve the same on earth.  DAJA  What? Does my news deserve this ridicule?  That Recha is no Jew; she is — a Christian.  TEMPLAR  What? Does my news deserve this ridicule?  That Recha is no Jew; she is — a Christian.  TEMPLAR  What? Does my news deserve this new for hor achieve the same on earth.  DAJA  TEMPLAR  Above all since  She is a Christian clustoned.  I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined l		That I love her, that I can't imagine  How I'll live without her, and that I		TEMPLAR
TEMPLAR And how? — How can !? — Can I swear what does Not lie within my power?  But it does Lie in your power. I shall put it in Your power with a single word.  TEMPLAR TEMPLAR Her father will agree to it?  TEMPLAR Have to, Daja? But he's not yet fallen among thieves — He must not have to.  DAJA  Well, then he must want to. Must be glad to in the end.  TEMPLAR And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA  TEMPLAR  Are you telling me That when you leth im glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Vot I is in your power. I shall put it in you mean You mean You mean Her father will agree to it?  TEMPLAR  What? Don't let the birth pangs daunt you. Keep on Propagating heaven's population If you can't achieve the same on earth.  DAJA  What? Does my news deserve this ridicule? That Recha is a Christian causes you, A Christian, and a Templar Knight who loves Her, no more joy than that?  TEMPLAR  Ahove all since She is a Christian of your own creation.  DAJA  Ah! So that is what you thought I meant! I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR  TEMPLAR  Are you telling me That when you leth im glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Yes, something like that.  DAJA  Not her father:  TEMPLAR  Not her father? Do You know what you are saying?  DAJA  Which here so often exit well, then, Recha is no Jew; she is a Christian.  TEMPLAR  (coldly)  So? Congratulations! Was the labour Hard? Don't let the birth pangs daunt you. Keep on Propagating heaven's population If you can't achieve the same on earth.  DAJA  Ahl So that is what you thought I meant! I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR  Not her	DAJA	Will make her yours, to save her – yes to save her	2295		You are still doubtful whether you should call What you are planning good or evil, shameful Or laudable, say nothing. I'll forget	2325
Lie in your power. I shall put it in Your power with a single word.  TEMPLAR Her father will agree to it?  DAJA  THE father will agree to it?  TEMPLAR He will have to do so.  TEMPLAR But he's not yet fallen among thieves—He must not have to.  Must be glad to in the end.  TEMPLAR And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA  TEMPLAR  DAJA  Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he derw back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Vou mean  You mean  You mean  You mean  Her father will agree to it?  DAJA  What? Does my news deserve this ridicule?  That Recha is a Christian causes you, A Christian, and a Templar Knight who loves Her, no more joy than that?  TEMPLAR  Ah! So that is what you thought I meant!  I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR  Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Yes, something like that.  TEMPLAR  Yes, something like that.	TEMPLAR			DAJA	That spurs
TEMPLAR TO use an another with a single word.  TEMPLAR The father will agree to it?  DAJA The father! He will have to do so.  TEMPLAR But he's not yet fallen among thieves – He must not have to.  DAJA  TEMPLAR And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA  TEMPLAR  DAJA  TEMPLAR  And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA  TEMPLAR  T	DAJA		2300		Recha is no Jew; she is – a Christian.
The father!  He will have to do so.  TEMPLAR  He will have to do so.  Have to, Daja?  But he's not yet fallen among thieves — He must not have to.  DAJA  What? Does my news deserve this ridicule? That Recha is a Christian, and a Templar Knight who loves Her, no more joy than that?  TEMPLAR  Must be glad to in the end.  TEMPLAR  And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA  What? Did he not agree?  TEMPLAR  He did, but with a dissonance which was Offensive to me.  DAJA  Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Yes, something like that.  DAJA  Templar  If you can't achieve the same on earth.  DAJA  What? Does my news deserve this ridicule? That Recha is a Christian causes you, A Christian, and a Templar Knight who loves Her, no more joy than that?  TEMPLAR  TEMPLAR  Above all since She is a Christian of your own creation.  DAJA  Ah! So that is what you thought I meant! I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR  Explain or – go!  DAJA  She is a Christian of your own creation.  DAJA  She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR  Explain or – go!  DAJA  And Nathan?  DAJA  He is  Not her father.  TEMPLAR  Not her father?  Not her father?  DO You know what you are saying?  Just the truth,  Which has so often cost me tever of blood.	TEMPLAR	Your power with a single word. You mean		TEMPLAR	So? Congratulations! Was the labour Hard? Don't let the birth pangs daunt you. Keep on	2330
Have to, Daja? But he's not yet fallen among thieves – He must not have to.  DAJA Well, then he must want to.  Must be glad to in the end.  TEMPLAR And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA What? Did he not agree?  TEMPLAR He did, but with a dissonance which was Offensive to me.  DAJA Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR Yes, something like that.  DAJA Yes, something like that.  DAJA Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR Yes, something like that.	DAJA
DAJA Well, then he must want to.  Must be glad to in the end.  TEMPLAR And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA What? Did he not agree?  TEMPLAR He did, but with a dissonance which was Offensive to me.  DAJA Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR Ves, something like that.  TEMPLAR She is a Christian of your own creation.  DAJA Ah! So that is what you thought I meant! I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR Explain or – go!  DAJA She is a Christian child, of Christian parents, And she was baptised  TEMPLAR (quickly) And Nathan?  DAJA He is Not her father.  TEMPLAR Not her father? Do You know what you are saying?  TEMPLAR See often one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR Explain or – go!  DAJA She is a Christian child, of Christian parents, And she was baptised  TEMPLAR (quickly) And Nathan?  TEMPLAR Not her father.  TEMPLAR Not her father? Do You know what you are saying?	TEMPLAR	Have to, Daja? But he's not yet fallen among thieves –	2305	DĄJA	That Recha is a Christian causes you, A Christian, and a Templar Knight who loves	2335
TEMPLAR And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch This chord in him?  DAJA What? Did he not agree?  TEMPLAR He did, but with a dissonance which was Offensive to me.  DAJA Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Yes, something like that.  DAJA Ah! So that is what you thought I meant! I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR  TEMPLAR  TEMPLAR  Ah! So that is what you thought I meant! I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be What she could not become.  TEMPLAR  TEMPLAR  TEMPLAR  And She is a Christian child, of Christian parents, And she was baptised  TEMPLAR  TEMPLAR  Not her father?  Not her father? Do You know what you are saying?  TEMPLAR  Not her father? Do You know what you are saying?  Just the truth, Which has so often cost me tears of blood.	DAJA	Well, then he must want to.		TEMPLAR	Above all since
TEMPLAR He did, but with a dissonance which was Offensive to me.  DAJA Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR (quickly) And Nathan?  DAJA He is Not her father.  2315  TEMPLAR Not her father? Do You know what you are saying?  TEMPLAR Yes, something like that.	TEMPLAR	He must? And gladly? Daja, if I tell you that I have already tried myself to touch		DAJA	I'd like to see the one who could convert Her! She was destined long ago to be	2340
TEMPLAR He did, but with a dissonance which was Offensive to me.  DAJA Are you telling me That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR (quickly) And Nathan?  DAJA He is Not her father.  TEMPLAR Not her father? Do You know what you are saying?  DAJA Just the truth, Which has so often cost me tears of blood	DAJA	What? Did he not agree?		TEMPLAR	Explain or – go!
That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not Leap up for joy? But that he drew back Frostily? And that he began to make Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Templar  That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Not her father.  Templar  Not her father? Do You know what you are saying?  DAJA  Just the truth, Which has so often cost me tears of blood	_		2310	DAJA
Frostily? And that he began to make  Difficulties?  TEMPLAR  Yes, something like that.  Templar  You know what you are saying?  DAJA  Just the truth,  Which has so often cost me tears of blood.	DAJA	That when you let him glimpse the slightest hint Of your wish for Recha, he did not		1	He is
TEMPLAR Yes, something like that.  DAJA  Under the truth,  Which has so often cost me tears of blood		Frostily? And that he began to make	2315	TEMPLAR		2345
DAJA Then I'll not hesitate a moment longer - No, he is not her father		Tr		DAJA	Just the truth, Which has so often cost me tears of blood.

No, he is not her father ...

Then I'll not hesitate a moment longer -

(Pause)

2380
2385 oking 2390
2395
ight 2400
2405 our 2410 ome
וכ

TEMPLAR	I've simply come to ask the Patriarch's Advice about a matter.	2415 2419/20
LAY BROTHER	You? To ask The Patriarch? A knight has come to ask A priest? (Looking round nervously)
TEMPLAR	Yes, it's a rather priestly matter.
LAY BROTHER	Yet a priest would never ask a knight's Advice, however much it was a matter For a knight.	2425
TEMPLAR	But that's because the priest Enjoys the privilege of doing wrong, Which those like me do not much envy him. Of course, if I were only acting for Myself, and if I were accountable To no-one but myself, what need would I have Of your Patriarch? In certain things I'd rather do what's wrong, according to The will of others, than what's right according To my own. Besides, I see now that Religion too is partisan; however Impartial anyone may think himself, Unconsciously he's bound to stand up for His own cause. Since that's how things are, perhap That's how they should be.
LAY BROTHER	Sir, I couldn't say. I do not really understand you.	2440
TEMPLAR	Yet –	2440
	(Let me consider what I really want: To be commanded or advised? Advised By honesty or learning?) Thank you, brother Thank you for your hint. – Why ask the Patriarch? You be my Patriarch! Indeed I want To ask the Christian in the Patriarch More than the Patriarch in the Christian. My question is	2445

No more, sir, please no more! LAY BROTHER It's pointless. – You mistake me, sir – The man Who knows a lot has many cares, and I Have pledged myself to but a single care.62 Good! Listen! Look! He's here, and I'm in luck. Stay here. He has already noticed you.

Scene 2

The Patriarch who enters with all the pomp of a religious procession, the Lay Brother, and the Templar

TEMPLAR I wish I could avoid him. This is not

My man. A rosy, fat and amicable 2455

Prelate! And what pomp!

LAY BROTHER And you should see him

Setting out for court. Now he has only Come back from visiting the sick.

TEMPLAR He must

Put Saladin himself to shame!

(coming closer, beckons to the Lay Brother) PATRIARCH

Come here!

That is the Templar, isn't it? What does 2460

He want?

LAY BROTHER I do not know.

PATRIARCH (going up to the Templar, while his followers and the Lay Brother draw back)

Well now, sir knight!

I'm very pleased to see a fine young man. So very young! Now, with the help of God

Something may come of this.

TEMPLAR But hardly more,

> Your Reverence, than is already there, 2465

And maybe rather less.

I wish at least PATRIARCH

That such a pious knight may bloom and flourish

For beloved Christianity,

The honour and the service of God's cause!

And that can hardly fail, if youthful courage

Is prepared to follow the mature

Advice of age. How else, sir, may I be

Of service to you?

As a Lay Brother he had made a vow only of obedience.

		1	ıvatnan ine vvi	rse -	22
98	Nathan t	he Wise
		1	TEMPLAR	I should
TEMPLAR	With the very thing In which my youth is lacking: with advice.			Have thought that, to obtain your Reverence's View, it would all be the same.	2515
PATRIARCH	Most gladly. But advice must be accepted.	2475	PATRIARCH	The same?
TEMPLAR	Yet not blindly?			You see, Sir, how the pride of human reason
PATRIARCH	Who says that? Of course			Can err in spiritual things. – Quite wrong!
PATRIARCH	No one must neglect to use the reason			For if the case which you have just described Is just an intellectual game, it does	2520
	Given him by God – wherever it			Not merit serious consideration.	2340
	Is fitting – but is reason always fitting?	0.400		I would refer you to the theatre 68 with
	Not at all! For instance, when God, acting	2480		It, sir, where pros and cons of such a kind
	Through one of his angels – that's to say,			Might be debated and could win there great
	Through any servant of his word – is pleased To show to us a means by which we may			Applause. But if you have not simply mocked	2525
	Advance the welfare of all Christendom,			Me, sir, with a dramatic jest, and if
	And help the church's cause in some specific	2485		The case is really factual, if it Is even possible it has occurred
•	Way, and strengthen it – who then should dare			Within our diocese, our own dear city
	To use his reason to examine the			Of Jerusalem – well then –
	Authority of him who first created		TEMPLAR	What then?	2530
	Reason? And to scrutinise the eternal	2490		Why, then the Jew would swiftly undergo	.,
	Law of Heaven's majesty, according  To the petty rules of futile honour?	2100	PATRIARCH	The penalty laid down by papal and
	But enough of this. What is the question,			Imperial law for such a sacrilege,
	Sir, about which you are seeking our			For such a wicked crime.
	Advice?		TEMPLAR	Indeed?
TEMPLAR	Suppose, most venerable father,	0.405	PATRIARCH	It is
	That there were a Jew who had a child,	2495		A fact that the aforesaid laws lay down	2535
	An only child, let's say a girl, and brought her up With utmost care and goodness; whom he loved			That any Jew who leads astray a Christian
	More than his soul, and who in turn loved him			To apostasy <sup>64</sup> – shall burn to death –
	With most devoted love. And then it was			Burn at the stake –
	Revealed to one of us that this young girl	2500	TEMPLAR	Indeed?
	Was not the daughter of the Jew. He may		PATRIARCH	And how much more
	Have come across her as a child, he may			A Jew who snatched a helpless Christian child	0540
	Have bought her, stolen her, or what you will. And it is known that she's a Christian child			By force from its baptismal ties. For is  Not everything that's done to children, force –	2540
	Who was baptised; the Jew has only brought her up	2505		Excepting what the Church itself may do
	To be a Jew, and has allowed her to			To children.
	Remain a Jew as his own daughter; tell		TEMPLAR	But suppose the child might well
	Me, venerable father, in this case,			Have died in misery, if she had not
	What should be done?			Been rescued by the Jew.
	Lam appalled Rut first		■6

I am appalled. But first

Of all, sir, tell me whether such a case

Nothing more, or did it really happen

That is to say – is this your own invention,

Is actual fact or mere hypothesis?

And is still continuing?

PATRIARCH

A deliberate anachronism on Lessing's part.

Apostasy – renunciation of the Christian faith.

PATRIARCH	It makes no difference. The Jew shall burn. For it is better that The child should die in misery than that It should be damned eternally by being	2545	TEMPLAR	I Regret that I cannot enjoy this splendid Sermon at my leisure. But I have 2585 Been called to Saladin.
	Saved in such a way. Besides, how can The Jew anticipate the will of God? Our God saves whom he will, without his help.	2550	PATRIARCH TEMPLAR	To Saladin? Yes? – Well – of course – then – I will ensure the Sultan is prepared
TEMPLAR	But surely God can save, in spite of him.		IEMPLAR	For this, if that's your Reverence's wish.
PATRIARCH TEMPLAR	No difference! The Jew shall burn.  But that		PATRIARCH	Ah, yes! – I know you have found favour, sir, With Saladin. I ask you to remember 2590
PATRIARCH	Concerns me, and especially as it Is said he brought the girl up not in his Own faith, but rather in no faith at all, And taught her neither more nor less of God Than reason finds sufficient.  All this makes	2555		Me to him in the very best of terms.  I'm driven wholly by my zeal for God.  And if I go too far, it is for him –  I hope you will bear that in mind, dear sir.  And what you said just now about the Jew  Was nothing more than a debating point?  That is to say –
	No difference! The Jew shall burn. For this alone he should be burnt thrice over. What? Let a child grow up without a faith Of any kind? What? Not to give a child The slightest teaching of its greatest duty, Namely to believe? How wicked! I'm Astonished, sir, that you yourself	2560	TEMPLAR PATRIARCH	Just a debating point. (Exit)  (Which I must thoroughly investigate.  So this will be another task to give  To Brother Bonafides) – Here, my son.  (He talks to the Lay Brother as he goes out)  (I have another errand for you)
TEMPLAR	The rest, Your Reverence, God willing, in confession. (he is about to go)	2565	Scene 3 Saladin and	I Sittah
PATRIARCH	What? You will not tell me now? Not name The Jew, the villain? Not surrender him To me? In that case, I know what to do! I'll go at once to Saladin. The Sultan	2570		a room in Saladin's palace into which a large number of bags are by slaves and being piled up on the floor.) Saladin is joined by Sit- (coming in)
	Must, according to the treaty sworn By him, he must protect us; must protect Us in all laws and in all doctrines which	. •	SLAVE	Well really, there's no end to this. Is there Much more to come?  About as much again.
	We have the right to claim as ours, as part And parcel of our holiest religion! Praise be to God; we have the document, We have his hand and seal. Yes, that we have! And I can make him understand quite easily The danger to the state itself	2575	SALADIN	Then take the rest to Sittah. – And where has Al-Hafi gone? Al-Hafi should be taking All this money straight away – or had I better send it to my father? Here It will just slip straight through my fingers. Yet
	Of not believing anything. All civil Ties are loosened, torn apart if people Are allowed to have no faith at all. Away, away with such an outrage!	2580		One does get hardened in the end; now it Will take some skill to get much out of me. At least till all the gold from Egypt has Arrived, the poor will have to cope as best They can. As long as alms can still be given

	At the sepulchre, and Christian pilgrims Do not have to leave with empty hands! As long as
SITTAH	What's all this? What should I do With all this money?	2615
SALADIN	Pay yourself, and store The rest, if there is any left.
SITTAH	Has Nathan Still not come here with the Templar?
SALADIN	No. He Is looking for him everywhere.
SITTAH	I found This picture when I was sorting through all my Old jewels. (Showing him a small painting)	2620
SALADIN	Ah! my brother! That is him! Yes, that is him! Or rather, that was him Ah, dear courageous boy, alas that I
	Lost you so soon. What might I have accomplished If I had had you by my side! – Sittah, Give me the picture. I remember it; He gave it to your elder sister, his Dear Lilla, when one morning she refused	2625
	To let him go from her embrace. That was The last time he rode out. Alas, I let Him ride out, all alone. – Poor Lilla died Of grief. She had never forgiven me For letting him ride out alone like that. – And he did not return.	2630
SITTAH	Poor brother!
SALADIN	So Be it. One day we all will go and not Return. And then – who knows? Not only death Can turn a young man like him from his goal.	2635
	He has more enemies than that; the strongest Often falls as quickly as the weakest.  Be that as it may! – I must compare This picture with the young Templar, and see How far my own imagination has Deceived me.	2640
SITTAH	That is why I brought it. Give It to me, and I'll tell you; this is something Which a woman's eye can judge far better.

SALADIN	(to a servant who comes in) Who Is there? – the Templar? – Show him in!	2645
SITTAH	I won't
	Disturb you – and I won't confuse him with
	My curiosity. (Sittah sits to one side on a sofa and lowers her veil)
SALADIN	That's good! – (And now
	His voice! I wonder what it's like. Within My soul, somewhere the voice of Assad sleeps.)	2650
Scene 4
The Templ	ar and Saladin
TEMPLAR	Your prisoner, Sultan
SALADIN	My prisoner?
	If I grant life to someone shall I not Grant freedom to him also?
TEMPLAR	It is fitting
	I should hear what you think fitting, not
	Anticipate your actions. And yet, Sultan,	2655
	To express my special thanks to you
	For sparing me is not in keeping with my rank
	Or with my character. In any case  My life is once more at your service.
SALADIN	Do
SALADIN	Not use your life against me! I would gladly	2660
	Grant my enemy another pair	7
	Of hands. To grant him such a heart would be More difficult. I've not in any way
	Misjudged you – you're a fine young man. And you
	The very image of my Assad. I	2665
	Might even ask you: where have you been hiding
	All this time? And in what cave have you  Been sleeping? What good spirit, in what fairy Land, has kept this flower so fresh for all
	This time? Indeed, I could remind you of	2670
	The things we used to do together, you
	And I. And yet, I could be angry with
	You, too, for keeping one thing secret from me,

The legend of the Seven Sleepers tells of seven young people, who would not worship the emperor as god, who were hidden by a shepherd in a cave, which was then sealed up by the emperor. After 186 years they woke up, not having aged.

104	Nathan t	he Wise	Nathan the V	Vise	105
	For there's one adventure which you never Shared with me. Indeed I could; if I Saw only you, and not myself as well. So be it! There remains such truth in this	2675	TEMPLAR	But in this world There are so many sides to everything. And often it is difficult to see Just how they fit together.	2705
TEMPLAR SALADIN	Sweet reverie that in the autumn of My days an Assad is alive again. Are you content with this, knight?  Everything That comes to me from you – whatever it May be – my soul desires already.  Let Us-test that out. Would you remain with me,	2680	SALADIN	Therefore always Keep to the best, and give praise to God, Who knows how they all fit together. If You wish to be so difficult, young man, Then probably I also should be on My guard with you. Regrettably I am a creature too, of many sides, Which often may seem not to fit so well.	2710
	Stay near me? – As a Christian, Muslim – either In your white cloak or in an Arab robe With turban or with your felt cap. Just as You like. It's all the same. I've never wanted The same bark to grow on every tree.	2685	TEMPLAR SALADIN	That hurts! – Suspicion is not usually A fault of mine.  Then tell me who gives rise To it in you. It seems that it was Nathan. You suspect him? Speak, Explain yourself!	2715
TEMPLAR	Or you would hardly be the man you are: A hero who would rather be God's gardener.	2690	TEMPLAR	Come give me this first proof of confidence.  I have nothing against Nathan. I
SALADIN	Well, if you think no worse of me, we are Already half agreed?		SALADIN	Just blame myself.  For what?
TEMPLAR	Completely!		TEMPLAR		0700
SALADIN TEMPLAR	(offering his hand) Here's My hand. (taking his hand)		TEMPLAR	For dreaming that A Jew could ever quite forget to be A Jew. And yet I had this dream when I Was wide awake.	2720
LEMILAR	And mine – with this, accept far more Than you could take from me. Now I am yours.		SALADIN TEMPLAR	What was this day dream? Tell me. You know of Nathan's daughter, Sultan. What
SALADIN	These gains are too much for a single day! He did not come with you?	2695	I EMI LAK	I did for her, I did – because I did. Too proud to harvest any thanks where I	2725
TEMPLAR	Who?			Had never sown, from day to day I had
SALADIN	Nathan.			Disdained to see the girl again. The father Was away; then he returns, he hears
TEMPLAR	(coldly) No.			About it, finds me, thanks me, hopes that I May like his daughter, speaks of prospects, and	2730
SALADIN	I came alone.  How fine a deed of yours!  And what wise fortune that a deed like that  Should turn out for the good of such a man.		SALADIN	A happy future. He persuades me, so I come, I see, and I find truly such A girl – oh Sultan, I should be so ashamed! Ashamed? Because a Jewish girl made an	2735
TEMPLAR	Oh, yes.			Impression on you: surely not!	4133
SALADIN	So cold? – Oh no, young man! When God Does something good through us, one must not be So cold! – One must not even wish to seem So cold from modesty.	2700	TEMPLAR	Because The father's talk beguiled me, and my rash heart Could offer almost no resistance to This impression. What a fool I was!

	For nothing. The girl is not his daughter – no: She is a foundling Christian child.	2775
SALADIN	But even
	So, he did not want to give her to you?
TEMPLAR	(stormily) Whether he did or not! He is unmasked. This tolerant old windbag is unmasked. I'll call for dogs to be unleashed upon This Jewish wolf in philosophical <sup>66</sup> Sheep's clothing, and they'll tear him limb from limb!	2780
SALADIN	(sternly) Be quiet, Christian!
TEMPLAR	What? Be quiet, Christian? When Jews and Muslims all insist on being Jews and Muslims, only Christians may Not act the Christian?
SALADIN	(more sternly) Quiet, Christian!
TEMPLAR	(calmly)  I feel the weight of the reproach compressed In these two words by Saladin. Ah, if I knew how Assad – how your Assad would Have acted in my place!
SALADIN	Oh, not much better! Probably as violently. But who Already taught you, just like him, to pierce Me with a single word? Of course, if everything Turns out as you have said, then I myself	2790
	Can not make Nathan out at all. But in The meantime he is still my friend, and none Among my friends must quarrel with another. Take my advice; proceed with care. Don't give Him straight to the fanatics in your mob.	2795
	Just imagine what your clergy would Demand from me as a revenge on him. Do not be a Christian just to spite A Jew or Muslim.	2800
TEMPLAR	It might soon have been Too late, but for the Patriarch's blood lust, Which made me shudder to become his tool.

ing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.'

108	Ivainan	ine vvise	ivatnan ine v	vise	102
SALADIN	What? You went to see the Patriarch, before You came to me?	2805	CVITTALL	Of his warm heart. Oh, surely Nathan must Give him the girl. Don't you agree? Give her?
TEMPLAR	Yes in a storm of passion, In a whirl of indecision. Please Forgive me! From now on I fear you will Not want to recognize Assad in me.	2810	SITTAH SALADIN	Give her up!  Indeed. What kind of right Could Nathan have to her, if he is not Her father? Only one who saved her life	2840
SALADIN	Unless I recognize this fear itself!  I know the faults from which our virtue springs.			Has rights to her, inherited from one Who gave her life.
	Just practice virtue, and the faults will do you Little harm with me. But you must go. Now seek out Nathan, as he sought you out; And bring him here. I have to make you understand	2815	SITTAH	Well Saladin? Suppose You have the girl brought here to you? Remove Her straight away from her unlawful owner.	2845
	Each other. If you're serious		SALADIN	Is that really necessary?
	About the girl, don't worry – she is yours. And Nathan also must be made to pay For having dared to rear a Christian child Without the taste of pork. Now go! (The Templar goes out and Sittah leaves the sofa)	2820	SITTAH	Not Exactly necessary. Curiosity Alone makes me suggest it to you. With certain men I want to know as soon As possible the kind of girl with whom They are inclined to fall in love.	2850
Scene 5			SALADIN	Then, send
Saladin and				For her, and have her brought here.
SITTAH SALADIN	How strange! Admit it, Sittah; don't you think my Assad		SITTAH	May I, brother	?
SITTAH	Must have been a handsome, fine young man?  If he was really like that, and the Templar	2224	SALADIN	But spare Nathan's feelings. He must not Believe that we intend to tear the girl From him by force.	285!
	Did not sit as model for this portrait! But Saladin, how could you have forgotten	2825	SITTAH	Don't worry.
SALADIN	To enquire about his parents?  In Particular about his mother, whether		SALADIN	And meanwhile I must find out what's happened to Al-Hafi.
	She had ever visited this country –		Scene 6
SITTAH SALADIN	Is that what you mean? You could have asked. It's certainly quite possible. For Assad Was so welcome among pretty Christian	2830	Nathan an (Scene scene. Part sorted out)	d Daja e: the hall in Nathan's house, opening on to the palms; as i of the goods and treasures are lying around unpacked as they	n the firs are bein
	Ladies, was entranced by Christian ladies, That there even was a rumour – well, One doesn't like to talk about it. It's Enough I have him back – and want him back With all his faults, with all the changing moods	2835	DAJA	Oh, this is all so splendid! Exquisite! Oh, everything – as only you can give. Where do they make this silver cloth with interwove Gold? What does it cost? That's what	en 286

&lt;sup>67</sup> Eating pork is forbidden both by Jewish and Islamic religions.

With all his faults, with all the changing moods

I call a bridal dress! No queen could ask For better.

NATHAN

Bridal dress? Why bridal dress?

DĄJA	Of course you did not think of that when you Were buying it. But truly, Nathan, it Must be this one and nothing else. It is As if intended for a bride. The white Background, symbol of innocence; the golden Threads which twist and turn all over it, Symbol of riches. Look at it: it's lovely!	2865 2870
NATHAN	What are you telling me? Whose bridal dress Are you interpreting so learnedly? Are you the bride?
DAJA	, IS
NATHAN	Who then?
DAJA	P. Dear God!
NATHAN	But who? Whose bridal dress are you describing? This is all for you and no one else.	2875
DAJA	All this is mine? For me? And not for Recha?
NATHAN	What I bought for Recha is still packed Inside another bale. Go on! Away! Take all your bits and pieces!
DAJA	Oh you tempter!  No. If this were all the treasure of The whole wide world. I wouldn't touch it, Not Unless you swear to me that you will use This unique opportunity, which heaven Will not offer you a second time.	2880
NATHAN	Use what? – An opportunity for what?	2885
DAJA	Oh, don't pretend that you don't know – in short, The Templar Knight loves Recha; give her to him, By doing so, at once you end your sin Which I cannot keep secret any longer.
	The girl will be with Christians once again, Will once again be what she is; and once Again be what she was. And you, whom we Can never thank enough for all your goodness, At last you will escape the coals of fire 68 Upon your head.	2890
NATHAN	Again the same old song? But you have fixed a new string to your lyre, Which will not hold or stay in tune, I fear.	2895

&lt;sup>68</sup> Romans 12:20. 'Therefore if thine enemy hunger feed him, if he thirst give him drink, for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head.'

7471
DAJA Why not?
NATHAN The Templar is a good man, and To no one in the world would I prefer To give my Recha, but – have patience.
DAJA Patience? 290	00
Isn't patience just the same old song From you?
NATHAN  Just patience for a few more days!  But look – who's that approaching? It's a lay brother Go, and ask him what he wants.
DAJA What can he want?
(She goes and asks him)
NATHAN  Before he asks, just give him alms – (If I could only sound the Templar Knight out first And not tell him the reason why I ask. For if I tell him and there are no grounds For my suspicion, I have put the father Needlessly at risk.) What does he want?
DAJA He wants to speak to you.
NATHAN Well, let him come: And meanwhile you can go.
Scene 7
Nathan and the Lay Brother

Nathan and t	the Lay Brother
NATHAN	(If only I Could still be Recha's father! – Can't I be,
	Even when I cease to bear the name?
	She herself will always call me father	2915
	If she sees how much it means to me.) What service can I do you, holy brother?
	Very little. – Nathan, sir, I'm pleased To see you are still well.
NATHAN	You know me then?

LAY BROTHER Indeed; who doesn't know you? You have pressed 2920 Your name into the hands of many people. It has remained in mine for many years.

(reaching for his purse) NATHAN Come, brother, come; I will refresh it.

LAY BROTHER Thank you,

I'd be stealing from a poorer man, So I'll take nothing. But allow me to 2925 Refresh your memory about my name.

	For I can pride myself on having put Into your hands something of no mean worth.
NATHAN	Forgive me. – I am ashamed – what was it, tell Me? And accept as penance sevenfold The value of this thing from me.	2930
LAY BROTHER	But first Of all, just listen how, this very day, I was reminded of this pledge I had Entrusted to you.
NATHAN	You entrusted me?
LAY BROTHER	Not long ago I lived a hermit's life On Quarantana <sup>69</sup> near to Jericho. There came an Arab band of robbers, who Destroyed my little temple and my cell And carried me off with them. Luckily	2935
	I fled, and came here to the Patriarch To beg another small place for myself Where I could serve my God in solitude Until my days should reach a peaceful end.	2940
NATHAN	I burn to know the rest. Good brother, make It brief. The pledge! The pledge entrusted me!	2945
LAY BROTHER	At once, sir. – I was promised by the Patriarch A hermit's cell on Tabor, 100 just as soon As one was free; meanwhile I was to stay As a lay brother in the monastery.	0050
	I am there now, Nathan sir; and yearn A hundred times a day for Tabor. For The Patriarch makes use of me for many Things which are repugnant to me, for Example:	2950
NATHAN	Please go on.
LAY BROTHER	I'm coming to it – Somebody today has whispered to Him that a Jew is living somewhere here Who has brought up a Christian child as his Own daughter.	2955

&lt;sup>69</sup> Quarantana, a mountain between Jericho and Jerusalem whose name refers to the 40 days and 40 nights of Christ's temptation in the wilderness.

	(T) 1 1 1 TATE 13
NATHAN	(Taken aback) What?
LAY BROTHER	- J · · · · J ·
	He orders me to run this Jew to earth Without delay, if possible, and he	2960
	Condemns most vehemently such a crime	4300
	Which is, it seems to him, the very sin
	Against the Holy Ghost <sup>71</sup> – that is the sin
	Which, of all sins, is counted by us as
	The greatest; but thank God we don't exactly	2965
	Know what such a sin consists of. Then
	My conscience suddenly awakes and it
	Occurs to me that, long ago, perhaps
	I gave the opportunity for this	2970
	Great, unpardonable sin. So tell Me: eighteen years ago did not a groom	2970
	Bring you a little girl a few weeks old?
NATHAN	What? - Yes, that's true - I do admit -
LAY BROTHER	Well then,
•	Just look at me. I am that groom.
NATHAN	You are?
LAY BROTHER	The gentleman from whom I brought her was – If I remember right – a Herr von Filnek – Wolf von Filnek.	2975
NATHAN	Right!
LAY BROTHER	The mother had
	Just died, and suddenly the father had
	To hurry off – I think to Gaza, 22 where	2020
	The little thing could not go with him. So	2980
	He had her sent to you. Did I not meet
	You with her in Darun? <sup>73</sup>
NATHAN	Quite right.
LAY BROTHER	It would
	Be little wonder, if my memory
	Deceived me. I've had many worthy masters,
	And I served this one all too short a time.	2985

Matthew 12:31. 'The blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men.'

Tabor, a mountain in Galilee, associated with the transfiguration of Christ.

Gaza was recaptured from the Crusaders by Saladin.

Darun - on the Palestinian border near to Egypt.

	Soon after that he died at Askalon; <sup>74</sup> He was a kindly gentleman.
NATHAN	Indeed. I have so very much to thank him for, Since more than once he saved me from the sword.
LAY BROTHER	That's very good. So you'd have taken in His little daughter very willingly.	2990
NATHAN	You can be sure I did.
LAY BROTHER	Then, where is she? I hope it cannot be that she has died? Oh let her not have died. For if there's no-one Else who knows about it, – then some good May come of it.	2995
NATHAN	It may?
LAY BROTHER	Listen, this is what I think. If I Intend to do a good deed, but a deed Which borders closely on the bad, then I Would rather leave the good undone. Because We can be sure of knowing what is bad,	2999/0
	But we are far less sure of what is good.  It was of course quite natural that if The little Christian girl was to be well  Brought up by you, you raised her as your daughter	3005
	And you would have done it with all love And true devotion. So is this how you Should be rewarded? I cannot believe so. Of course it might have been more prudent if You had arranged to have the Christian child Brought up by someone else, as Christian; but You would in that case have denied your love	3010
	To your friend's child. And children at that age Need love, if only that of a wild beast, More than they need Christianity. Christianity can wait till later. So long as, in your eyes, the girl has grown	3015
	To be devout and healthy, in the eyes Of God she has remained just as she was. And was not all of Christianity Founded on Judaism? It has often Caused me pain, and cost me many tears,	3020

NATHAN	Good brother, you must be my advocate If hatred and hypocrisy are roused Against me – all because of such a deed –
	Ah, such a deed! Now you alone shall know About it. Take it with you to the grave! Vanity has never tempted me To speak of it to anyone. To you Alone, I'll speak, to you and to your simple Piety. For only such a one	3030 3035
	Can understand what deeds can be achieved By human beings who submit to God.	3033
LAY BROTHER	You're deeply moved; your eyes are full of tears.
NATHAN	In Darun you met me with the child. But you don't know that, only days before, In Gath, <sup>75</sup> the Christians murdered all the Jews, Their wives and children; and you do not know That in this number were my wife and, with Her, seven sons, all full of promise. In My brother's house, where I had sent them to Be safe, they burned to death.	3040
LAY BROTHER	Almighty God!	3045
NATHAN	When you arrived, three days and nights, in dust And ashes, I had lain before my God And wept. But more than wept, I argued bitterly With God, I stormed, I raged, I cursed myself And all the world, and swore undying hate Of Christendom at large.	3050
LAY BROTHER	That I believe.
NATHAN	And yet my reason gradually returned. It spoke with gentle voice: 'Yet God exists. And even this was God's decree. And so, Arise and act the way you long have understood; It surely is not harder now to act Than it has been to understand, if you	3055
	But have the will. Stand up!' - And so I stood,
	And cried to God, 'I will! If only you Can will me to it.' At that moment, you Dismounted from your horse, and handed me The child wrapped in your cloak. What passed between	3060

&lt;sup>74</sup> Askalon – a coastal town taken by Saladin in 1187.

Gath – on the Mediterranean coast.

116	Nathan	the Wise	Nathan the Wi	se
	Us I forget. But this I know: I took The child, I put it on my couch, and kissed it Fell upon my knees and sobbed: 'Oh God!	3065	LAY BROTHER NATHAN	R Possibly! – I think so. Was her brother Not Conrad von Stauffen, a Knight Templar?	3100
LAY BROTHER	You're a Christian! Yes, by God, a Christian! A better Christian there has never been!		LAY BROTHER	R If I'm not mistaken. Yes. But wait. I think I still possess my master's little Book which he kept by his heart. I took It when we buried him in Askalon.
	It works both ways. For what makes me a Christian In your eyes, makes you a Jew in mine. But enough of all our feelings. We Need action! And although my love already Binds me seven fold to this one foreign Girl, although the thought already kills me	3070	NATHAN LAY BROTHER	Yes?  R A book containing prayers – what we call A breviary. This, I thought, could still Be useful to a Christian – not to me, I cannot read.	3105
	That I must lose my seven sons again In her – if providence demands that I Surrender her again, – I shall obey.	3075 	NATHAN LAY BROTHER	That doesn't matter. Carry On.  At the beginning and the end
	Now that's exactly the advice I had In mind to offer you. But now your own Good spirit has already said the same.	3080	LAI BROTHER	Of this small book, so I've been told, are written, In the gentleman's own hand the names Of both the families.	3110
	But I can't let anyone who comes Along tear her from me.	,	NATHAN	Just as I hoped! Go quickly! Bring the book to me. But run!
LAY BROTHER NATHAN	One	:		I'll offer you the weight of it in gold, Together with a thousand thanks; be quick!	3115
	Who has no greater rights to her than I Must at the least have earlier rights –		LAY BROTHER	R With pleasure. But my master's writing is In Arabic. (Exit)
	Rights granted him by nature and the ties Of family.	3085	NATHAN	It doesn't matter, bring it! Oh God! If I could only keep the girl And gain a son-in-law like him as well! It's hardly likely. Well then, let things turn Out as they will. But who can it have been Who brought this matter to the notice of The Patriarch? I must remember to	3120
	Uncle, cousin, other relative; I won't refuse her to him – for she was Created and brought up to be the pride Of any house, of any faith. I hope That you know more than I about this man Who was your master, and his family.	3090	Scene 8 Daja and Na DAJA	Investigate. Could it have been Daja?
	Good Nathan, I'm afraid I hardly do! I have already told you that I served	3095	NATHAN	Just imagine Nathan!  What is it?	3125
NATHAN	Him only very briefly.  Do you not		DAJA	The poor child was quite terrified by it! They've sent for her	JIAU
	At least have any knowledge of the mother's Family? – Was she perhaps a Stauffen?	į	NATHAN	The Patriarch?

DAJA	The Sultan's
	Sister, Princess Sittah
NATHAN	Not the Patriarch?
DAJA	No, Sittah! – Don't you hear me? – Princess Sittah Sent for her. She wants to see her.
NATHAN	Who? She sent for Recha? – Sittah sent for her? Well then, If Sittah sends for her, and not The Patriarch	3130
DAJA	Why mention him?
NATHAN	So you've Heard nothing from him recently? You're sure? You've told him nothing?
DAJA	I? Tell him?
NATHAN	Where are The messengers?	3135
DAJA	Outside.
NATHAN	For safety's sake I'll speak to them myself. Just come! – I hope The Patriarch is not behind all this. (Exit)
DAJA	And I – I have a different fear. What's going On? A girl who is supposed to be The only daughter of a wealthy Jew Would be no bad match for a Muslim? – Oh, The Templar's chance is lost. He's lost, unless	3140
	I venture now upon the second step, And tell the girl herself just who she is. I must! As soon as I can talk to her Alone, I'll grasp the opportunity. And that will be – perhaps right now, when I	3145
	Go with her. On our way at least I'll drop A hint to start with. That can do no harm. Yes, yes, it's now or never! I must speak. (Exit)	3150

Act V

Scene 1

MAMELUKE

Saladin and Mameluke<sup>76</sup>

(Scene: The room in Saladin's palace into which the sacks of money have been carried - which are still to be seen)

SALADIN (as he comes in)

> The money is still here, and no one yet Knows where the Dervish is - presumably

He's found a chessboard somewhere, and that always

Seems to make him forget himself; -3155

So why not me? I must be patient. Yes?

The news you hoped for, Sultan. Joyful news -MAMELUKE

The caravan from Cairo has arrived,

It's safely here, and brings you seven years

Of tribute from the wealthy Nile.

3160 Good, Ibrahim! SALADIN

> You are indeed a welcome messenger. At last! It's here at last! My thanks to you

For the good news.

(Well? Come on, hand it over!) (waiting) MAMELUKE

Why are you waiting? You may go. SALADIN

MAMELUKE You give

Me welcome, nothing else?

What else? SALADIN

The welcome

Messenger gets no reward? - So Saladin

Has learned to pay with words, and I'm the first

To benefit? That's fame, to be the first

He treated meanly.

SALADIN Well then, take a sack

Of money for yourself.

Not now. Not even if 3170 MAMELUKE

You gave me all of them.

Defiance! Come, SALADIN

Take two of them. He means it? Now he's gone,

Surpassing me in generosity,

Although for him it must be harder to Refuse it than for me to give. Come back! 3175

Mameluke - member of the Sultan's bodyguard.

	What has come over me so near my death That suddenly I want to change my nature? Does Saladin refuse to die as Saladin? Then he should not have lived as Saladin.
MAMELUKE 2	Greetings, Sultan.
SALADIN	If you've come to tell me	3180
MAMELUKE 2	That the caravan from Egypt has arrived.
SALADIN	I know already.
MAMELUKE 2	Then I came too late.
SALADIN	And why too late? – Here for your good intentions You can take a sack or two.
MAMELUKE 2	Ah, one Or two makes three!
SALADIN	So you can count? Just take them.	3185
MAMELUKE 2	There may be a third man coming – that is If he's able.
SALADIN	Meaning what?
MAMELUKE 2	Well now; It's possible he has a broken neck; because As soon as we, the three of us, were sure The convoy had arrived, we galloped off. The one who was in front fell off his horse. Then I was in the lead, and stayed there till We came into the town, where Ibrahim, The rogue, has better knowledge of the streets.	3190
SALADIN	But what about the one who fell, my friend? Ride out and meet him.	3195
MAMELUKE 2	Yes I will. And if He's still alive, I'll give him half the money. (Exit)
SALADIN	He's a good and noble fellow too. Who else can boast of Mamelukes like these? And may I not believe that they are what They are, at least in part, from my example? I must reject the thought of changing that Example as I end my days.	3200
MAMELUKE 3	Sultan!
SALADIN	You're The one who fell?

MAMELUKE 3	No. I come to report That Emir Mansor, who led the caravan Is now dismounting from his horse.	3205
SALADIN	Quick! Bring Him here. Ah, here he is.
Scene 2
Emir Manson	and Saladin
SALADIN	You are most welcome. Emir. How did it go? Mansor, Mansor, You have kept us waiting for so long!
MANSOR	This letter tells you what kind of unrest In Thebes <sup>77</sup> your Abukassem had to quell Before we dared to set off on our way. After that, I forced the pace as much As possible.	3210
SALADIN	Yes, I believe you, Emir.  Now, good Mansor – and I know you'll do It gladly – you must take fresh escort straight  Away. And you must leave again at once,  And take the bulk of all this money to  My father in the Lebanon.	3215
MANSOR	Yes, gladly.
SALADIN	Be sure to take Sufficient escort. It's no longer safe In Lebanon. Have you not heard? The Templars Are in action once again. Be on	3220
	Your guard. Now, where's the camel train? I want To see it and take care of everything Myself. You there! I'll be with Sittah later.	3225
Scene 3
The Templar (Scene: t up and down)	he palms in front of Nathan's house where the Templar	is pacing
	I won't set foot inside the house again – He must appear eventually. They welcomed Me so eagerly before, and now
	I'm likely to be told that he no longer	3230

&lt;sup>77</sup> In upper Egypt.

	]
Tolerates my presence all the time Outside his house. And yet I also feel Provoked to anger. What has so embittered Me against him? – After all he said, He didn't yet refuse me anything. The Sultan promised to persuade him – what Then? Is it that the Christian in me is More deeply rooted than the Jew in him? Who really knows himself? Why else should I Be so reluctant to allow the little Theft which he committed for his purposes	3235	With him, with He must know Betrayed alread Oh what a fool To think that ju Can set all our Make your min I'll wait here fo	onversation. But with whom? my Lay Brother? Ah! so now everything! Perhaps he is ly to the Patriarch. I've been to cause all this, ast a single spark of passion brain on fire! Now quickly d up: What are you to do? or them, to one side – perhaps ll be leaving before long.	3280 3285
Against the Christians. But this is no little		Scene 4	· ·
Theft of such a creature! Creature? Who		Nathan and the Lay Brother
Is her creator? Not the slave, who floated	9045		6)
The unhewn block on to the barren shore Of life, and then ran off. No, it must surely	3245	NATHAN (as they approach	od brother, many thanks.
Be the artist who, in the abandoned block,	1		•
Conceived a godly form and fashioned it.		LAY BROTHER My thanks to yo		,
Truly, Recha's real father must Remain, despite the Christian who begot Her, must remain the Jew forever. If I think of her as just a Christian girl, And think of her devoid of everything	3250	Something you	Your thanks for what? nately pressed on you don't need? If only you Sut you refused to be nan I am.	3290
Which only such a Jew could give to her,		LAY BROTHER	Anyway,
Then, my heart, what would you see in her? –	3255		not belong to me. It is Almost nothing! For her smile itself	}		property. In fact	2008
Would be a sweet and gentle movement of	1		nly legacy she has	3295
The muscles, nothing more. And if what made			father – though she does have you. never may have reason
Her smile was never worthy of its charm upon Her mouth, I would not even like her smile.	3260		u have done for her.
I have seen sweeter, wasted on mere whims	5200	NATHAN	How could I?
And useless trifles, scorn and flattery,		Never! Have no
Flirtation - and did those enchant me too?		LAY BROTHER	And yet,
Did they too conjure up the wish in me	2224		Patriarchs and Templar Knights	3300
To flutter all my life away in their	3265		hey could ever do to me
Sunshine? Oh no. And yet I'm angry with The man who, single-handed, made her what	Ì		e feel regret for anything	4
She is. But why? Perhaps I merited			certainly not this.
The scorn with which I was dismissed by Saladin.		And are you su	re it really is a Templar
It's bad enough that Saladin should think so.	3270	Who's stirring w	ıp your Patriarch?
How small I must have seemed to him! And how		LAY BROTHER	It couldn't	3305
Contemptible! And all this for a girl? –			oody else. A Templar
Curd! Curd! This cannot be. Control yourself! Suppose that Daja was just chattering	-	Had just been t Confirmed it.	alking to him; what I heard
About a thing that would be difficult	3275
To prove? At last! He's coming from his house.		NATHAN B One of them in	ut at present there is only all Jerusalem.

124	Natha	n the Wise	Nathan the V	Vise	125
	I know him, and he is a friend of mine, A noble and sincere young man!	3310	NATHAN	You spoke to him? That's good.  He wants to speak
LAY BROTHE	ment to the		TEMPLAR	To both of us together.
	The very one! Yet what one is and what  One must be in this world – the two things don't a  Fit exactly.	lways	NATHAN	Better still. Come with me. I am on my way to him.	3340
IATHAN	Sadly not; and so Whoever it may be, just let him do	3315	TEMPLAR	May I ask you, Nathan, who it was Who left you just now?
	His worst or best! Now, Brother, with your book	0020	NATHAN	Don't you know him then?
LAY BROTHE	I shall defy them all, and take it straight To Saladin.		TEMPLAR	Wasn't it that good soul, the Lay Brother Whom the Patriarch is fond of using To sniff things out?	3345
NATHAN	You haven't even seen her? Come back soon, And come as often as you can. I hope	3320	NATHAN	Perhaps. He's in the service Of the Patriarch.
	The Patriarch learns nothing more today. But why not? Tell him if you like.		TEMPLAR	A clever trick, To let a simple man prepare the way
AY BROTHE				For villainy.
	Farewell! (Exit)		NATHAN	Yes, if he's stupid – not If he is pious.
NATHAN	But don't forget us, Brother – God! If only I could sink upon my knees Right here, under the vault of heaven. How	3325	TEMPLAR	But no Patriarch Believes in piety.	33 50
	The tangled web, which caused me such anxiety, Unravels of its own accord! – Oh God, How light I feel now that there's nothing that I need to hide, and now that I can walk		NATHAN	I'll vouch for this man. He won't help his Patriarch do anything Improper.
	Before humanity as freely as Before your sight. You are the only one	3330	TEMPLAR	So he claims. But didn't he Say anything to you concerning me?
	Who does not judge us human beings by Our deeds, which rarely are our deeds, Oh God.		NATHAN	Concerning you? He did not mention you By name. He'd hardly know your name.	3355
Scene 5	•		TEMPLAR	No, hardly.
Nathan and	d the Templar  emplar comes up to Nathan from the side		NATHAN	As it happens, he did speak about A Templar
TEMPLAR	Hey, Nathan, wait! Take me with you.		TEMPLAR	And said what?
NATHAN	Who's that? Oh, there you are! Where did you go? I was	3335	NATHAN	He cannot Possibly have meant you in this case.	3360
	Expecting you to meet me at the Sultan's.		TEMPLAR	Who knows? What did he say?
TEMPLAR NATHAN	We missed each other. Don't be angry. I am		NATHAN	That someone had Denounced me to the Patriarch.
- · ·	NT - D - C 1 P		1	-

TEMPLAR

Denounced

You? That is - with all due respect to him -

Not. But Saladin ...

TEMPLAR

You had just left.

126	Nathan	the Wise	Nathan the V	Wise	1.
	Not true. Now listen to me, Nathan. I		NATHAN	If this is what you take me for
	Am not a man who can deny my deeds.	0005	TEMPLAR	In short,
	What I did, I did, and that is that.	3365		I went to see the Patriarch I did	340
	And I am not a man who would defend			Not name you, though – that is a lie, as I
	What I have done as always being right.	(		Have said. I simply told him of the case
	Why should I be ashamed of a mistake?  Am I not determined to redeem it?	3370		In general terms, and asked for his opinion -
	Do I not know how far a man can go	3370		Of course I should have left it all unsaid.	34
	To put things right? Now listen, Nathan: yes,			I knew already that the Patriarch
	I am the Brother's Templar Knight, who is			Was villainous. Why couldn't I have talked
	Supposed to have denounced you; it is true.			To you at once? Why did I have to let
	Of course you know what made me angry, and			The poor girl run the risk of losing such
	What caused my blood to boil in every vein.	3375		A father? But what does it matter now?	- 4
	Fool that I was, I came to throw myself			That villain of a Patriarch, who always	34
	Body and soul into your arms. And your			Will remain just as he is, has quickly
	Reaction was so cold – so lukewarm, which		!	Brought me to my senses. Listen, Nathan,
	Is even worse than cold; how carefully	3380		Listen to me – let us just suppose	9.4
	You calculated your evasion of me!			That he already knows your name. What more	34
	You appeared to want to answer me			Can he do? He can only take the girl
	By asking questions, plucked out of the air.	1		If she belongs to you and no one else.  And only from your house can he remove
	I still can hardly bear to think of it			Her to the cloister – so, give her to me!
	If I'm to keep my head. And then, Nathan,			Give her to me, and let him come! He surely
	In this turmoil Daja stealthily	3385		Would not dare to take my wife away.	34
	Crept up to me and flung her secret in			Just give her to me; quickly! I don't care	0.
	My face. This seemed to hold the key to your			If she's your daughter, or she's not! And I
	Mysterious behaviour.			Don't care if she's a Christian or a Jew
IATHAN	How was that?			Or if she's neither. I don't care! It's all	34
EMPLAR	Just hear me! I imagined that you were	3390		The same. And all my life I'll ask you nothing
	Unwilling to give up to Christian hands	0000		More about it. What will be, will be!
	What you had taken from the Christians in		NATHAN	I have such need to hide the truth? You really
	The first place. So, in short, I then resolved		10111211	Think so?
	For good or ill, to hold a knife up to Your throat.		TEMPLAR	What will be, will be!
		ļ	NIATUANI	But I
NAHTAN	For good or ill? What good? Where is	ì	NATHAN	Have never yet concealed from you – or anyone
	The good in that?			Who ought to know – that she's a Christian, and	34
EMPLAR	Just hear me, Nathan. What	3395		That she is no more than my foster daughter.	J.
	I did was wrong. And you are not to blame.			But why, you ask, have I not told her yet?
	That Daja is a fool who doesn't know	}		For that I need apologize to none
	What she is saying, and her spite towards you			But her.
	Makes her want to get you into trouble.	3400	трат ар
	Perhaps that's true. And I am young and stupid,	1	TEMPLAR	But you don't even have to do that.  May she never have to look on you	34
	Always rushing to extremes of feeling,	1		With different eyes. Spare her the revelation.	J-

Always doing too much or too little.

Perhaps that's also true. Forgive me, Nathan!

With different eyes. Spare her the revelation. You and you alone, are still responsible

For her. Give her to me! I beg

128	Nathan	the Wise	Nathan the W	lise	129
NATHAN	You, Nathan, just give her to me! I am The only one who, for the second time, Can save her for you – and I will.  I could Have done so, but not now. It is too late For that.	3445		Christians, won't she have to play the Christian? If she plays it long enough, she'll end Up really being one, and then the pure Corn which you sowed will finally be choked By weeds. And does that worry you so little? Can you really say, in spite of that, That with her brother, Recha may perhaps	3475
TEMPLAR	Too late?			Do well?
NATHAN	Thanks to the Patriarch.		NATHAN	I think so, and I hope so. And	3480
TEMPLAR	The Patriarch? Thanks? Thanks to him? For what? He is the one who ought to give us thanks. So why thank him?	3450	TEMPLAR	If she lacks anything from him, can she Not always turn to you and me? Oh, can
NATHAN	Because we know to whom She is related, and we know into Whose hands she now can safely be entrusted.		223212111	She possibly lack anything from him? The little brother will provide his little Sister with a rich supply of food And clothing, sweets and finery. What else	3485
TEMPLAR	Thank him? Let the devil thank him!	3455		Could such a little sister need? Of course,
NATHAN	And now you must receive her from those hands, And not from mine.			A husband! – Well, the little brother, in His own good time, will certainly provide Him too; he only has to find him, and	3490
TEMPLAR	Poor Recha! How you are Pursued by fate, poor Recha! What for any Other orphan would be great good fortune Is disaster for you. Nathan, where	3460		The more Christian the better! Nathan, Nathan! What an angel you created, just For others to destroy your work for you.
	Are these relations?	·	NATHAN	You need not fear that. He will prove to be Most worthy of our love.
NATHAN	Where?		TEMPLAR	Don't say that! Never	0.401
TEMPLAR	And who are they?			Say that of my love! For it will not Be cheated of the slightest thing, however small,	3495
NATHAN	They've found a brother in particular, And you must ask him for her hand.			Not even of a name. But tell me, does She yet have reason to suspect what has
TEMPLAR	A brother? What is he, this brother? He's a soldier? Or a priest? – Just tell me what I can Expect	4	NATHAN	Been happening to her? Perhaps, I don't Yet know. Why do you ask me?	3500
NATHAN	I think that he is neither, or Perhaps he may be both. I don't know much About him yet.	3465	TEMPLAR	Just because I have to be the one to tell her what Fate threatens her, in either case. I thought That I would never see or speak to her
TEMPLAR	What else?			Again, until I was allowed to call her	orn
NATHAN	A fine young man. With whom our Recha may perhaps do well.		NATHAN	Mine. But all is changed. I'll hurry.  Where?	350
TEMPLAR	And yet he is a Christian. Sometimes, Nathan, I just don't know what to think of you. I don't mean to offend you, but when she's with	3470	TEMPLAR	Come back!  To her. To see if, in her soul  This girl is man enough to make the one  Decision which is worthy of her.

Nathan the Wise		131
DECTA	Wall I find books most difficult

				TAY II T O. I.I. I.
NATHAN	What Is that?		RECHA	Well, I find books most difficult To read.
TEMPLAR	To pay no further heed to you	3510	SITTAH	You're serious?
	Or to her brother		RECHA	Quite serious.
NATHAN	And?			My father has no love of cold book-learning	3535
TEMPLAR	To follow me;			Which imprints itself upon the brain With lifeless symbols.	3333
	Even if it meant that she became A Muslim's wife.		SITTAH	How extraordinary!
> 1 4 COV 7 4 3 T	But wait! She isn't there.			But maybe there's some truth in it. So, much
NATHAN	She's with the Sultan's sister.			Of what you know
TEMPLAR	. Why? How long		RECHA	I know only from his Own teaching. And for most of it I still
	Has she been there?			Could tell you how and when and why he taught it	3540
NATHAN	And if you want to meet	0717		To me.
	The brother there as well, just come with me.	3515	SITTAH	Maybe everything makes better Sense like this, because the whole soul learns
TEMPLAR	Whose brother? Sittah's brother? – Recha's?			At once.
NATHAN	Both, Perhaps. Just come with me – I beg you, come!		RECHA	I'm sure that Sittah has read very
	(He leads him away)			Little.
Scene 6			SITTAH	The contrary, though I'm not proud of it. Why do you say that? Tell me frankly, why?	3545
Sittah and R	echa in Sittah's harem. Sittah and Recha are in conversation.)		RECHA	You are so simple and direct; so natural,
SITTAH	How pleased I am that you are here, sweet girl.	3519	SITTAH	Like no one but yourself.  And what of that?
SITIAN	Don't feel oppressed. So anxious, and so shyl	3520
	Be cheerful, more relaxed and talkative.		RECHA	My father says that people who read books  Are seldom like that.
RECHA	Princess		SITTAH	What a splendid man
SITTAH	Not princess! Please call me Sittah, Your friend – your sister. Call me mother, if			Your father is!
	You like. For I could almost be your mother.		RECHA	He is.
	You're so young, so clever and so good!	3525	SITTAH	How near the mark	3550
DECATA.	You know so much, and must have read so much.		RECHA	He always hits.
RECHA	I must have read? – Dear Sittah, you make fun Of me, your simple little sister. I			He does. And yet my father What's the matter, Recha dear?
	Can scarcely read.		SITTAH	My father –
SITTAH	That can't be true! Scarcely?		RECHA	•
RECHA	I can read my father's hand a little,	3530	SITTAH RECHA	God! Why are you crying? Oh, my father –
	But I thought that you referred to books.		RECHA	I must tell you, or my heart will burst
SITTAH	Yes, books.			(overcome by weeping she falls at her feet)

Nathan the Wise

132	Nathan	the Wise	Nathan the	Wise	133
SITTAH	My child, what is the matter with you, Recha?	3555	SITTAH	But what about? Why? How?
RECHA SITTAH	I'm going to lose my father!  Lose your father?  How? Now, calm yourself. Get up! You'll never  Lose him.		RECHA	Ah, the poor woman, as I told you, is A Christian, so her love made her torment me. She is one of those fanatics who Imagine that they know the only true And universal way to God.	3585
RECHA	You must have meant it, when you said That you would be my friend, my sister		SITTAH	Yes, now I understand.
SITTAH	Yes, I did, indeed I did. But please, get up, Or I shall have to call for help.	3560	RECHA	They have to lead all those Who missed the one true way, and guide them to It. They have little choice. For if it's true	3590
RECHA	(pulls herself together and gets up)  Forgive me! In my grief I was forgetting who You are. There is no case for whining and Despair in front of Sittah. She will be Convinced simply by reason, cool and calm. And anyone who pleads a cause with reason Always wins her over.	3565		That only this way leads them in The right direction, then how could they calmly Watch their friends pursue another path Which leads them to damnation, eternal Damnation. Surely one could love and hate A single person simultaneously. But it's not that which in the end compels Me to complain about her. All her sighs	3595 3600
SITTAH	Well?			And warnings, all her prayers and all her threats, I would have tolerated longer – yes.
RECHA SITTAH	Ah, no My friend, my sister, do not let them. Never Let them force another father on me. Force another father on you? Who	3570	The second second second	They always prompted good and useful thoughts. And surely it is deeply flattering To us to feel that any fellow-creature Loves and values us so much as to	3605
	Could do that? My dear Recha, who could want to?	5070		Be tortured by the thought of losing us For all eternity.
RECHA	Who? My Daja, – good and evil as She is – yes, she could want to, and could do		SITTAH	That's true!
	It. But you probably don't know this good And evil Daja? God forgive her – and Reward her! She's done so much good for me, And so much evil.	3575	RECHA	And yet – I have no weapon against this, not patience, Not reflection, nothing!
SITTAH	Evil? So there can		SITTAH	Against what?	3610
544 1141	Be little good in her.		RECHA	What she claims to have revealed to me Just now.
RECHA	Oh yes, there is, A great deal.		SITTAH	Revealed? Just now?
SITTAH	Who is she?		RECHA	Just now. When we
RECHA	A Christian who Looked after me in childhood; you could not Believe how well she cared for me, so that I hardly missed my mother. God reward Her for it! Yet, she also frightened and	3580	markatura at a para da da markatura da marka	Were coming here, as we approached a ruined Christian temple, suddently she stopped.  She stood, and seemed to struggle with herself. With tear-filled eyes she looked up at the heavens, Then at me. At last she said, 'Come, let us Take the shortest path, right through this temple.'	3615
	Her for it! Yet, she also frightened and Tormented me.

78 The Virgin	n Mary.		SALADIN	That is Exactly what I meant to do to her.
	And never more admire the image of	3645	SITTAH	Don't make her blush!
RECHA	(drags herself on her knees to Saladin's feet, and bows her head to the ground)  I shall not stand up! And I Shall never look upon the Sultan's face,	9645		Need a father anyway? What when he dies? You need to look around for someone who Will match you in the race of life. Do you Not know someone?	3675
SITTAH	Compose yourself, my child. The Sultan		SALADIN	I'll be a good father. A really good father. But wait! An even Better thought occurs to me. Why do you	3670
SALADIN	Our Nathan's daughter? What is wrong?		SITTAH	Yes! Oh do!
SITTAH	But you know			And take a third. Accept me as your father!
SALADIN	Who is it?	3010		Do you know what? As soon as these two fathers  Quarrel over you – leave both of them
SITTAH	She's distraught! – Oh God!	3640		So don't let yourself get anxious. And	3003
Saladin and SALADIN	the preceding What's happened, Sittah?			Even father of a beast. It gives  At most a prior right to claim that name.	3665
Scene 7	•		SALADIN	As she was dying – and perhaps delirious? But what if it were true? No: blood, and blood Alone, can never make a father! Hardly
SITTAH	Before you.  Recha, no! Get up. – My brother's here.		RECHA	She felt, as she Was dying, that she must confide in her.	3660
	Sittah! Sittah! I prostrate myself		SALADIN	Your nurse!
	I was of Christian blood; I was baptised; I was not Nathan's daughter; he was not My father. God! God! He is not my father!	3635	RECHA	It must have been. For Daja claims to have it From my nurse.
SITTAH RECHA	(Unhappy child! – I feared as much.) She said			Completely settled? Proved beyond all doubt?
CHTTAIL	Or at least to pardon her if she Now told me of her church's claim on me.  (Unhappy shild) I feered as much)	ing .	SALADIN	(raising her up) Yes, I understand! Who was so cruel as to put such thoughts Into your head? But has this matter been	3655
RECHA	And by the divinity <sup>78</sup> who has received So many prayers there and, they say, has worked So many miracles, she pleaded with me; With a look of true compassion she Implored me to have mercy on myself.	3630		Than this: to let me keep my father, and Let him keep me. – I still don't know who else Demands to be my father, or who has The right. And I don't want to know. Does blood Alone create a father?	3650
SITTAH	My dearest child!	3625	RECHA	No more, no less
	Altar. Imagine how I felt when, weeping Scalding tears, she flung herself down at My feet, and wrung her hands.		RECHA SALADIN	Until he promises  I promise it,  Whatever it may be!
18	Then she stopped again. I saw that we were On the sunken steps before a ruined		SALADIN	Stand up, stand up!
	She led on, I followed her, and I Looked round with horror at the crumbling ruins.	3620		Eternal justice and of goodness in His eyes, and on his brow

SITTAH	If blushing makes the ugly beautiful, It's bound to make the lovely even lovelier. I've asked your father, Nathan, and – another Man to join us here. Can you guess who That is? I've asked him here – with your permission, Sittah Brother!	3680
•
SALADIN	Now be sure you really Blush before him, dearest girl.
RECHA	Why should
	I blush? For whom?
SALADIN	You little hypocrite! Turn pale, then, if you like. – Just as you please, And as you can. – (A slave girl comes in and goes up to Sittah)	3685
SALADIN	Have they arrived already?
	,
SITTAH	(to the slave) Good. Just show them in. – Brother, they're here!
Last Scene
Nathan and	the Templar join the others
SALADIN	My dear, good friends! – and first of all, dear Nathan I must tell you that you now can ask For all the money which you lent to be Repaid, as quickly as you like.	3690
NATHAN	Sultan!
SALADIN	I am at your service now.
NATHAN	Sultan!
SALADIN	The caravan has come. And now at last I'm richer than I've been for many years. Come, tell me what you need to undertake Some mighty enterprise! For even merchants Like yourself can never have enough Of ready cash!	3695
NATHAN	Why do you mention first So insignificant a trifle? For I see Someone in tears. It matters more to me That I should dry them. (Goes up to Recha) You've been crying? What's The matter? Are you not my daughter still?

RECHA	My father!
NATHAN	That's enough, we understand Each other. Now be calm, be cheerful – if Your heart is still your own, and if your heart Is threatened by no other loss. – Your father Is not lost.	3705
RECHA	I fear no other loss.
TEMPLAR	No other? Then, I have deceived myself. What we are not afraid to lose, we never Thought that we possessed, and never even Wanted. Very well! In that case, Nathan, All is changed. We came here, Saladin, At your command. But I regret that I Misled you; give yourself no further trouble!	3710 3715
SALADIN	Must you be so rash again, young man? Must everything come back to you, defer To you?
TEMPLAR	But Saladin, you heard and saw?
SALADIN	Yes. And it's a pity you were not More certain of your case.
TEMPLAR	I am now.	3720
SALADIN	Anyone who boasts of a good deed Cancels it right out. What you have saved is not Your property. If that were so, a robber Driven by his greed into a fire
SALADIN	Cancels it right out. What you have saved is not Your property. If that were so, a robber Driven by his greed into a fire Would be as good a hero as yourself. (Going up to Recha, to lead her to the Templar) Come, dear girl. Don't be too hard on him. If he were different, less proud and less Impulsive, he would not have tried to save you.	3725
SALADIN	Cancels it right out. What you have saved is not Your property. If that were so, a robber Driven by his greed into a fire Would be as good a hero as yourself. (Going up to Recha, to lead her to the Templar) Come, dear girl. Don't be too hard on him. If he were different, less proud and less	3725 3730

1	7	Q
ı	7	7

SITTAH	Yes, go, my dear!	05.40	TEMPLAR	What?
	That is the least that you can do to show Your gratitude.	3740	NATHAN	You are not a Stauffen.
NATHAN	Wait, Saladin! Wait, Sittah!		TEMPLAR	Who am I?
SALADIN	You as well?		NATHAN	Your name's not Curd von Stauffen.
NATHAN	There's someone else who has		TEMPLAR	What is it?
NATIAN	To speak.		NATHAN	You're Leu von Filnek.
SALADIN	But Nathan, who denies that such		TEMPLAR	What?	3765
	A foster father has a right to speak?	a= (=	NATHAN	You're startled?
	Perhaps a better right than others. I Know all about the situation.	3745	TEMPLAR	Rightly so. Who says this?
NATHAN	Not quite all! –		NATHAN	I do;
TATITUTE .	I wasn't speaking of myself, but of			I could tell you more, much more. But I
	Another, someone else entirely who			Am not accusing you of lying.
	Must be consulted, Saladin.		TEMPLAR	No?
SALADIN	But who?		NATHAN	Perhaps the other name is also yours.
NATHAN	Her brother.		TEMPLAR	I should hope so! – (Just as well you said that!)	3770
SALADIN	Recha's brother?		NATHAN	Yes, your mother was a Stauffen. And
NATHAN	Yes.	9750		Her brother – that's your uncle – brought you up. Your parents left you with him when the harshness
RECHA	My brother? So I have a brother?	3750		Of the German climate drove them out,
TEMPLAR	(starting out of his wild, silent abstraction)			And they returned here to this country. Now,	3775
2 20122 22 22	Where? Where is			Your uncle's name was Curd von Stauffen; and Perhaps he did adopt you as a child.
	This brother? Not here yet? I was supposed			Was it with him that you also came here,
NATIONAL	To meet him here.			So long ago? And is he still alive?
NATHAN	Yes, just be patient.		TEMPLAR	What can I say to you? Of course, it's true.	3780
TEMPLAR	(very bitterly) He has			My uncle died. I only came here with The latest reinforcement of our Order,
	Imposed a father on her, - so he can			But – what has all this to do with Recha's
	Supply a brother, can't he?			Brother?
SALADIN	That's too much!	3755	NATHAN	Now, your father
	Christian! Such a mean suspicion never Would have passed my Assad's lips. All right –		TEMPLAR	What? You knew
	Just carry on.			Him too?
NATHAN	Forgive him, Sultan!		NATHAÑ	Your father was my friend.
	- I forgive him gladly. At his age,	9700	TEMPLÀR	Your friend?	3785
	And in his place, who knows what we would think? (going up to him in a friendly way)	3760		Can it be possible?
	Yes, knight, I understand. Mistrust begets		NATHAN	And he was known As Wolf von Filnek; though he was not German.
	Suspicion. If you'd only trusted me			As 11011 1011 Filliek, tilough he was not German.
	With your real name

TEMPLAR NATHAN	You know this too?  But he was married  To a German – that's your mother – and  He followed her to Germany, though not  For long.	3790	NATHAN	Nonsense! Children! You are both my children! For my daughter's brother is my son — If he is willing. (Leaving them to embrace each other Saladin goes in uneasy astonishment to his sister)
TEMPLAR	Enough! The brother – who is Recha's Brother?		SALADIN	Sister, tell me what You think.
NATHAN	You are.		SITTAH	I'm moved.
TEMPLAR	I? Her brother?		SALADIN	I too – I almost shudder at	3815
RECHA	He's my brother?			The thought of something still more moving. So Prepare yourself, as best you can.
SITTAH	Brother and sister!		SITTAH	What do
SALADIN	Is it possible?			You mean?
RECHA	(going to him) My brother!		SALADIN	Nathan, a word with you (While Nathan goes to him, Sittah goes up to the TEMPLAR	(steps back) Brother?			brother and sister to express her sympathy and Nathan and Saladin talk quietly.)
RECHA	(stops and turns to Nathan) No, it can't be true. His heart denies it! – We're deceivers, God!	3795		Now listen, Nathan: did you not just tell us
SALADIN	(to the Templar)		NATHAN	What?
	Deceivers, Templar? Is that what you think? But you are the deceiver! Everything About you – face and voice and bearing – is A lie. You will not recognise your sister?		SALADIN	You told us that their father did not come From Germany, and was not born a German. So what was he, and where did he come from?	3820
TEMPLAR	Go!		NATHAN	He didn't choose to talk to me about it. I know nothing that I heard from him.
LEMPLAK	(going humbly to him) Sultan, don't misinterpret my	3800	SALADIN	But he was not a Frank? A Westerner?	3825
	Astonishment. You hardly could have seen Assad at such a moment; don't misjudge		NATHAN	No, he was not. He made no secret of it. He preferred to speak in Persian.
	Both him and me. (going to Nathan)  You rob me and enrich me, Nathan; both in fullest measure. But		SALADIN	He spoke Persian? What more do I want? It must be him!
	You give me far, far more than you have taken.	3805	NATHAN	It must be who?
	(Embracing Recha) Oh my sister, my dear sister!		SALADIN	My brother! Assad! There Can be no doubt!
NATHAN TEMPLAR	Blanda Von Filnek. Blanda? Blanda? – And not Recha?		NATHAN	Now that you've worked it out, You'll find full confirmation in this book. (handing him the breviary)	3830
	Not your Recha any more? – You are Rejecting her, by giving back her Christian Name? Reject her if you must, but Nathan,	3810	SALADIN	(opening it eagerly) His writing! Yes I recognize that too!
	Why do you make Recha suffer so?	3010	NATHAN	They don't know anything about this. It's Entirely up to you how much they learn.

SALADIN	(leafing through the book) Should I not recognise my brother's children? My nephew and my niece – my children? Not Acknowledge them? And should I let you keep them? (aloud again) Sittah! I was right! They are, they really Are! They are our brother's children! (Runs to embrace them)	3835
SITTAH	(following him)
	What! But then, how could it have been otherwise?	3840
		3040
SALADIN	(to the Templar) Now, stubborn man, you will be forced to love me! (to Recha) And Recha, I shall be what I offered Whether or not you want it!
SITTAH	So shall I.
SALADIN	(to the Templar again) My son! My Assad! My own Assad's son!
TEMPLAR	So I am of your blood? – And so those dreams Which rocked me in my cradle, after all Were more than dreams! (falling at his feet)	3845
SALADIN	(raising him up)  Just listen to the rascal!  He suspected something, but he did  His best to make me murder him! You wait!  (Silently they all embrace each other again and the curtain falls.)

THE END